By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Rear Admiral Bruce cables the Admiralty from Che Foo, Aug. 19, as follows:

Am informed on the authority of the Japanese that street fighting still continues in Pekin, part of which is on fire.

Yang Sa (?) prevented the Empress from leaving; and last stand is now being made in the inner city, which is surrounded by allies and being bombarded.

LI HUNG CHANG APPEALS FOR PEACE

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, AUG. 20.—THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT, THROUGH LI HUNG CHANG, HAS MADE APPLICATION TO THE UNITED STATES FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF MINISTER CONGER, OR SOME OTHER AMERICAN OFFICIAL, WITH AUTHORITY TO OPEN NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF PEACE AND FOR FIXING DEFINITE TERMS FOR THE SETTLEMENT OF THE PRESENT TROUBLES. THE APPLICATION CAME TO THE CHINESE MINISTER TODAY AND WAS TAKEN BY HIM TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

MORE LIGHT CAST ON FALL OF PEKIN

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—From Gen. Chaffee yesterday the War department received official confirmation of the fall of Pekin and the rescue of the besieged legationers.

The cablegram from Admiral Remey contains some important information not mentioned by General Chaffee. He makes the startling statement on Japanese authority, that the inner city of Pekin was being bombarded by the allied forces. Admiral Remey says, also, that the Dowager Empress is detained in the inner city by Prince Yun-Sein.

A cablegram received late last night from the foreign office at Tokio, Japan, by the Japanese legation in this city, confirm and amplify previous accounts of the capture of Pekin by the allied troops.

The fact that only the Fourteenth infantry and Riley's battery entered the city, as shown by Gen. Chaffee's despatch does not indicate that the Ninth infantry and the marines, who were so conspicuously gallant throughout the advance upon the capital, did not participate in the engagement which resulted directly in the rescue of the besieged legationers. It is pointed out as likely that Gen. Chaffee, acting in consonance with the other commanders, divided his force, leaving the Ninth infantry and the marines without the walls of the city to act as a rear guard, to prevent the escape of Chinese troops by other gates than those through which the allies entered or for some other excellent reason. Only two battalions of the Fourteenth regiment are with Gen. Chaffee. They comprise about 500 men. This would indicate that only about one-third of Gen. Chaffee's force actually had entered the city at the time he sent his despatch. The fact that only eight of the Americans were wounded, none being killed, is regarded as notably fortunate.

The startling feature of the despatch is that fighting within the city of Pekin was continuing, according to the advices of Admiral Remey. The inner, or as it is popularly known, the forbidden city, evidently had not been taking. It is surrounded by a massive wall of solid masonry, more than 20 feet high and it is not regarded as surprising that the Chinese should make their final stand within its shadows. Prior to the receipt of the despatch, it was accepted generally as a fact that the Dowager Empress, in company with the emperor and a large suite had left Pekin, while nothing is said in Admiral Remey's advices as to the whereabouts of the Emperor, it is deemed scarcely probable that he left the city without the Empress Dowager.

Pekin comprises practically four cities in one. In extent of area it is about the size of New York city. The four segments of it are the Chinese city, the Tartar city, the Imperial city and the forbidden city. The last is the "inner city" mentioned in Admiral Remey's despatch and is the residence of the emperor and the seat of the Imperial court. Nobody is allowed within its massive walls except by special permission of the emperor or empress dowager. The foreigners who have entered its gates are comparatively few in number. The Imperial city is occupied only by the highest Chinese officials and members and attaches of the Imperial court. Further information as to the reported bombardment will be awaited with keen interest.

"The foreign forces attacked on the eastern side of Pekin Wednesday morning. The enemy's resistance resisted. In the evening the Japanese blew up the Chien Yang gate and the Tung Chih gate of the Tartar city and succeeded in entering. In the meantime other foreign forces entered the Chinese city by the Tung Pien gate. Despatches were sent immediately to the legations and opened communication. The ministers and staff were found safe. The Japanese loss was over one hundred, including three officers, namely Captain Michihiya and Lieut. Watanabe wounded while Lieut Yasaki was killed. The Chinese loss computed at about 500."

Substantially the information contained in the above despatch was received by the Associated Press yesterday direct from Tokio. It contains the explicit and reassuring statement that the ministers and staffs were found safe.

It is more direct and complete in detail than the American advices received thus far.

SMOOTH PAVING

To be Delayed for Another Week

Work is at a standstill on the smooth paving job in Market street and it will probably be a week before it is resumed. The recent rains soaked through the cement that has been already laid in such a depth that the top covering cannot be started until the under layer is perfectly dry.

Harry Doherty, who has charge of the work, stated to a Sun reporter that the cement may be dried toward the latter part of the week and that the men will then start on the top coating.

The only work that is being done today is on the conduits of the Lowell Electric Light company and the Western Union company.

The people who reside in the house were awakened by the crackling sound of the fire and they immediately notified the proper authorities.

The damage will not amount to over $5. The building was owned by H. P. Hill.

ETTA WARREN HELD

Her Bail Was Fixed at Three Hundred Dollars

She Will be Arraigned in Court Tomorrow Morning — Man Fined $50 for Illegally Keeping Liquor

Etta H. Warren, mother of the child abandoned at the home of John H. Stackpole last Wednesday night and who was arrested by Inspector Allen in Nashua, Saturday night, had a private hearing prior to the opening of the police court session this morning. She was taken to Judge Hadley's private office and was represented by W. J. Donovan, Esq. She was held in $300 till tomorrow, at which time her sister will also be arraigned. She did not like the idea of being closeted in a cell. She rides a wheel and apparently was as solicitous about her wheel as anything else. She acknowledges she is the mother of the child and also says she abandoned it. She feels that she did nothing wrong and holds herself entirely blameless of intending to wrong or injure the baby.

She is a very pretty woman, 22 years of age, and was neatly dressed. She expects to get bail. The father of the child has been telegraphed for and it is hoped he will be on hand tomorrow. The woman is confident that a request from her will bring Woods to Lowell. He is 21 years of age and it is said he has several times proposed marriage, but she refused. It is understood that she has no serious objection to marrying him, but thinks he is too young to assume the responsibilities of married life.

DRUNKS FINED.

The following Sunday drunks were fined $5 each: Eugene Wettraner, Patrick J. Duffy.

George Chase was stupidly drunk in Dracut last night. He was so drunk that as the saying goes, "he had not a leg under him," and was practically helpless. He stumbled along the roadway and fell across the electric road tracks and proceeded to enjoy peaceful slumber. Electric cars did not disturb him in the least and had he been allowed to remain on the tracks much longer he would have been run over. People who saw him got Officer George F. Corson and asked him to arrest the man. Chase was placed in a wagon and taken to the police station. During the journey he never woke up. In court this morning he was fined $5.

FINED $50.

Inspector Goodwin, Officers Atkinson, and Brunelle visited the house of Michael Tradel, rear of 51 Tucker street, yesterday and found six men drinking there. They seized a keg of beer and arrested Tradel. In court he pleaded guilty and was fined $50.

The following first offenders were fined $2 each: William P. Warren, John J. Jasman, Charles J. Myott, Alfred Prevost, Walter Hall.

Patrick J. Duffy, a second offender was fined $5. Six other drunks were released.

Patrick J. Fay was fined $10 for assault on Mrs. McIntire and the charge of drunkenness against him was placed on file. Mrs. McIntire said that the defendant went to her house and wanted to fight her husband. She interfered and ordered him away. Then Fay pushed and struck her. She said he was drunk. Fay claimed that he remembered nothing of an assault on the woman.

Mary E. Carr was in last November and paid a fine of $5. Today she was sent to jail for twenty days.

Mary Cluney was released last time she appeared in court for drunkenness. On this occasion she got a sentence of twenty days to the work house.

LALLY FINED $20.

The continued case of Frank J. Lally was called. Lally was charged with the larceny of jewelry from Arthur H. Wilson. The only witness called was Inspector Allen who made the arrest and after hearing his testimony, Judge Hadley imposed a fine of $20.

BOXING GOSSIP

In a circular sent out by the committee in charge of the testimonial to John L. Sullivan, it is said:

As a fitting tribute to the honesty, integrity and ability of the man who raised boxing from obscurity and elevated it to the highest plane of athletics, the sport-loving public of America has decided to give John L. Sullivan a grand testimonial in Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening, Aug. 29, the night prior to the battle between Corbett and McCoy. It is hoped that the followers of boxing and sport in general will contribute generously, so that in his old age the king of pugilists can rest in peace and contentment.

The gentlemen who are to engineer this movement do not intend to hand the proceeds to Mr. Sullivan to dispose of as he sees fit; on the contrary, a committee of responsible business men will be appointed to handle the funds and place them in trust for the ex-champion, so that the money will be drawing interest. Not a penny can be drawn by the recipient of the testimonial until the committee is satisfied that the money is really needed and then the amount will be named.

When Tom Sayers, the champion of England retired from the ring, by general subscription an amount so large that he lived off the interest, was raised. Between Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Sayers there was no comparison. One was an ordinary pugilist, and the other a world-beater, and the father of the modern style or new school of fighting.

Mr. Sullivan endeared himself to every admirer of clean and honest sport, and it behooves those admirers now to show their appreciation, not alone for Mr. Sullivan's benefit, but as an incentive to honesty for those who are to follow.

As Lawrence at the present time supports an athletic club which gives boxing as a feature of its meetings, it is suggested that Lawrence would be a good place for Patsey Haley and Billy Gardner (to have their contemplated match. The pair would draw well from Boston and Lowell, particularly from Lowell, besides the home city and the Lawrence club bringing them there would undoubtedly realize a good thing in it.

George Gardner, a well posted authority, says, may have some difficulty in obtaining a match in England. The British Isles at the present time are overrun with American boxers seeking matches, while what few English boxers of note there are there are rather shy of Americans, for in nine cases out of 10 the American licks his English brother. There is some talk of Gardner going up against the French champion, but he would be foolish to do it, as he knows nothing about the French style, which permits the use of the feet as well as the hands. In the last fight won by the French champion, he put his man out with a back kick under the chin. You can search me to explain just how he did it, but that was the report. If Gardner went up against him the Boston game might give him a funny kick in the ear while he'd be swinging on him. The only man to tackle the Frenchman would be Joe Wolcott and you couldn't lick him with an axe.

CONSPIRACY

To Assassinate President McKinley Discovered

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The Evening World today says: Just in time to prevent the assassination of President McKinley, a conspiracy to kill the President was discovered by the United States secret service agents in Naples. Gaetano Bresci, a weaver, who lives in Paterson, N. J., left that city on May 17 last, and sailed from Hoboken for Naples on the Italian steamship Navigatore. He was followed by secret service agents, who kept him under surveillance until he left Italy for Egypt. Bresci was arrested on his return to Italy, and is now in prison at Naples.

The Evening World says that Bresci's mission to Europe was to confer with the Italian anarchists in this country, and that he was the bearer of a letter from Gaetano Pennachio, a leading anarchist of Paterson, to Pietro Acciarito, who made an attempt to assassinate King Humbert of Italy on March 22, 1897. Pennachio's letter to Acciarito, which was written in Italian, was translated into English by the secret service agents, and is said to read as follows:

"Dear Friend: Bresci, the bearer of this letter, is a true friend. He is one of us. He is going to Italy to see his family, and I have asked him to call on you. Bresci is a good comrade, and you can trust him in all things. He will tell you what we are doing here, and you can tell him what you are doing there. Bresci is a weaver, and he is married and has a family. He is a good man, and you can trust him."

TO FIGHT IT OUT

Home Guaranty Insurance Co. Troubles

ARE NOT ALL OVER AS YET

Stockholders to Bring the Matter in Court

The Commercial Bulletin publishes the following regarding the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company of this city:

Trouble is brewing over the affairs of the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company, which in February, 1899, reinsured its outstanding risks in the New Hampshire Fire.

The Home was organized in 1895 as a mutual fire company with a guaranty capital of $50,000. It was unfortunate in business, and its first report to the insurance department showed a credit balance of but $2000. The following year the company showed an impairment which finally led to reinsurance.

The stockholders, having dropped $30,000 of their money in this little dalliance with the fire business, cast about for a way in which to recoup themselves, and struck upon the novel idea of assessing the policyholders a sufficient amount to make good the leanness in the treasury.

Accordingly the directors levied an assessment of 50 per cent. of the premiums, and their attorney is about to bring suit for its collection. This result is a stormy protest from the policyholders, who were greatly surprised that a company with a guaranty capital could make an assessment while any of the capital remained.

The law which permits the stockholders to make good impaired capital in this manner also provides in Section 49 that any person interested in the company as an officer, policyholder or creditor, may apply to the supreme judicial court to examine the assessment, the necessity therefor, and to ratify, amend or annul.

Policyholders who expect to be sued for the amount of this assessment have determined to do a little fighting on their own account. To this end they have combined forces and are about to apply to the court for an examination according to the law above quoted.

This will be the first time such a case has come up in this state. The Commonwealth Fire assessment was not complicated with any guaranty capital.

In a discussion of the Home's case Insurance Commissioner Cutting says in this year's report: "It seems proper that this provision which gives the directors of a guaranty capital company authority to levy upon the policyholders to make good impairment of capital, should be stricken from the law, and capital, whether stock, or guaranty, be made to perform its proper function of standing between the policyholder and loss. If it is to have the profits of the business it should share the risk."

THE NEW WOMAN

Cardinal Gibbons Speaks on Rights and Duties

HE QUOTES FROM THE SCRIPTURES

To Indicate Her Place in the World

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—In a vigorous and eloquent sermon Cardinal Gibbons, preaching to a large and fashionable congregation of summer residents at Southampton, L. I., yesterday morning, referred pointedly to the "new woman" and the shortcomings of women of the social set.

The cardinal, by inference rather than by set words, gave his auditors to understand that he had no sympathy with the woman advocates of woman's rights.

"The Holy Spirit in the Old Testament," he said, "pays a beautiful and well-merited tribute to woman and to woman's position in society. 'Who shall find a valiant woman?' say the scriptures, indicating that woman should be found attending to her domestic duties rather than mingling in the strife of the world.

"What is it the Holy Spirit commands in woman?

"Does he admire her because of her social triumphs, because she is a brilliant leader in society?

"Does he commend her because she is an advocate of certain so-called female privileges?

"Does he commend her because she goes about from place to place, spending here a fortnight and there a fortnight and agitating the rights and privileges of women?

"Not at all. The Holy Spirit lays over that she is simply a loving wife, and affectionate mother, a benevolent mistress to the members of her household; as the guardian of the domestic arrangements she is ever faithful, she looks well to the requirements of her household and she does not eat her meat in idleness. She attends to the little things of this life and she does them well."

When the fact is taken into consideration that Southampton is a summer resort for the ultra fashionable set, it can be readily understood that the cardinal's pointed references to the foibles of society women were received with perfuseness and attention. Little else was discussed in fashionable circles in Southampton yesterday.

The announcement that Cardinal Gibbons would preach at high mass in the church of the Sacred Heart at 10 a. m. had the effect of drawing an enormous congregation to the beautiful little church. Many persons prominent in society attended who are members of other religious bodies.

LOWELL MILLS

ATHERTON WILL PAY PREFERRED CREDITORS 100 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.

The Appleton Company, Lowell, is running its plant on full time and finds a ready market for its goods. This plant will not shut down this summer.

The Lowell Machine Shop, Lowell, has 2500 men on its pay roll working full time in all of the shops and in some departments extra.

The Boott Cotton mills, Lowell, are running overtime and enough orders are on hand to keep the plant going in full until the first of next year.

Treasurer Wood of the American Woolen company, who has been criticised lately for guaranteeing prices which are considered low, everything considered, for the balance of the year, states that the sales of the American Woolen company on lightweight goods are progressing satisfactorily as compared with the preferential year four years ago. The condition of the mills for orders is certainly 50 per cent. better and the prospects are that all of the mills, with one or two exceptions, will receive their full complement of orders. The policy adopted by the company of naming very low prices and guaranteeing the same for the remainder of this year, has proven a sound one, as the above results will show.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

TEXTILE COUNCIL

Held a Grand Picnic and Field Day

The Lowell Textile council held its first grand picnic and field day at Belle Grove Saturday afternoon and it was a success socially and financially. Three special cars ran every half hour to the grove and they were all crowded to their utmost capacity. The grove covers quite an area of ground, but it was not any too large for the large gathering.

The various facilities for amusement were freely utilized and the dance hall was crowded.

The feature of the afternoon was the sports and a good number contested in them. They resulted as follows:

Up yards dash for members, won by Ludgewick, Seymour second; slave race, won by Lulu Griffin, John Doyline second; standing broad jump, won by Clark, 9 feet, 10 inches, Frolick second, 100 yards dash, open to all, won by Gauthier, Shattuck second, boy, step and jump, won by Cunningham, 11 feet, Maloney second. The tug of war, between the Loomfixers and Cotton Weavers was a well contested pull and was in two heats. The Loomfixers captured both heats, the first by about 25 inches and the second one by four inches. Suitable prizes were given to the winners.

In the evening the dance hall was the scene of the place and with Hibbard's orchestra in attendance, dancing was enjoyed till late, when the number of special cars took the happy party back to Lowell.

The picnic was in every respect a success.

The officers were as follows: General manager, H. J. Morrow; assistant, J. T. Collins; floor director, M. Casey; assistant, Robert Cooney; chief aid, Thomas O'Dowd; secretary, Thomas F. Connolly.

SIMPLE SERVICE

FUNERAL OF EX-SENATOR INGALLS HELD YESTERDAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ATCHISON, Kas., Aug. 20.—Funeral services over the body of Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls were held yesterday afternoon at Trinity Episcopal church and subsequently interment was made in the family vault in Mount Vernon cemetery. Owing to the request of the family for privacy there was no great throng at the services.

The exercises were very simple. Chopin's funeral march was played as the coffin was borne into the church. The Episcopal service was read and a vested choir of men and boys sang.

Ex-Senator W. A. Peffer, who succeeded Mr. Ingalls, Judge W. A. Johnson of the supreme court, and A. A. Godliard, attorney-general, were among those who attended the services in the church.

Judge A. G. Otis a close business and personal associate of Mr. Ingalls, estimates the ex-senator's fortune at $250,000.

THE S. C. W.

HELD A RUN TO WALTHAM YESTERDAY.

Yesterday morning opened fair and bright and the members of the Spindle City Wheelmen were on hand early. Of course the racers were not anxiously interested in the run, for theirs is a different sphere. The members to the number number of 40 or thereabouts were at the rooms of the club shortly before 7 o'clock and the start was made a few minutes after this hour. The destination of the run was the city of Waltham.

The following officers were in command of the party: Captain, H. H. Farr; first lieutenant, J. E. Gove; second lieutenant, E. A. Lynde; third lieutenant, T. Brown; color bearer, W. A. Scott. The escort was the same old Vassolin who has officiated in a like capacity several times. The run was a great success, at least so those say who had the good fortune to participate therein. The riders returned to Lowell shortly after 5 o'clock, tired, but still joyful.

BREAD DYSPEPSIA

Bread dyspepsia is common. It effects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper. Up under the shell of the wheat berry, Nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the pancreatic juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape-sugar, which is the next form; but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so Nature's valuable digester is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that Nature intended.

Small wonder that appendicitis, perRonitis, constipation and all sorts of trouble exist, when we go so contrary to Nature's law. The food experts that perfected Grape-Nuts Food, knowing these facts, made use, in their experiments, of the entire wheat barley, including all the parts and subjected them to moisture, and long continued warmth, which allows time and the proper conditions for developing the diastase, outside of the human body.

In this way the starchy part is transformed into grape sugar in a perfectly natural manner, without the use of chemicals or any outside ingredients. The little sparkling crystals of grape sugar can be seen on the pieces of Grape-Nuts. This food, therefore, is naturally predigested and its use in place of bread will quickly correct the troubles that have been brought about by the too free use of starch in the food, and that is very common in the human race today.

The effect of eating Grape-Nuts ten days or two weeks, and the discontinuance of ordinary white bread, is very marked. The user will gain rapidly in strength and physical and mental health.

CITY MARSHAL JAMES T. O'SULLIVAN OF LAWRENCE.

ONE OF THE FINEST

City Marshal J. O'Sullivan of Lawrence

In 1884 After Exchange of Bullets

NOW WEAVING A CHAIN OF EVIDENCE

Against the Cold Spring Brewery Burglars

The Sun today presents the portrait of the popular and efficient city marshal of Lawrence, James T. O'Sullivan. His popularity as "one of the finest" is not confined to Lawrence nor the old Bay state, but to the wild and wooly west and in Canada, where he did excellent service as a representative of the famous Wells detective agency. He has also figured in many important arrests in Lawrence, notably in 1884, when the notorious Johnny Dobbs gang visited the "Spindle" city. This desperate gang was run down by Marshal O'Sullivan after a fierce battle and the exchange of several pistol shots. Some of the gang died within prison walls. This capture was conceded to be one of the best in criminal annals and Marshal O'Sullivan received flattering newspaper notices from the press throughout the country for his cleverness and bravery. Another case of recent occurrence which again brought Marshal O'Sullivan into prominence was that of the night of July 2, the present year. It will be remembered that the Cold Spring brewery of Lawrence was visited by five desperate fellows, wearing masks and fully armed. They overpowered and securely bound the engineer and night watchman, and leisurely proceeded to ransack the premises, blowing the safe to atoms and securing a large sum of money. The Cold Spring burglars made good their escape for a time, a few days later, five desperate characters, who did not Dover, N. H. for murder, it occurred to Marshal O'Sullivan and Inspector Sheehan that Dr. Rice men under arrest in Ore Grande state might be those who visited the Cold Spring brewery.

After investigation, a chain of evidence was woven around the burglars, and only to connect them with the crime of the Cold Spring brewery but with the South Berwick, Me., bank robbery. Two of the five had men share their incarceration in Dover jail, been identified as having broken jail at Sheridanville, Can., last April time of the murder, John Brooks, alias John Williams, alias Howard Brooks, charged with the murder of John McNally and Dubbins of Dover, N. H., the night of July 4, has been further identified as the man who purchased of Walter Gates of Scarboro, Me., a ball of cupid wire the day previous to the South Berwick break.

The wire purchased was the same as was used in binding Frank Nason of that town, who happened along the street in the vicinity of the bank a short time before the break. The same kind of wire was also used in binding the engineer and watchman at the Cold Spring brewery, the night of July 2.

THE LABOR UNIONS

Favor Municipal Plant for Smooth Paving

THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR LABOR DAY

Positions in Line and the Prizes Offered

The Trades and Labor council held a long and interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, and considerable business of importance was transacted. The arrangements for position in line was held and resulted as follows:

First division will be made up from delegates from the various unions.

Second division—Carders and Pickers, 1; Loomfixers, 2; Cotton Weavers, 3; Woolen Spinners, 4; Mule Spinners, 5; Print Workers, 6; Knitters, 7; Brussels Weavers, 8.

Third division — Boilermakers, 1; Painters, 2; Plumbers, 3; Stonemasons, 4; Steam and Gasfitters, 5; Carpenters, 6; Pavers, 7; Electrical Workers, 8; Iron Moulders, 9; Lathers, 10; Building Laborers, 11.

Fourth division—Leather Shavers, 1; Lasters, 2; International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, 3; Typographical, 4; Printing Pressmen, 5; Leather Workers, 6; Horseshoers, 7.

The organizing committee reported that they had organized the block pavers and a committee was appointed to help the new union along. Several communications were read and received proper attention.

A memorial to the mayor and members of the city government was adopted, opening with an extract from the constitution and by-laws of the Trades and Labor council.

"All municipal work to be performed directly by the municipality without the intervention of contractors."

The memorial says in effect: The position of united labor and labor organizations of all kinds is the public ownership of public utilities, and

Our city government is at present considering a proposition to borrow $12,000 for the purpose of repairing certain of our public streets, and

We feel that the work of paving our streets is one which should be performed by our municipality. Therefore,

The Trades and Labor council of the city of Lowell concludes that the time is very opportune for the establishment, by our city, of a plant for the smooth paving of our public streets; and we request our honorable mayor and city government to take steps to accomplish the above object.

We think that if the question, "Shall the city of Lowell establish, own and operate a plant for the purpose of the smooth paving of our streets," be submitted to the voters to pass judgment on at the polls next December, they would vote practically unanimously in favor of the project, and we here ask for limited labor that such a course be pursued.

LABOR DAY COMMITTEE.

Immediately after the regular meeting the Labor Day committee met and transacted considerable business. It was voted to give $10 to the union turning out the best float, and $20 for the second, providing three or more turn out.

A SERIOUS FIRE

At the Tremont and Suffolk Mills

What might have proven a very serious fire started in the woolen department of the Tremont and Suffolk mills Saturday morning. The fire started in a picker and was carried up stairs to the upper rooms through a blow pipe.

There was no city alarm given on account of the clever work of the mill department, which very shortly after the fire started had several streams of water playing on the blaze.

The damage by water was considerable and for a while it looked as if that portion of the mill was doomed. The fire, however was confined to the picker house. The loss will probably exceed $10,000.

POWER'S STORY

Says His Trial Was a Judicial Farce

HE HAS NO APOLOGY TO MAKE

Says History of State Was Blackened

By Associated Press to The Sun.

To the public: I am asked my opinion concerning my trial and the verdict of the jury. Could I have but one opinion? Can any fair-minded man or woman of this state have but one? That one of the greatest judicial farces known to history has been enacted here in my trial under the forms of law no well-informed man can doubt. Innocence is no shield with one hundred thousand dollars and the methods of Campellism against you. The rectitude of one's past life points for naught. They say Taylor is guilty because he was in his office and that I am guilty because I was away from mine. This has been a political trial throughout for political purposes, and no greater mistake has been made by the democratic party since they robbed us of the offices to which we were fairly elected by the people. There are good men and noble women in the democratic party and many of them. They are not all bad. Far from it; a great many of them do not endorse the theft of the state offices. A great many more will not endorse this mockery of a trial this prostitution of the courts of justice for certain ends. From the beginning of the campaign until now I have stood with what little of merit I have had for the rights and liberties of the people. That is my crime. That is the only offense I have committed. That is the only thing proven against me. I swore to that myself in my testimony. I have never lied, and I now have no apology to take for being true to the trust imposed upon me by a majority of the voters of this state. History will draw its dark lines around those who have outraged me and disgraced the judiciary and blackened the history of the state.

I am very respectfully,
(Signed) CALEB POWERS.

$3.00 Per Year. 25c. Per Month

The Sun is the only paper in Lowell receiving the full day service of the Associated Press, the greatest news gathering organization in the world. The entire service is received over a leased wire by our own operator in our own office in the Sun building.

THEY ALL USE IT

All the prominent merchants in Lowell use The Sun as an advertising medium. They know that it is the cheapest medium in the city on the basis of circulation.

It leads all the other papers in Lowell in circulation.

What is more, it leads any two of them in circulation.

In fact the circulation of The Sun is almost as large as the combined circulation of all the other papers in Lowell put together.

This has been proven by expert examination of the books of all the local papers.

BRYAN'S ELECTION ASSURED.

The indications are multiplying that there will be a landslide at the next national election, a landslide that will bury McKinley and his boodlers, Mark Hanna and the illegal trusts.

The gold democrats who opposed Bryan in 1896 are now out for him, because of the imperial issue and the anti-imperialist ticket will receive the support of a large contingent of the republicans who supported McKinley in 1896. In 1896 the gold democrats had a ticket of their own in the field, a matter which gave great comfort to the republicans. This year the defection is on the republican side on account of imperialism and it is fully as strong as was that of the gold democrats on the opposite side four years ago. Besides, the sentiment in Bryan's favor has grown immensely within the past four years, and more particularly within the past four months. Nothing has drawn the people so much to Bryan as his firmness in standing for the ratio of 16 to 1. It is not fashionable now, but Bryan knows that it is the natural ratio between the two metals, and that was why he stood by his conviction of right and told Senator Jones that if the democrats wished to drop 16 to 1 they could find another candidate.

That proved that Bryan is a man who cannot be coerced into doing what he believes to be wrong. He cannot be driven from the position he has taken for the preservation of American liberty and American principles. The republicans are determined to meet him and, if possible, defeat him in his own state, but the contrast between their campaign shouters and the calm, cool logical orator and statesman that Bryan is, will bring him victory and bury the republicans in righteous defeat. That will be the result in Nebraska; it will be the same in New York, and ex-President Harrison says Bryan will carry Indiana, while his chances of carrying Illinois are also excellent. Hence, Bryan's election is assured and the republicans realize the fact, but are unwilling to acknowledge it. In order to assist democrats in reckoning Bryan's majority, the electoral vote for president in 1896 is given below:

UNION AND NON-UNION THEATRE

"A new theatre is being constructed in Utica, the labor upon which is being done by non-union men. As a means of showing their resentment, the union workingmen of the city have decided to build a playhouse of their own, local capitalists agreeing to back the enterprise. Of the details of the scheme when it comes to running the theatre, we are not informed; but there opens the possibility of an interesting situation. Will the companies which show at the non-union theatre be boycotted, whatever their merit and attractiveness, and will those which appear at the union house be patronized, regardless of their lameness, so to speak? More than that, will there be an attempt to enforce a sympathetic and systematic boycott all over the country in the interest of the unions upon all troupes and divertisements which appear in Utica's non-union theatre?

SPANISH REVIVAL.

So far from being ruined by the loss of her colonies, Spain has been strengthened thereby and is now starting upon an era of prosperity that would be impossible if she had to maintain a war against rebellious colonists. Speaking of this subject, the Boston Transcript sums up the situation as follows:

"For years the Iberian empire was drained of best-young men and had to pay $100,000,000 annually to retain her colonies. The strain upon her home resources was so great that the people were taxed to death. Now, according to a Spanish financial journal, Spain is progressing more rapidly than it has at any time within the last century. The government loan of $200,000,000 was oversubscribed three times. Industries which have been dormant for years are being revived, and electric traction is making its way into Spanish cities. Spain is still receiving a large share of the products of what were once her colonies, and is buying heavily of machinery from the United States."

Asphaltina was an inferior imitation of the real asphalt for smooth paving purposes. All this was shown to Mayor Crowley at the time of the asphaltina deal, and he was urged to veto the resolution which shut out all competition. He was urged to spot the bids to legitimate smooth payers, who put down the real article and not an imitation, but the influence of "Smooth Bob" was too much for him, and as a result he stood by Bob just a little too long, and now there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Bob did not get the $500 he expected for his influence in dictating the award and terms of the contract. His Honor finds when too late, that the people are looking into the smooth paving deals.

Senator Hoar blames Bryan for the insurrection in the Philippines; it is but a short time since the republicans blamed Hoar for the war in the Philippines and Edward Atkinson was also implicated. These gentlemen made speeches against the shooting of the Filipinos, but it seems to us that the men who ordered the actual shooting are the men to hold responsible. The speeches of Hoar and the letters of Atkinson were not so deadly as to kill Filipinos on the other side of the globe.

The innate cowardice of the Chinese and their inability to meet any organized army of Europe is demonstrated in the capture of Pekin. The Celestial empire is now at the mercy of the powers and will eventually be brought to a realization of the crimes perpetrated upon foreigners during the past year and especially during the past two months.

Hon. Bourke Cockran is squaring himself in his campaign for what he did in 1896 for the republicans. Mark Hanna is endeavoring, even at this late day, to get a few anti-imperialists to put up a ticket in order to weaken the endorsement of Bryan by the other anti-imperialists.

Should the Pawtucket bridge collapse under a heavy team or a street car there would be quite a crash. The city had better put the bridge in safe condition without any further delay.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

Mr. James P. Quigley has returned home after spending a week's vacation at Crescent beach.

Saturday afternoon the members of Troop F cavalry held a practice skoot in this village and some excellent shooting was done by some of the members. This evening Squad 1 of Troop F cavalry will hold a squad drill in the town hall, and on Tuesday evening, Aug. 28, the company will hold a company drill in the town hall at Chelmsford Centre.

Mr. George T. Sheldon of the Chelmsford Foundry company has returned home from High Falls, N. Y., where he has been for the past few days, attending the horse races held there. Mr. Sheldon's fast mare, "Royal R. Sheldon," won first money. The time made by Mr. Sheldon's horse in the six heats that were necessary were 2.08, 2.07, 2.07, 2.07, 2.15, 2.12. On next Wednesday of this week some of Mr. Sheldon's horses will participate in races.

During the next few days it is expected that arrangements will be made for a ball game between the Clipper club and the Five Boys of North Chelmsford. A game between these two well known amateur teams would be a good drawing card, and it is said that there is enough work contemplated to keep the boarders going for several months.

HEAVY BATTING

Won the Game for the Bostons

TED LEWIS IN GRAND FORM

And Received Fine Support From Fielders

To use the racing vernacular, the Cardinals proved a "quitter" for the Boston club Saturday afternoon. At the end of nine innings the men from Banker Hill had scored nineteen to St. Louis' 1. After two innings of play, the game was delayed 30 minutes on account of a terrific wind and rain storm. When that cursed play was resumed on a slippery field.

Though the Bostons took the lead before the rain, they proved themselves just as clever players on a wet field as on a dry one. Ted Lewis of evangeline fame, was sent to the rubber by Manager Selee and from the first to the last inning he pitched a fast, steady game of ball, having the St. Louis Cubs at his mercy throughout. His clever slab work was the feature of the game. The support he received was worthy of mention. Long, Hamilton and Duffy played magnificent ball and were in a great way responsible for their team's victory.

"Cy" Young was sent in to do the pitching for St. Louis, but the G. O. M. only withstood the slaughter of the Beaneaters two innings, when he was forced to retire in favor of Hughey, who did little better.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Bostons	1	0	2	1	5	6	2	1	1	19
St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1

Earned runs, Bostons 8. Two base hits, Hall 2, Collins, Barkett, Wallace. Three base hit, Collins. Double plays, Barkett to Dolan; Wallace and McGann. First base on balls, off Young 1, off Hughey 1, Stolen bases, Long, Collins. Passed ball, Criger. Struck out, by Hughey 1, by Lewis 1. Sacrifice hits, Lewis, Wallace. Hit by pitcher, Hughey. Time, 2h. 5m. Umpire, Hurst. Attendance 3,500.

The other games resulted as follows:
Pittsburg 8, Brooklyn 4.
Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 0.
New York 5, Chicago 2.

GREAT BATTING

IN GAME BETWEEN MERRIMACS AND MOHAIRS.

The excellent batting of Mosley of the Merrimac club of Lawrence in a match played here Saturday afternoon against the Mohair team on the grounds of the latter was the cause of a victory for the visitors. The score of 67, not out and batting through the entire inning, is a feat to be proud of.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Sarah Davis of No. 2 Coburn place observed her 21st birthday Saturday evening by entertaining a large number of her friends. Vocal and instrumental music added to the pleasures of the occasion. Refreshments were served and games indulged in until a late hour. Miss Davis was remembered with twenty-one beautiful pink roses and an emerald ring set in diamonds. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Davis. The party broke up about midnight after wishing Miss Davis many happy birthdays.

DREAM OF PARADISE.

At the Wiggleyville mission last evening Mrs. Nettie Roberts, the well-known contralto of this city, sang by request, in a very pleasing and effective manner "The Dream of Paradise."

TEWKSBURY

The religious meeting on the common at Tewksbury yesterday afternoon was largely attended, there being an unusually large number present from Lowell. The meeting was in charge of Deacon Joshua Clarke who made brief opening remarks followed by a fervent prayer by Superintendent Knowlton of the public schools. A most instructive address was delivered by Mr. J. W. C. Pickering of the Pickering hosiery, Lowell, who stated that it was the second occasion in his life that he appeared as a speaker at an open air meeting. He drew a picture from the workshops and factories, contrasting them with the great plan of God and exhorted his hearers to follow in the footsteps of the Master. He said that there was no one within the hearing of his voice—even the greatest sinner—but who could gain salvation if he but sought it. At intervals during the meeting there was orchestral music and Miss Theresa Small presided at the organ. Miss Jeanette W. Pike rendered as a solo the hymn "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." A trio composed of Miss Stella F. Morrill, contralto, Miss Jeanette W. Pike, soprano, and Mr. H. M. Billings, tenor, sang "The Beautiful Golden Gate," and as a duet Miss Morrill and Miss Pike rendered the hymn "Saved by Grace." Devotional exercises will be held on the common next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Pickering High school will open on Tuesday, Sept. 4, and pupils intending to enter the coming term are requested to appear at the school on the forenoon of that day for examination. The other Tewksbury schools will open on Monday, Sept. 10.

Miss Alice Gookin of the Oakland district, a graduate of the Tewksbury High school, and the Lowell Training and the State Normal schools has been appointed as teacher of the Wamesit school to succeed Miss Ida Hunter, who has resigned. Miss Gookin's appointment meets with universal approval and not only her Tewksbury, but her Lowell friends, are congratulating her assignment to the position of teacher.

Deacon Enoch Foster who has returned home from his sojourn at Saratoga, New Hampshire and Vermont, is still under the care of a physician, Dr. Randall of Lowell.

Miss Nellie Keating a graduate of the Tewksbury High school, and who taught school in Tyngsboro last term, has been assigned to the Kenwood school at Dracut.

Mr. A. C. Tingley and family have returned from their protracted and enjoyable sojourn at Plum Island.

Miss Mary P. Eastman, the noted platform speaker of the Centre, has gone to Truro, Cape Cod, on her annual vacation.

Miss Lilla Carley visited friends in Centralville last evening.

Mr. E. B. Hutchins and friend, Mr. Tarr of Lowell, were in attendance at the religious meeting yesterday afternoon as were Messrs. Arthur Sundbury, Kenyon Fallon, Hector O'Heir and Jean McLoughry.

Miss Marion Gregg of Fort Hill avenue, Lowell, visited at the residence of Mr. J. W. Fairgrieve Saturday evening. She was so well received that she expressed a hope on her departure for the Spindle City that she would be received with the same degree of cordiality on her next visit as was evinced on this occasion.

STREET CARS

ALL TO HAVE A NEW WINE COLORED DRESS.

It is reported that all or most all of the street cars are to be painted a sort of wine color, like those on some of the lines in Boston. Cars are being ventilated as fast as possible in accordance with recent legislation.

The power house and shed in Middlesex Village is stated to be the place of much of the repairing and remodelling for the whole Merrimack Valley system.

There was no one in authority at the street railroad office last night, when inquiry was made to verify the above reports.

There was a large traffic on the Boston and Lexington line Saturday afternoon, but some of the passengers experienced inconvenience in having to wait ten minutes or more on turnouts between here and Billerica, then having the long car come back to Lowell while they waited at Billerica for a car to come from Boston and return that way.

CHINESE WAR NEWS

FALL OF PEKIN HOW ACHIEVED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Previous information which has been received here showed that the allied armies took possession of Tung Chow on the 12th instant. From that city to Pekin the distance is not more than a dozen miles. It seems evident, therefore, that the armies halted for a time at Tung Chow, probably for the purpose of giving the men a rest and to prepare for the attack on the capital city in force, after waiting until the rear of the advancing hosts should arrive at the front. Possibly also, the delay was the result of negotiations inaugurated by the Chinese officials looking to the delivery of the ministers with a Chinese or other escort. If negotiations were attempted they must have failed, as the army continued on its march and attacked the capital three days after reaching Tung Chow.

The officials here were aware of the fact that the stronghold of the Boxers was in the Chinese city and for the allies to attempt to force its way through it into the tartar city in which the legation compounds are located, might mean a great loss of life and possibly a defeat. It was also known that many of the imperial troops which have sided with the Boxers were in or near the Chinese city, that much of the artillery and rifle fire which has been poured into the legations had been from the walls separating the two cities. These facts evidently were communicated to General Chaffee and the other commanding officers of the allies. Realizing these obstacles it appears the allies decided to attack the city by the east gate. There are four entrances to the city on the east, two leading to the Chinese city and two to the tartar city. Just which of these was selected as the attacking point, Consul Fowler's despatch does not disclose.

Contrary to the press reports of today Consul Fowler's despatch shows that the attack on the city met with strong resistance. The Japanese force engaged with the advance, according to the understanding of the officials here, numbered 10,000 men, so that the loss suffered by them was over one per cent.

No mention is made of the losses of the forces of the other armies, but it is presumed that it was in proportion to that suffered by the Japanese.

The president entertained a number of friends informally at dinner last night, among whom were several acquaintances from Canton. Later in the evening, as soon as he heard of the news, Secretary Root came in from the country club and remained with the president for some time discussing the latest information which had come to hand.

CHINESE EMPRESS FLED WITH EMPEROR

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Shanghai despatches say that Emperor Kwang Su accompanied the empress dowager to Hsian Fu, much against his will. Prince Tuan commanded the rear guard of the imperial escort, of which Boxers formed 15 per cent. It was expected that Gen. Tung Fuh Siang would follow after the arrival of the allies. All the palace treasures were sent to Hsian Fu. The bearers accounts of the entry into Pekin are contradictory, some maintaining that there was fighting and others that the entrance was not opposed.

New Chwang was again attacked on August 14, but the Russians repulsed 2000 Chinese, inflicting heavy loss, although they also suffered severely.

According to a despatch to the Daily Express, from Chefoo, the dispatch from Conger was received by U. S. Consul Fowler Wednesday, after saying that all the Americans were alive, except the Ingalls baby and seven marines, admitted that there was some sickness but said that he expected the food would last until relief came.

JAPANESE LOSS WAS 100 KILLED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

TOKIO, Aug. 17.—General Yamaguchi writes from Pekin under date of August 16 as follows:

"The allies attacked Pekin early yesterday, opening with artillery on the eastern side. The wall was obstinately held by the enemy. The Japanese and Russians were on the northward of the Tung Chow canal. The Americans and British were on the south side. At night the Japanese blew up the two eastern gates of the Tartar city and entered.

"In the meantime the Americans and British entered the Chinese city by the Tung Pien gates. Detachments of each force were sent towards the legations. The parties met near the legations and opened communication. All the ministers and their staffs were found safe. The Japanese loss was over 100 killed including three officers. The losses of the allies have not been ascertained. Four hundred Chinese were killed."

FIGHTING LASTED THREE DAYS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—While waiting details of the taking of Pekin, the papers here make comment on the superior official intelligence of the authorities at Washington, the St. James' Gazette says: "The relief of the legations may now be accepted without reservation."

The Westminster Gazette attributes the celerity of the American reports to the fact that the Americans are erecting field wires and have a staff officer assigned for the express purpose of sending news.

The following despatch has been received at the Russian war office in St. Petersburg, from General Alexieff:

"Port Arthur, Aug. 15.—General Fleischer, with a force of all arms, entered Tien Chang, August 12 after three days' fighting. The Chinese loss was four hundred men and four guns. Five hundred Chinese retreated with eight guns."

ENGLAND'S BANK

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Statist in an article reviewing the money market, says:

"Besides the $2,000,000 in gold attracted to the Bank of England from America and 200,000 pounds from India, it has brought a further £2,000,000 which will shortly arrive, and an inflow of 800,000 pounds from the United Kingdom is expected. Thus, the Bank of England will secure over 3,000,000 pounds and may succeed in raising the reserve at the end of the week to $23,000,000.

LAWN PARTY

IN AID OF FR. GILDAY'S CHURCH, SOUTH LAWRENCE.

A large number of Lowell people were in attendance at the lawn party held yesterday afternoon and evening in South Lawrence in aid of St. Patrick's church of which Mr. John J. Gilday, formerly of this city, is pastor. No better day could have been chosen for such an event and the grounds were crowded with pleasure seekers.

The spacious lawn was illuminated with five large arc lights situated near the pretty booths, where was sold all kinds of refreshments and sweetmeats. Red, white and blue bunting hung from the light poles and suspended between them were the numerous Japanese lanterns which put the finishing touches to the pretty decorations and showed them off to advantage.

The Lawrence brass band and the Columbian orchestra rendered music for the occasion. Dancing was the principal feature of both afternoon and evening.

At about 9 o'clock there was excellent pyrotechnic display in charge of Mr. Houle of Lowell.

HALF CRAZED

FATHER TRIED TO DO AWAY WITH HIMSELF AND CHILD

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—John Young, an iron worker, out of employment, has been picked up by the police after a desperate attempt to drown his two-year-old baby girl and to cut his own throat.

Young, half crazed, with his struggle against poverty, took the child in his arms last evening to Pier 53, East River and threw her into the stream. This act was seen by some men nearby and one of them jumped in and rescued the little one as she was being carried down by the tide. Meanwhile the father was trying to get a razor out of his pocket to cut himself when a bystander after a fierce struggle got the weapon away from him.

KILLED HIMSELF

THAT HIS WIFE MIGHT GET INSURANCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Charles A. Mielenz died by his own hand some time on Wednesday on the Prairie near Foster and Southport avenues, in order that his wife might receive the benefit of $2000 insurance which he carried in two German lodges. Mrs. Mielenz learned from the police last night that her husbands' body had been found. She has four boys, none of them 10 years old.

Mr. Mielenz conducted a wall paper and painting business and it was not prosperous. He left home on Tuesday morning.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Mielenz received a letter from her husband mailed from a suburb and written partly in German and partly in English, in which he said:

"It is the best you can do to let me go, so everybody can get what they have coming. I feel sorry for my children. You will get enough of money from my lodges to put $500 in the business and hold the balance for yourself and my dear children. It is hard to part, but I don't see any other way."

SWINDLING SCHEME

BOLD ATTEMPT TO GET $2000.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LEOMINSTER, Aug. 17.—The Leominster National bank received a cablegram yesterday from Paris, ostensibly from Alexander S. Paton, who is visiting the Paris exposition, asking that $2000 be immediately forwarded to him. The bank became suspicious and communicated with R. W. Doyle, the local treasurer of the Paton Manufacturing company and he in turn called Mr. Paton in Paris, and this morning received the reply that no money had been sent for by Mr. Paton. Mr. Doyle left this morning for New York to consult authorities in regard to the matter, with the view of arresting the perpetrators of the scheme to swindle.

IN NEED OF REPAIR

Aiken street bridge is badly in need of repairs. The roadway of this bridge is in wretched condition, and if the city does not care for it before long they may have a suit for damages on their hands as a result of their neglect.

BARTON AWARDED CONTRACT.

The bids for rebuilding the bridges on the Lowell road at Methuen have been opened by the selectmen of that town. The bidders were: C. E. Trumbull & Co. and J. Chambers of Lawrence, and Cyrus Barton of Lowell. The contract was awarded to Cyrus Barton he being the low at $2,850. There are four bridges on the line of the new macadamized road now being built that are to be rebuilt. The amount of Barton's bid was $2,850.00.

LEAVING LONDON

Americans Are Starting for This Country

Sen. Depew Examinedthe Electric Underground Railroad — He Talks on Development of Our Industries

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The tide of American travel is still strong towards London. Many residents of the other side of the Atlantic, having exhausted the Paris exposition, are recuperating in England and the hotels frequented by Americans are filled this week as they have not been since the opening of the season. Coaching is the delight of most of the Americans. Since Mr. Albert L. Johnson of Brooklyn, N. Y., drove his six-horse coach through London there have been many candidates for similar honors. Among the energetic young gentlemen is Charles DeYoung, a son of M. DeYoung, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, incidentally, San Francisco is also handsomely represented in London. Aside from Mr. DeYoung's party at a West End table, the other evening, were Mayor Pelham Warren Martin and Peter Donahue of the Pacific Union Express Company; Mr. E. H. Butler, proprietor of the Buffalo News, another enthusiastic Elysian has bought a coach as a birthday present to his son. There have been enough American electric railroad promoters at the Carlton this week to carry through any scheme for rapid transit in London which can be devised. Mr. T. L. Johnson of Brooklyn came from Paris Thursday and under the same roof were Mr. W. L. Elkin and P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia, who have since gone to the continent, and Mr. Edwin Johnson, representing the Edison company. These gentlemen have been studying the General Underground railroad. Mr. Elkin informed a representative of The Associated Press that he and his associates really had no definite plans for work in London, in spite of the fact that they have been in consultation with several of the city railroad owners.

STEAMERS CROWDED.

The outgoing steamers today are crowded. Senator Depew sails on the Steamer New York. He spent the last days of his stay here in examining the new electric underground railroad. He has also been in consultation with British financiers who are specially interested in the ability of the United States to make loans to Europe. The Senator said:

"The sudden development of our industries and the immense accumulation of money growing out of the fact that Europe is paying $600,000,000 annually for American products has not only brought the bank rate and call loans up one and two per cent. respectively, but the western banks are now buying paper in the east because there is no demand for money. The fact that half the British war loan fall if it had been permitted, was taken in the United States demonstrates these conditions which have already made New York one of the financial centers of the world. If the conditions continue, and I have no doubt they will, New York will soon be a dangerous rival of London in financing the government enterprises of the world. The rapid information we are acquiring regarding the industrial conditions of the world, the necessity of finding a market for our increasing surplus of the Chinese problem tend to make New York an active competitor in the schemes for the development of the far east. It is a good possibility that the New York stock exchange will actively deal in many foreign stocks and bonds. The United States, with three thousand miles of ocean from European governmental complications, will never take a militant part in the rivalries, jealousies and wars of Europe. These very miseries, the wars, make the United States every year stronger as a financial factor and will, I believe, make New York the financial center of the world. Up to two years ago, the European cabinets took no interest in American diplomacy and finance. America was regarded as a granary in times of poor harvest on this side and a dumping ground for surplus population. Now, no cabinet in Europe makes a move without considering what is the position of the United States in the matter."

JUDGE FLETCHER DEAD.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—A special from Lancaster, N. H., announces the death there at 10 o'clock this forenoon of Judge Everett Fletcher. He was born in 1838, in 1863, he was a member of Governor Hale's staff and was appointed judge of probate court in Coos county in 1876. He resigned in 1892 to devote his attention to the law business.

NEW YORK'S POPULATION.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The population of Greater New York, as indicated by the count just completed at the census office, is 3,437,202.

This includes the population of the boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx, previously announced, and those of Brooklyn, Richmond and Queens.

An approximate estimate of the increase since 1890 shows it to have been 37.9 per cent.

TEXTILE COUNCILS' PICNIC.

The Textile Councils of the city are having their annual picnic this afternoon at Belle Grove. Three special electric cars from this city to the picnic grounds every half hour. About one o'clock the cars which left the square were crowded to their utmost capacity. It is expected that a couple of thousand people will attend the picnic. Whether or not Dame Rumor's report that there will be no liquor will deter the people from this city at half past eleven o'clock.

PARKER MURDER

Mystery Believed to Have Been Solved

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 18.—The Mirror will tonight publish what is believed to be a solution of what is known and has been known for many years throughout southern New Hampshire as the "Parker murder mystery."

James L. Parker was tax collector of Manchester and in the spring of 1875 he was murdered, after being enticed from his home and $7 taken from his person. His throat was cut from ear to ear and he was otherwise wounded, as he had had a desperate struggle for his life. An open razor and a shoe knife ground to a point, were found beside him. His struggle, judging from the track in the snow was with one person, but there were carriage tracks leading from a spot near the scene of the tragedy, indicating that the murderer was driven away by an accomplice. The community and the state were aroused, and Manchester offered a reward of $500 for evidence that would convict the murderer, and the state of New Hampshire duplicated the reward. Three Wentworth brothers, hotel keepers, having a house at Sunn. Me., were arrested for the crime and their trial was one of the most memorable in the annals of the state court. Franklin Pierce, afterward president of the United States and General Benjamin F. Butler, defended the prisoners and they were acquitted. Some years afterwards, in April, 1876, a woman and two children were found murdered at Wilmington, Mass., and beside their dead bodies was found a shoe knife ground to a point and an open razor. The fact that these weapons used were the same at both the Parker murder and the Wilmington murder, caused General Butler, who was retained as counsel by Daniel Pierson, charged with being the perpetrator of the Wilmington crime, to ask his client after he was sentenced for the murder in this city. Pierson admitted that he did it, and that he was accompanied by a man who drove him away in a carriage to Wilmington and that the man desired Parker killed out of revenge for his having refused to loan him a sum of money when he had placed with him in trust.

The Mirror's informant for this information is Nathaniel P. Ames of Medford, Mass., a man 65 years of age, who was a boy in Manchester at the time of the murder. Mr. Ames further says that 18 months after the murder Pierson came to Manchester, put up at his father's house on the Stark corporation and the next morning induced him to take him to the scene of "where they killed Parker." Mr. Ames says the man was jovial until he reached the scene and that his appearance then underwent a complete change until he was afraid of him. Pierson stood him 25 cents to leave him. His description then tallied with the description afterwards given of the Wilmington murderer who was hanged.

THE HEADS OF THE CHINESE ARMY.

Generals Who Have Won Distinction and the Strange Methods By Which They Achieved Greatness.

By Charles Edward Schull.

China has no Generals. If the title be applied as we apply it in this country, to men who have undergone a military training and have gradually risen in the service of their country to this high post.

The Chinese are a peace loving people. Every art of Europe has sprung from the Orientals; they excel in the making of fine goods and, before the standards of painting changed, their pictures were the finest in the world. But in war they were never conspicuous.

The Chinese have a proverb: "No good man will ever be a soldier." Fighting is mentioned as a warning to the boys; they must never quarrel; and, so, except in the case of family feuds which amount to nothing, the nation lives at peace with itself; rebellions are unknown and the art of fighting is neglected.

Years ago, when China was almost the whole of the East, it conquered a greater part of Europe but Europe was then at its weakest. Centuries have passed since then; and, in the refinement of modern Chinese civilization, the art of warfare has fared badly compared to the other arts.

Yet China has her Generals. The youngest of them all is Tu Tsin, a warrior who came into prominence at the close of the Japanese war. He was present at the last battle and was one of the few who were not shot in the back; he ran too fast. When asked the reason of their defeat he said:

"The Japanese came at us as though mad. We shot down those who were in front, but just as soon as a man fell in the front ranks some one from the next line would take his place. You can't fight people that way. When we shot down those who took the others' places some one else would come and fill up the ranks, and on they would come. You can't do anything with people of that kind. They did not know when they were whipped. Somebody had to run, and as they would not, we did, and then they shot us in the back.

FIGHT BRAVELY.

Yet it must not be supposed that the Chinese are cowards. They fight bravely and when they are face to face with an enemy, armed with spears, they are the braver soldiers of the two. They fight desperately and to the death. They do not calculate on coming out of a battle alive; and a Chinese soldier invariably disposes of his estate and bids farewell to his family forever before going to war. He knows that he will fight until he is dead.

The trouble with the Chinaman, in the battle of to-day, is that he does not understand modern weapons. He knows little of dynamite and nothing of yddite; war balloons are novelties to him, high explosives barely a name; he is not used to the Mauser and he has not calculated upon the tricky qualities of the disappearing gun.

There is another difficulty under which the Chinaman labors. He does not love his flag. His country and his family he loves; and he may have a devotion to his cause; but that wild unreasoning love of flag is a stranger to him. The national flag does not figure in his home as it does in our country; it is not a part of his education; he does not sing about it; and rally around it.

Still China has some faithful leaders upon whom she can depend.

These military leaders came lately to a realizing sense of China's weakness in war and resolved to remedy it. It was under their instructions that the Chinese troops allowed themselves to be organized by the Germans and taught the arts of war. When the Germans took part of China for their own, and armed it, they selected native Chinamen for guards and, after arming them and uniforming them, they taught them how to fire the rifles and how to use the field guns. The Chinese Generals meanwhile nodding approval.

LEARNING TO FIGHT.

Russia did the same thing in her own quarter of China, or the part which she claimed as her own; and France also sent rifles and had her own native troops. The Chinese accepted the instructions and profited by them. The skill of the present is wholly due to the faithful lessons they have so faithfully learned the past few years.

A few of the Chinese Generals have refused to become acquainted with modern methods, claiming that China had always excelled and always would excel in war. One of these Wo Tung Lang fought in the Corean war. When about to start for Corea somebody asked him if he did not think it would be a good thing to study the geography of Corea:

"Geography of Corea!" said he. "What do I care about the geography of Corea! I will just go over there and have two or three engagements with them and that will be the end of it. There is no use of my bothering myself about the geography of the country."

As a matter of fact, he went over and had the engagements, but the result was not what he had predicted. One of his soldiers who was laid up in a hospital after his return explained what happened. He and the others in most of the hospitals were shot in the back.

A General prominent in past wars was General Yeh. He was, however, suspected of stealing the government money and was removed. The direct cause of the removal was the fact that, though money was regularly sent him for the troops, little, if any of it, ever reached its destination.

A man who will lead the troops is General Nieh. He is a big fat, good natured man, artistic to the ends of his pointed fingers and as sentimental as a poet. It is difficult to picture General Nieh in battle. But he will go to war, mounted upon his horse, all gaily caparisoned, ready to vanquish the enemy.

A BRAVE LEADER.

General Nieh is at present located at Lu Tai which is less than one hundred miles from Tien Tsin. He is the most popular of the Generals and has the greatest degree of control over the troops.

Had he been allowed to go on with his treatment of the Boxers a few weeks ago it would have saved the Chinese government a large amount of anxiety as well as a great deal of trouble and expense. General Nieh has always manifested a kind disposition toward foreigners and so far as I have ever heard, there has never been any trouble between his soldiers and the foreign residents in Tong Ku or Tang Shang, or, indeed, in any other part of the country east of Tien Tsin and Peking.

A popular man is General Yuan Shih-kai. He, too, is big and corpulent, standing higher and measuring broader than any man in his regiment. The General is fond of foreigners and one cannot think that he relishes the idea of exterminating the white races from the face of the earth, as the Chinese in his command feel positive he will do. He was in the Japanese war and, though he did not gain any particular glory, he escaped alive which has always been considered a considerable feat.

The Chinese have for hundreds of years punished defeated Generals by beheading them. They carried out the practice through all the family leaving none of his name or blood alive. After the Japanese war it was decided to make an exception in the cases of the commanders of that campaign as owing to the peculiarity of the Japanese methods, it was impossible to win. General Yuan Shih-Kai, therefore, escaped with his life and his family were not beheaded.

General Yuan was the Chinese representative at the Corean capital when war broke out in Corea. When the first battle was fought the vessels were all taken off the line between Tien Tsin and Chemulpo, and all the foreigners, myself included, were stranded in Corea. But an offer came from the Captain of a British cruiser to carry all foreigners over to Chefoo, and General Yuen was included among this number. He is like General Nieh in his good nature, and like him in his general understanding of the power of Western governments. When Yu Hsien, another General, was recalled General Yuan was appointed to take his place. He appointed his brother to take charge of his troops, and at once he began to put down the Boxer movement; but no sooner had this been done than the brother was recalled by the Empress Dowager. This, of course, was proof positive that the Empress was in sympathy with the Boxers.

Notwithstanding this, General Yuan has steadily gained control of things and is spoken of very highly by those who are in those disturbed regions. Some of the leading missionaries write that it is evident that the military officials are doing all they can to put the movement down, but in this they are not very heartily seconded by the civil authorities.

HATES FOREIGNERS.

The most anti-foreign General and one who presents a direct contrast to the two just described, is Tung Fuhsiang. This General won his reputation in Kansu, the northwestern provinces, a few years ago in his battles with the Mohammedans then in revolt.

All his life he has been shut off from intercourse with foreign governments and knows absolutely nothing about their power, the nature of their arms and the character of their fighting ability. Because his army was able to put down the Mohammedan rebellion, which was practically a war between two rabbles, he supposes that all this trouble with "foreign devils" is because of Christianity, and so he is not only anti-foreign but especially anti-Christian. His rabble inflicts fear among the natives, whether Christian or non-Christian, wherever he goes.

Only a year or two ago when it was known that he was about to come down about the region of Peking there was a general quaking among the country people and awful stories were told about the cruelty of his men and their disposition to loot, to rob and to outrage the women of the sections through which they passed. The difference between his rabble and the armies of Nieh and Yuan is an indication of the salutary influence their contact with foreign soldiers and the representation foreign governments has had upon them.

There is one other General who has recently become prominent. This is Prince Tuan, who has charge of the Imperial Manchu troops at Peking. He is the father of the heir apparent, and the son of the Fifth Prince, as he has always been called. He is said to be one of the most warlike of all the imperial princes, if not the most warlike; but the stand he has taken with the conservative party, which, of course, was forced upon him by the fact that his son was chosen by the Empress Dowager as the successor of Kuang Hsu, has placed him in a very unfavorable light before the world.

SYMPATHY WITH BOXERS.

It is said that the large majority of his troops joined the Boxers in the neighborhood of Peking and it was this fact that made the Boxer movement so strong and so successful in that neighborhood. There is no doubt that he was, like the Empress Dowager, in sympathy with them, and it was probably through his influence that General Nieh was rebuked when his soldiers killed 500 of the Boxers between Tien Tsin and Peking. His army sets the Manchu soldiers in a very bad light before the world.

There are two other men who rank higher among China's military leaders than any or all the others put together. And yet they are not Generals. They are the two Viceroys. They are Li Hung Chang, whom everybody knows, and Chang Chih-tung, who is almost unknown in America. It is somewhat singular that these two men should have the names they have. They are the Smith and Brown, or the Brown and Jones of China, as indicated by the following Chinese proverb. In the Chinese primer for girls they have this couplet:

Have you ever learned the reason why your ears should pun-tured be?
'Tis that you may never listen to the talk of Chang and Li.

Now, as a matter of fact, if the Chinese had listened to the advice of Chang Chih-tung and Li Hung Chang, China would be far on the road to progress at the present time. Li Hung Chang, as is well known, is the Viceroy of the two Kwangs, and Chang Chih-tung is the Viceroy of Hupeh and Hunan. It is the latter who is to be grappling to bring the powers not to send troops to China.

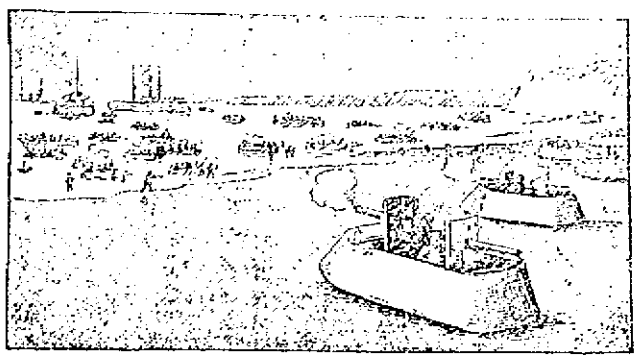
LIGHT ARTILLERY RUN BY AUTOMOBILE POWER.



AN IDEA FOR A SHORE BATTERY

AUTOMOBILE FORTS FOR THE BRITISH.

Queen Victoria Is Having These Curious Structures Built for the Purposes of a Coast Guard.

The full possibilities of the automobile have not as yet been discovered. Scarcely a week but brings news of a new machine to be run on the automobile principle. It may be only a baby carriage; it may be a van; or it may branch out into a hitherto unexplored field of usefulness.

A travelling fortress capable of running at the speed of an express train over any kind of ground has been invented by the head of a large syndicate which is identified with the manufacture of high-speed automobiles.

The British Government has placed with the inventor's firm an order for a number of the machines. On a level road the automobile can easily make fifty miles an hour.

The machine which was tried the other day carries armor-plate protection and two rapid-fire guns. Four men find plenty of working room within the enclosure and are in no danger of being thrown out, even when the machine is moving at a high rate of speed.

This war car, however, is but the smallest of the machines to which the motor has been applied. It is possible to build one big enough and strong enough to have the machine resemble a battleship on dry land. If the pistons of the motor are enlarged to the required proportion there seems to be no reason at all why the armies of the future should not be equipped with a double-turreted land monitor which would be absolutely impregnable to ordinary attacks and which in warfare would be more mobile than even a cavalry force.

Before the onslaught of such a machine ordinary land artillery would be powerless. It could batter its way with its guns through an ordinary town and travel comfortably over a path made by its projectiles.

Gasoline is the fuel used on the motor, and a very small amount of this liquid will run the machine a long distance. Electricity is and always will be a favorite power for use in city streets and on smooth roads, but for warfare and across rough country either the gasoline or the steam motor will be the one on which the most reliance must be placed. Gasoline is easily transported in the field, and water in sufficient quantities for the use of the machines can always be obtained. A motor which depends on storage batteries for its power would be hopelessly handicapped in active service, as the first rough shaking it received would entirely derange the storage battery.

One of these motor forts, for instance, could be equipped with a dynamite gun. Dashing from behind some shelter, it could approach the enemy at the speed of an express train, get within range, fire several of its deadly shells and get away, probably untouched, for it would be as hard to hit as a fast-flying bird.

For coast defence small travelling forts of this kind would be invaluable. They could travel along the beach or sand faster than trains, and could make things exceedingly warm for any parties of the enemy which were trying to effect a landing. Of course, it must be remembered that such landings are almost invariably made under the protection of a battleship, and that one big shell from a ship, properly aimed, would put the automobile fort hopelessly out of business.

That is where one of the big double-turreted automobile forts would come into play. No sensible strategist would ever try to effect a landing under the guns of a fort, or, indeed, at any place he knew to be adequately protected by earthworks or other fortifications. If these automobile fortresses were in general use it would mean, practically, that every part of the coast line of the country would be protected, for if an enemy were seen to be approaching it would take, at the most, half an hour to get one of these fast-travelling forts to the threatened point. It is, necessarily, very much easier to take aim from land than from the deck of a ship, and while the battleship and cruisers protecting the landing might be more powerful in armament, the advantage of accuracy and position would be on the side of the defence.

The wheels are pneumatic, the outside tube being four inches thick. The centre of gravity of the machine lies so low and its wheel base is so broad that it is practicably impossible to upset the machine, however swiftly it may be turned.

The possibility of a "flying artillery" of light field guns mounted upon automobile carriages is being earnestly considered by officers.

English Foxes.

A curious trick of English foxes is to jump as high as possible, grasping a tree branch with their teeth, hold on till the hounds have gone on, and then dropping to the ground, escape. This is similar to the trick of the American fox, which jumps into a tree and rests on a branch; but American dogs are not such fools as English dogs. They gather around the tree and howl till the hunter comes.

MAN'S ENEMIES.

By David Star Jordan, President of the Stanford University, California.

There are four enemies that have stood in the path of man. These are aristocracy, militarism, slavery and imperialism. There are various other enemies, but those are the four arch enemies in the political sense. They all spring out of the idea that man belongs not to himself, but that he belongs, body and soul, to somebody or something else which owns him. These four enemies in a dangerous garb confront the United States to-day.

Schiller says that the tyrants reach hands to each other—that they reach to each other the hands. They stand together now. These four stand together. Wherever there is one the other is. Aristocracy, slavery, militarism and imperialism. They reach each other's hand.

They all have their fair, attractive side. They are defended sometimes at the fireside. Slavery was discussed and defended from many a pulpit in New England. Aristocracy has its fair side.

The foundation of quality is aristocracy, the foundation of our own liberty is rebellion against it—the very thing we came here for.

There is a fair side of slavery and a fair side of militarism. How clean the streets can be kept under military discipline and how free from noise! How easily people can be sent to bed at dark if it be desired!

There is a fair side of imperialism. You will find that in many places nine-tenths of the people believe it a good thing for the world. Maybe it is, but when we come to read history from the one side to the other we will find that the British people have been debauched by their course in India, and that the Hindoos have been cursed. You will find that the English people have been turned from being a strong, freedom-loving people. You will find also that the heart's blood has gone out of Great Britain as it has gone out of all countries which have indulged in constant wars.

We know how Napoleon depopulated France by his wars. We know of the murders of the nobility, the murders of the peasantry and the result in the France of to-day. In 1620, when the Philippine question was a burning one in Spain, La Puente, an Augustinian friar, expressed his opinion of the whole thing when he said: "Against the gain of redeemed souls I place the cost in the loss of armadas and of soldiers and of friars sent to the Philippines, and these I count the chief loss, that while mines give silver and forests give lumber, only Spain gives Spaniards, and she shall give so many of them that some day she shall be left childless and forced to bring up strangers' children instead of her own."

The heresy of imperialism is the most dangerous that has arisen since the heresy of secession, and it must be fought as vigorously as the heresy of secession. If we admit as citizens any number of millions of people that are not ready for liberty, if we admit them with all the degradation which they must bring into our politics, we must take the consequences.

The best way in which the growth of any man or nation has ever been promoted has been through self-government, democratically looking after its own affairs. We do not expect that self-government will always be good government. Men learn not by their success, but by mistakes. It is absolutely impossible for any republic to conduct any affairs well except its own.

FOR LOWELL GIRLS

Why They Should Get the Preference

When Duly Qualified Over Non-Residents—Some Interviews on Action of the School Board

The Sun has received many favorable comments on the article published in last Friday's paper in regard to the action of the school board or the committee on teachers, in selecting so many non-residents for the training school to the exclusion of Lowell girls.

A Sun representative had a talk with the members of the board who opposed this course, and they talked very freely upon the matter stating that they should stand for the merit system and see that competent Lowell girls would have the preference for appointment in the Lowell schools.

DONNELLY OBJECTS.

James E. Donnelly, senior democratic member of the school board and member of the committee on teachers said: "I believe that in caring for the best interests of pupils and teachers, we protect the citizens of Lowell. The merit system which has been in vogue ever since the establishment of the Training school is the best and only system that should govern the selection of our school teachers. During all this agitation I have stood for the merit system and contended that a departure from it would be detrimental. I am still of that opinion. I believe too that our Training school should be for Lowell girls only. Who has complained of the teachers now employed in our schools? Who has said they are inferior to those of any other city? I have heard Supt. Whitcomb praise their worth and state that our schools rank with the best. This standing must be obtained through the work of the teachers. These teachers are Lowell ladies, and why then, if our schools rank with the best and our teachers are the equal of those in other cities, should we discriminate at this time and bar Lowell girls who have had their minds set on entering the Training school and becoming teachers and who, I claim, are the equals, at least of those who will be imported to our city. No fault was found with the old system. It was just and guaranteed fair treatment to all. Parents of our city felt a pride in having their daughters enter our Training schools and all our citizens were satisfied that our city was a field large enough to supply the demand for teachers. The matter of public funds being devoted to the education of outside people might be raised as an objection to their admission. If a boy or girl from any of the outlying towns enters our grammar or high schools he or she must pay tuition. If this is a just rule in those schools, it should likewise apply to the Training school. I honestly believe the system just adopted will be short lived. I think public opinion will compel its repeal and I certainly hope that its term of operation will be brief.

Lowell young ladies are as well qualified to become pupils of our Training schools as are those of other cities and the right to enter the school should be reserved exclusively to them. I have no interest aside from my desire to see justice done to all Lowell girls. I have no relatives in the Training or in the Normal schools so that it cannot be urged that I take this position in order to benefit somebody who might claim relationship to me."

DENNIS MURPHY.

"I am opposed now, always have been, and always will be," said Dennis Murphy, Esq., of Ward Five, "to admitting out-of-town girls to our Training school. The action of the school board might give the impression that our teachers are failing below the standard. If that is so, and I do not admit it by any means, then some one is to blame. We have a Training school, established for the sole purpose of training pupil teachers, that they may give their best service to the schools. If they are not capable, then why should they be given the diploma certifying to their ability, and efficiency to teach in any school? This school is supported by the taxpayers of Lowell and should be distinctly a local institution. We are ignoring the purposes of the establishment of the school and departing from the original ideas, when we make such a departure as will throw the doors of our Training school wide open to the entire county. It's an imposition on the public and should never have been approved by the school board. Last year Mr. Donnelly and myself made our position plain. We insisted that the merit system should stand; that the Lowell Training school is for Lowell girls, and we have not changed since. Lowell girls entered that Training school and took the prescribed course. If they were not competent to teach the check was there to prevent their graduation and subsequent election as teachers. I cannot understand the object of the new move. I fail to see where we will be benefited in the least, and I fear its effect may be felt by those who originated the scheme. I feel safe that public opinion will support me in the position I have taken, for I am of the strongest belief that it is an injustice to allow outsiders to come here and usurp the places of our Lowell girls."

DALY FAVORS LOWELL GIRLS.

Cornelius A. Daly, member of the school board from Ward Two, when seen by the Sun reporter, said: "In all other departments of the city Lowell residents are given the preference over out-of-town people, and I am in favor of the same in the school department. The rank that they struggled to get from the Normal school is a questionable rank and I am interested in Lowell girls first, particularly when we are not sure of the rank. I believe also in a closed list of graduates of the Training school. There are now the graduates of four classes on the closed list. In regard to college graduates entering the Training school I opposed the proposition to allow them to teach without going through the Training school. While at college they accumulate knowledge undoubtedly, but they learn nothing of the practice of teaching which is taught them at the Normal school."

SOLEMN SERVICE

In Memory of the Late King Humbert

PRESIDENT McKINLEY AND CABINET

Among Those Present in the Church

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Amid scenes of impressive solemnity and in the presence of the president of the United States, members of the cabinet, officers of the army and navy, the ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries, and a great concourse of people from civil life, the memorial services for the late King Humbert III of Italy were held at St. Matthew's Catholic church at 11 o'clock yesterday.

The church had been decorated elaborately for the occasion. Immediately in front of the chancel rail stood the catafalque. Over it was thrown a heavy black pall, edged with white and on top was a great garland of laurel and galax leaves, tied with ribbons of red, white and green, the colors of Italy.

Baron Fava, in the full uniform of high diplomatic rank stood at the south side corner of the church and received the distinguished arrivals. He was assisted by Marquis Ramoino and the military attaches of the embassy. Among the first arrivals was the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu Ting Fang, the Spanish minister, Duke D'Arcos, in full uniform, followed soon after and was given a seat with the Chinese representative. Both of them are the Japanese minister, Mr. Takahira. Germany was represented by Baron Von Sternburg, German charge d'affaires, accompanied by the German military and naval attaches. France by M. Declercq and M. Boeufve; Great Britain by Mr. Lowther and Captain Bradley of the Royal navy, Russia by M. Kourkowsky while the other countries of Europe, South and Central America were represented by their several ministers and secretaries.

Across the aisle from the diplomatic corps were reserved for distinguished American officers and civil officials and among those present were Rear-Admirals Melville, Endicott and Percy, Brigadiers John N. Wilson, Ludlow and Weston, the staff officers of Lieut.-Gen. Miles and scores of lesser officers. The Italian residents and citizens were given seats at the side of the church, near the altar.

Just at 11 o'clock President McKinley and the members of his cabinet arrived at the church. Baron Fava stepped forward and received the president. With he president were Secy. Hitchcock, Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, Acting Secretary of State Adee and the president's secretary, Mr. Cortelyou. As the presidential party took their seats, the strains of the organ floated through the edifice and the black and white robed acolytes led the procession of priest to the altar. It had been expected that Cardinal Gibbons would officiate. The celebrant of the mass was Gen. Father Hart, assisted by Father Lewis Deacon and Father Kortick as sub-deacon. Father Chappell of Georgetown university was also in the sanctuary.

At the close of the mass, the jelesta ascended from the sanctuary, moved about the casket, sprinkling it with holy water, praying for the repose of the soul of the good king, and chanting the requiescat."

FIELD DAY

'N WHICH CANTON PAWTUCKET OF LOWELL WILL PARTICIPATE.

Besides Canton Pawtucket of Lowell, Canton Agawam of Lawrence will serve as guests on Labor Day Canton Eagle of Haverhill and Canton Harmony of Newburyport. The visiting cantons will arrive in Lawrence about the middle of the forenoon and at 10 o'clock there will be a parade. The Amesbury band of Lowell will furnish music and the march will be from the hall down Essex street to Jackson, to Haverhill, to Broadway, to Essex and to the hall, where their uniforms will be exchanged for fatigue dress, and at 1:15 the cantons will embark on a special train from the Lowell station on Essex street, Lawrence, for Haggett's pond. At the pond during the afternoon there will be a series of sports and supper, and the party will return in the early evening.

GETTING OFF BACKWARDS.

"I know this subject has been alluded to many times before, but I cannot refrain from again expressing wonder as to why 75 per cent. or more of the female passengers of electric cars will persist in getting off from the car 'backwards,' says a writer of the Lawrence Tribune. "This thought was brought to my mind by an incident on a Lowell car yesterday afternoon when a woman of advanced years came near receiving a bad fall in just that way. Her arms were filled with bundles and the many another, she would not wait until the car came to a full stop before alighting, but stepped off as usual with her face to the rear of the car. She got quite a prospect before regaining her equilibrium, much to the amusement of the passengers, who by the way that she was not likely to be injured. If passengers about to alight would take hold of the handle on the seat in front of them instead of the one at the seat upon which they have been sitting all danger from an accident of this kind might be avoided."

BLACKLISTERS

A Recent Decision of Mass. Courts

In connection with the Merchants' directory, otherwise known as the blacklist, the Banker and Tradesman has the following of local interest:

"The recent decision of the supreme court of Massachusetts, declaring illegal the system of blacklisting carried on by various trades organizations, has been followed by a similar decision of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, where it is held that blacklisting of debtors furnishes good ground for a libel suit. In the Pennsylvania case the plaintiff was a fruit dealer and was blacklisted by a trade association, to one of whose members he owed a bill. Responsible business men will probably soon come to the conclusion that it is risky being members of associations having for their principal object the blacklisting of persons who do not pay their bills. Under the present state of law, according to the decisions of the supreme courts of both Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, such a course makes good ground for libel, and the damaged person is not obliged to use the association, but can bring his action against the person or firm which caused him to be on the list."

SLAYTON OUTING.

The E. M. Slayton produce houses of Lowell, Lawrence, Lynn and Manchester, closed Saturday and the employes with their families united in an outing at Canobie Lake, Salem, N. H. The parties from the four cities arrived during the forenoon, and the day was spent in having a general good time. A programme of sports was carried out, an interesting feature of this being a baseball game between a team representing Manchester and Lowell, and a club representing the Lawrence and Lynn stores.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE IN A CAGE.

Always acting upon the supposition that an accused prisoner is guilty until proved innocent or until a pretty large bribe is forthcoming, the Chinese Junk is very certain to administer punishment quite out of proportion to the crime. He will not err on the side of mercy at all events, and if the victim escape with no heavier infliction than the "cange," which permits him only to stand upright, he is remarkably fortunate. Some of the cages are so small that the miserable wretch inside can neither stand, sit up or lie down, but has to crouch, like a frog, in a position not at all conducive to comfort.

BIG FIGHT AUG. 24

Sharkey and Fitzsimmons Will Meet

AS ORIGINALLY ARRANGED IN NEW YORK

Great Interest Taken in the Big Bout

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—The management of the Seaside A. C. has definitely changed the date of the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey fight. The date originally set for the contest was Aug. 24, but on account of the great crowd that would be drawn to the island on the 25th to see the Futurity stakes run, the managers have decided to make the date of the fight Saturday, Aug. 25.

Tom O'Rourke, acting for the Seaside A. C., last night announced that it complied with the request to-day and will take place on the original date, Friday, Aug. 24.

A LIVELY FIGHT

Interfered With Base Ball Game on Common

LAWRENCE TEAM WON ITS GAME

Against the Famous Elm Nine

During the progress of a base ball game on the South common Saturday afternoon between the Elms, champions of this city and the West Ends of Lawrence, a row was started that gave the police considerable trouble.

The fight was started in the fourth inning and proved the most lively feature of the afternoon. There is a difference of opinion as to how the trouble started. Some say that one of the players accidentally stepped on the foot of a spectator near the third base line. Another account of it is that some of the spectators became involved in a discussion of the merits of several of the players and failing to agree, came to blows. The fight lasted several minutes and when an officer attempted to make an arrest, the crowd closed in and made it difficult for him to make a passageway. Several of the participants got a few bruises but beyond that there was no damage done and no arrests were made.

The game itself was a very good one. The Elms were first at the bat and took the field after they had scored three runs two of which were earned. The West Ends then came to the bat, but they were easily sent to the stables, for they were unable to solve the intricate curves and twists of "Pank" Ryan, the star pitcher of the Elms.

The rest of the innings was productive of nothing for either team in the way of scoring runs.

The boys from down the river caught a few of Ryan's curves and the official scorer was obliged to count two for the visitors. Score: Elms 3, West Ends 2.

The fourth inning was another snap for the Lowell boys, for the down river fellows settled down and scored three runs and took the lead.

The game from this on was a certainty for the West Ends and finally ended in their favor.

The Lawrence pitcher received perfect support and if Ryan received the same the Elms would have won the game, for every error the Elms made was costly.

The final score was 11 to 8 in favor of the Lawrence boys.

Elms ..... 3 0 0 1 3 0 0 1 0—8

MGR. IRELAND,

MGR. IRELAND

INVITED BY POPE TO DELIVER AN ADDRESS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ROME, Aug. 20—Yesterday being the feast of St. Joachim, the pope's patron saint, there was a large gathering at the vatican of cardinals, bishops and presidents of societies.

The pope, who was in excellent health and spirits, spoke at some length regarding matters of Catholic interest, and then, with a complimentary introduction, invited Archbishop Ireland to address the assembly on matters in America, and the relations of the outer world to the holy see.

Mgr. Ireland, who was frequently applauded during a speech of 20 minutes, spoke glowingly of the fidelity of American Catholics to the Roman church and the holy see. He described liberty under the American flag, and set forth the necessity of the pope, as the head of christendom, being free and independent to any one civil power, "so as to be, in fact, as well as of right, the sovereign teacher and ruler of all nations and peoples, without special dependency on any special nation or people."

The address gave visible satisfaction.

Mgr. Ireland had a final audience with the pope on Friday.

THE BODY FOUND

Of a Nurse That Recently Disappeared

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The body of Miss Bertha M. Hunt, the nurse who strangely disappeared from the City hospital on Blackwell's Island, where she was employed, on Thursday night, was found yesterday. Miss Hunt came from Chatham, N. Y. She lived with other nurses in the Training school. On Thursday one of the patients under her care died of epilepsy. This made a strong impression on the nurse's mind and when she returned to her room she was in quite a nervous state. She told her room-mate that she would go down to the river to get a pitcherful of salt water, with which to bathe her head. She was not seen again alive.

BRAVE GIRL KILLED

By Gang of Burglars in Pittsfield

The Town Alarmed and Now Searching for the Marauders—Account of Their Work

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 20—Miss May L. Fosburg, the 24-year-old daughter of R. L. Fosburg of the big contracting firm of R. L. Fosburg of Buffalo, N. Y., was shot and instantly killed by one of a gang of burglars at 1.15 this morning, as she was going to her father's room to assist him in his struggle with one other of the gang. Mr. Fosburg was struck with an instrument over the head and badly injured, as was also his son, F. S. Fosburg, by the third member of the gang, each of whom escaped through open windows and have not yet been captured, although the town was aroused by the sounding of the fire alarm and posses have been organized. A number of tramps have been arrested on suspicion.

The three men evidently entered the house by way of the veranda and opened a window into a vacant room and found Mr. Fosburg's revolver in the drawer of a bureau in his room. Mr. Fosburg was awakened by the noise and was struck by some blunt instrument and knocked down. He succeeded in struggling with the intruder, however, and the noise of the struggle awakened the family. As F. S. Fosburg, a son, entered the room, he was grappled by a second burglar and was struck down with a sandbag. As Miss May L. Fosburg and her brother, Jacob, the latter a student at Yale Scientific school, entered their father's room, the girl hearing the way, another burglar pushed her way in front of her and then turned and deliberately fired her revolver at Miss Fosburg's head, killing the sister of her brother, and exploded instantly.

The burglar who had been struggling with the father and one of the sons, escaped through a window.

The other burglar who had shot Miss Fosburg rushed through the door into the vacant room and jumping upon the roof of the veranda, made his escape. The medical examiner and the entire police force was called out; also the fire department, to assist in the search for the men.

A number of tramps were found and placed under arrest on suspicion.

Numerous articles were found by the street which had been dropped by the men in their flight, among them a pair of leather shoes and a stocking partially filled with sand. This was evidently the weapon with which the younger Fosburg was struck. A pillow case also was found, with holes cut for eyes and nose, also an old pair of trousers. A thorough investigation of the house, however, failed to show that anything except Mr. Fosburg's revolver had been taken. The men all wore the pillow cases over their heads, but where they obtained them is not yet known.

Mr. Fosburg is well known in this section of the state as a member of the firm of R. L. Fosburg & Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., which firm has built many of the big mill dams on the Berkshires. The Berkshire mills at Adams, owned by W. E. Plunkett, were built by them, and at the present time the firm is erecting the works for the Stanley Electrical company here. Mr. Fosburg is 60 years of age and his residence is "Morningside" where the murder occurred is one of the prettiest in that section.

DOMESTIC PRELATE

REV. P. J. McNAMARA HONORED BY POPE

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—The pope has named the Right Rev. P. J. McNamara to the dignity of domestic prelate. Father McNamara is pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church in this city. He was ordained a priest several by Bishop McDonnell shortly after the latter's consecration as head of the diocese and has had charge of affairs in the bishop's absence.

BOARD OF HEALTH

NO MORE DIPHTHERIA CASES REPORTED.

There were no new cases of diphtheria reported at the board of health office this morning, and it is thought that there will be no further spread of the disease.

Dr. Wickson reports his patients at the contagious hospital as getting along nicely.

CRUSADE STARTED

THE PRACTICE IS VERY GENERAL

And State Board is Determined to Stop It

A crusade in which the state board of health is at present actively engaged is one against the sale of so-called brandy drops to children. Its agents have recently secured a number of convictions in several of the larger cities, including Fall River, New Bedford, Lawrence, Lowell, Salem, Lynn and North Adams.

The law governing this matter was passed in 1891, and provides that "no person shall sell to any child under 16 years of age any candy or other article including liquid or syrup containing more than 1 per cent. of alcohol."

There is a penalty prescribed of a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 for each offense.

Shopkeepers and druggists have been found to be violating this law in a wholesale manner, and the state board has consequently gotten after them with a sharp stick.

In North Adams on Thursday five dealers were convicted, and had their cases placed on file on payment of costs. Under the strict interpretation of the law, the clerk who sells the goods rather than the proprietor of the place, is fined, and there is some talk of having the law amended so that the proprietor himself shall be prosecuted.

TOWN OF DRACUT

Constables Looking for the Firebug

WERE AROUND THE TOWN ALL SATURDAY NIGHT

Other Interesting News From That Town

Officer Gallagher and a number of the residents of Dracut stayed up all Saturday night to see if they could see the firebug who has been paying regular visits to that town, but it seems that all were disappointed. It is thought by many that the miscreants have been scared by the reward offered by the selectmen, but many people are still doubtful as they think the firebug may take some other morning besides Sunday, as he did in the case of the Emery fire.

The people also think that some further protection should be made outside of offering a reward.

Several of the youngsters around the town who have been used to keeping rather late hours during the warm weather were watched pretty carefully Saturday night and Officer Gallagher who did duty during the greater part of the night said yesterday morning reported the streets as comparatively deserted and everything was quiet.

Mr. Frank L. Shaw of Lynn is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nath. Peabody of Pleasant street.

Master Edward Devine, a pupil of the Parker avenue school, who took the recent examination for admittance to the Lowell High school and failed by a fraction, has received word from Supt. Whitcomb that he has been admitted. This will increase the number to enter High school from the Parker avenue school to three.

William Little, a former resident of the town, but now residing at North Andover, was in town Saturday and Sunday, renewing old acquaintances.

The old house which stands beside the river and just east of the bridge on Pleasant street, formerly owned by William Tyrell but now by parties in Lowell, is in a dilapidated condition. Every pane of glass is broken and the doors are thrown open, the blinds are very scarce, one appearing here and there, while most of them lie at the bottom of the river. This house seems to be a favorite resort for boys during the day and tramps during the night. It should be closed up.

Mrs. George Canney and Miss Sadie Bromley of Collinsville will spend the next two weeks at the White Mountains.

Mrs. John Hutchinson of Hamblett avenue is confined to her home with illness.

Mr. Frank Gunther of Pleasant street, who with his family has been spending the past two weeks at Salisbury beach, has returned home.

RUN OVER BY CAR

James Trubey of North Chelmsford

RUN OVER BY IN-BOUND TYNGSBORO CAR

James Trubey, a resident of North Chelmsford, and employed in the sprouting department of George C. Monro's mills in the same town, met with a serious accident Saturday night about 11.30 o'clock, being run over by an inbound Tyngsboro car, near the residence of John Marinell, Jr., in North Chelmsford.

Mr. Trubey came into Lowell early in the evening and started for home on the 10 o'clock car. He is believed to have left the car when it reached the village. The last car leaves Tyngsboro at 11.30 o'clock, and not making many stops to take on or leave off passengers goes along very rapidly.

The car was moving along at a fair rate of speed and when directly opposite the residence of Mr. Marinell, the motorman in charge saw the body of a man lying across the tracks. He did all in his power to stop the car, reversing the power and putting on the brakes, as well as dropping the fender, but the car was going too fast and the fender struck the man, throwing him some feet forward. Undoubtedly it was the dropping of the fender that saved his life for if it had not been lowered the wheels of the car would have passed over the body, which might have meant instant death.

The motorman and conductor picked up the injured man and put him on the car and took him to the Middlesex village car house, where the ambulance was summoned and he was taken to St. John's hospital.

At the hospital it was found that he had a very bad compound fracture of the left leg, and after consultation the doctors there decided that amputation would be necessary, and yesterday morning the operation was performed.

It was necessary to amputate a little below the knee. So far the operation has proved successful and the patient was resting comfortably this forenoon.

Besides the injuries of the leg, his left shoulder was dislocated and the little finger of the left hand broken.

It was not known how Mr. Trubey came on the track. He had lost neither his watch nor his money.

Am informed on the authority of the Japanese that street fighting still continues in Pekin, part of which is on fire.

Yang Sa (?) prevented the Empress from leaving; and last stand is now being made in the inner city, which is surrounded by allies and being bombarded.

LI HUNG CHANG APPEALS FOR PEACE

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, AUG. 20.—THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT, THROUGH LI HUNG CHANG, HAS MADE APPLICATION TO THE UNITED STATES FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF MINISTER CONGER, OR SOME OTHER AMERICAN OFFICIAL, WITH AUTHORITY TO OPEN NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF PEACE AND FOR FIXING DEFINITE TERMS FOR THE SETTLEMENT OF THE PRESENT TROUBLES. THE APPLICATION CAME TO THE CHINESE MINISTER TODAY AND WAS TAKEN BY HIM TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

MORE LIGHT CAST ON FALL OF PEKIN

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—From Gen. Chaffee yesterday the war department received official confirmation of the fall of Pekin and the rescue of the besieged legationers.

The cablegram from Admiral Remey contains some important information not mentioned by General Chaffee. He makes the startling statement on Japanese authority, that the inner city of Pekin was being bombarded by the allied forces. Admiral Remey says, also, that the Dowager Empress is detained in the inner city by Prince Yungedo.

Advices received late last night from the foreign office at Tokio, Japan, by the Japanese legation in this city, confirm and amplify previous accounts of the capture of Pekin by the allied troops.

The fact that only the Fourteenth infantry and Riley's battery entered the city, as shown by Gen. Chaffee's despatch does not indicate that the Ninth infantry and the marines, who were so conspicuously gallant throughout the advance upon the capital, did not participate in the engagement which resulted directly in the rescue of the besieged legationers. It is pointed out as likely that Gen. Chaffee, acting in consonance with the other commanders, divided his force, leaving the Ninth infantry and the marines without the walls of the city to act as a rear guard, to prevent the escape of Chinese troops by other gates than these through which the allies entered or for some other excellent reason. Only two battalions of the Fourteenth regiment are with Gen. Chaffee. They comprise about 500 men. This would indicate that only about one-third of Gen. Chaffee's force actually had entered the city at the time he sent his despatch. The fact that only eight of the Americans were wounded, none being killed, is regarded as notably fortunate.

The startling feature of the despatch is that fighting within the city of Pekin was continuing, according to the advices of Admiral Remey. The inner, or as it is popularly known, the forbidden city, evidently had not been taking. It is surrounded by a massive wall of solid masonry, more than 20 feet high and it is not regarded as surprising that the Chinese should make their final stand within its shadows. Prior to the receipt of the despatch, it was accepted generally as a fact that the Dowager Empress, in company with the emperor and a large suite had left Pekin, while nothing is said in Admiral Remey's advices as to the whereabouts of the Emperor, it is deemed scarcely probable that he left the city without the Empress Dowager.

Pekin comprises practically four cities in one. In extent of area it is about the size of New York city. The four segments of it are the Chinese city, the Tartar city, the imperial city and the forbidden city. The last is the "inner city" mentioned in Admiral Remey's despatch and is the residence of the emperor and the seat of the imperial court. No body is allowed within its massive walls except by special permission of the emperor or empress dowager. The foreigners who have entered its gates are comparatively few in number. The imperial city is occupied only by the highest Chinese officials and members and attaches of the imperial court. Further information as to the reported bombardment will be awaited with keen interest.

"The foreign forces attacked on the eastern side of Pekin Wednesday morning. The enemy obstinately resisted. In the evening the Japanese blew up the Chien Yung gate and the Tung Chih gate of the Tartar city and succeeded in entering. In the meantime other foreign forces entered the Chinese city by the Tung Pien gate. Detachments were sent immediately to the Legations and opened communications. The soldiers and sailors were found safe. The Japanese loss was over one hundred, including the officers, namely: Captain Morimoto and Lieut. Watanabe wounded, while Lieut. Yasaki was killed. The Chinese loss computed at about 400."

FATHER'S CRIME

Killed His Wife and Three Children

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ARLINGTON, Minn. Aug. 20.—Theodore Wallert, a farmer living three miles from town, last night killed his wife, a boy of 12 years, a girl of 10 and a baby. He then set fire to his barn, destroying the stable with nine horses, a corn crib and a full hay barn. Mrs. Wallert had been trying to secure a divorce, the couple having separated. Wallert entered the house through a window and slaughtered the family with the exception of one child, a boy, who was wounded, however, and probably will die. Wallert fled.

FOUL SEWAGE

Of Concord River to be Abated

The officials of the Lowell Rendering company have given assurance that the nuisance complained of by the people living around the Concord river near where the sewage of the company's works enters the stream, will be abated.

Complaint was made to the state board of health last week, but it was found that the board did not have jurisdiction over the river, and the petitioners were advised to make a formal complaint to the board of health of Dillerica.

A meeting of the petitioners living just over the Lowell line in Upper Gorham street was held on Saturday night, and a representative of the company was present to state that experts from Boston had been looking into the matter at the company's request and that it was hoped that the odor would soon be done away with. Since that is all the petitioners seek, they expressed their willingness to give the company an opportunity to make good its offer.

EMPRESS WITH 30,000 TROOPS PURSUED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Japanese cavalry has left Pekin in pursuit of the Dowager Empress and her court, according to despatches from the north received at Shanghai by Chinese officials. These despatches add that the Empress and her retinue, protected by 30,000 troops, have already arrived at Wu Tai Shan, in Shan Si province.

The rebel leader north of Yang Tsun is interrupted and nothing more in Pekin date appears to have reached Yang Tsun since August 17. Heavy rains have been falling in the province of Pechi Li.

The landing of the British troops at Shanghai is not causing excitement among the natives. A detachment of one hundred French marines landed there today.

A Russian cruiser is reported to have gone to Tientsin to take away the foreigners located from Pekin.

Many influential Chinese have interested themselves in the fate of a Chinaman sentenced by an English court at Hong Kong to six months' imprisonment at hard labor because he was a member of the Triad.

It is more direct and complete in detail than the American advices received thus far.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PRETORIA, Aug. 20.—Gen. DeWet appeared yesterday at Nooah commando Nek, held by Gen. Baden-Powell, and sent in a flag of truce asking the surrender of the British force. Gen. Baden-Powell replied asking what terms DeWet was prepared to offer. DeWet is evidently moving eastward.

GEN. DEWET MARCHED NORTHWARD

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 20.—General DeWet's demand for the surrender of the British force at Commando Nek is considered as a pretence for the purpose of gaining information. Finding that Commando Nek was strongly garrisoned, DeWet resumed his march northward, shadowed by General Baden-Powell.

GEN. ROBERTS ISSUE PROCLAMATION

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PRETORIA, Aug. 20.—Lord Roberts' proclamation, after telling the fact that many have broken the oath to maintain neutrality and that the mercy extended to the burghers is not appreciated, warns all who break their oaths in the future that they will be punished by death, imprisonment or fine. He declares that all burghers in districts occupied by the British, except those who take the oath, will be regarded as prisoners of war and transported, and that buildings on farms where the enemy or his scouts are harbored will be liable to be razed.

SMITH OBSEQUIES

Largely Attended Today at St. Michael's Church

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Bridget Smith was laid to rest this forenoon in the Catholic cemetery. The remains were conveyed from the residence, 11 Fulton street to St. Michael's church. As the large funeral cortege entered the edifice Miss Carolyn White, organist, performed in measured tones Batiste's funeral march. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Richard Holland; Rev. Fr. Fidelis of St. Anselm's college, Manchester, N. H., deacon; Rev. Eugene A. Carney, sub-deacon. The choir rendered the Gregorian chant and at the offertory Mr. Thomas P. Boulger sang the hymn, "Pie Jesu," by Leybach. At the conclusion of mass, Mrs. Mabel Ware Murphy rendered with great expression and feeling the hymn, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." As the funeral procession was passing from the church the choir sang the De Profundis psalm for the dead. Among the floral tributes was a large pillow inscribed: "Mother," the last love offering of the sorrow stricken children. There was also cycas palms and purple asters, with purple ribbon, from the Gosselin family. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Rogers and the pall bearers were Messrs. Charles Cuthbert, John Plunkett, Hugh Doran and James McMahon. The deceased had been a resident of Centralville for over a half century and was well known to the pioneer Irish settlers of Lowell, she was a devout Catholic and was highly respected in the community where she so long resided. The sympathy of a legion of friends in and out of Lowell go forth to the bereaved children who mourn well-a-day:

"We miss thee from our home, mother;
We miss thee from thy place.
A shadow o'er our life is cast.
We miss the sunshine of thy face
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care;
Our home is dark without thee.
We miss thee everywhere."

The precaution awakened several rural boarders who removed the dangerous obstruction.

ETTA WARREN HELD

Her Bail Was Fixed at Three Hundred Dollars

She Will be Arraigned in Court Tomorrow Morning — Man Fined $50 for Illegally Keeping Liquor

Etta H. Warren, mother of the child abandoned at the home of John H. Stackpole last Wednesday night and who was arrested by Inspector Allen in Nashua, Saturday night, had a private hearing prior to the opening of the police court session this morning. She was taken to Judge Hadley's private office and was represented by D. J. Donahue, Esq. She was held in $300 till tomorrow, at which time her sister will also be arraigned. She did not like the idea of being closeted in a cell. She rides a wheel and apparently was as solicitous about her wheel as anything else. She acknowledges she is the mother of the child and also says she abandoned it. She feels that she did nothing wrong and holds herself entirely blameless of intending to wrong or injure the baby.

She is a very pretty woman, 22 years of age, and was neatly dressed. She expects to get bail. The father of the child has been telegraphed for and it is hoped he will be on hand tomorrow. The woman is confident that a request from her will bring Woods to Lowell. He is 20 years of age and it is said he has several times proposed marriage, but she refused. It is understood that she has no serious objection to marrying him, but thinks he is too young to assume the responsibilities of married life.

DRUNKS FINED.

The following Sunday drunks were fined $5 each: Eugene Wettraner, Patrick J. Duffy.

George Chase was stupidly drunk in Dracut last night. He was so drunk that as the saying goes, "he had not a leg under him," and was practically helpless. He stumbled along the roadway and fell across the electric road tracks and proceeded to enjoy peaceful slumber. Electric cars did not disturb him in the least and had he been allowed to remain on the tracks much longer he would have been run over. People who saw him got Officer George F. Corson and asked him to arrest the man. Chase was placed in a wagon and taken to the police station. During the journey he never woke up. In court this morning he was fined $5.

FINED $50.

Inspector Goodwin, Officers Allkinson and Brezault visited the house of Michael Trudel, rear of 51 Tucker street, yesterday and found six men drinking there. They seized a keg of beer and arrested Trudel. In court he pleaded guilty and was fined $50.

The following first offenders were fined $2 each: William F. Warren, John J. Jasmon, Charles J. Myett, Alfred Prevost, Walter Hall.

Patrick J. Duffy, a second offender was fined $5. Six other drunks were released.

Patrick J. Fay was fined $10 for assault on Mrs. McIntire and the charge of drunkenness against him was placed on file. Mrs. McIntire said that the defendant went to her house and wanted to hold her husband. She interfered and ordered him away. Then Fay pushed and struck her. She said he was drunk Fay claimed that he remembered nothing of an assault on the woman.

Mary E. Carr was in last November and paid a fine of $5. Today she was sent to jail for twenty days.

Mary Chase was released last time she appeared in court for drunkenness. On this occasion she got a sentence of twenty days in the work house.

LALLY FINED $20.

The continued case of Frank J. Lally was called. Lally was charged with the larceny of jewelry from Arthur H. Wilson. The only witness called was Inspector Allen who made the arrest and after hearing his testimony, Judge Hadley imposed a fine of $20.

SMOOTH PAVING

To be Delayed for Another Week

Work is at a stand still on the smooth paving job in Market street and it will probably be a week before it is resumed. The rainfall takes a hold through the cement that has been already laid to such a degree that the men covering cannot be seen at all and the under layer is perfectly dry.

Harry Doherty, who has charge of the work, stated to a Sun reporter that the contract may be shifted toward the latter part of the week and that the men will then start on the big grading.

The only work that Judge Gage is to do is on the conduits of the Lowell Electric Light company and the Western Union company.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE

EARLY THIS MORNING IN AUBURN STREET.

A still alarm at 2:30 o'clock this morning summoned Hose 7 of Central street to a small fire in the 2 story tenement house of Adam Stock, 56 Auburn street. The fire started in the kitchen and burned the side of the wall and part of the ceiling. It is a mystery to the firemen and occupants of tenement how the fire started. The people who reside in the house were awakened by the crackling sound of the fire and they immediately notified the proper authorities.

The damage will not amount to over $25. The building was owned by H. B. Hill.

FIRES BEING INVESTIGATED.

Fire Marshal's Assistant Scott was in town this morning. He went to Pawtucket to investigate some of the recent fires in that town.

EXCURSION PARTY

TO OLD ORCHARD HAD A SPECIAL TRAIN.

Agent Taft of the Boston & Maine R. R. takes exception to the statement of Mr. Brooks, that no special train was furnished for the excursion party to Old Orchard on Thursday. The party was not nearly as large as it would have been had the weather been favorable, but nevertheless a special train was furnished and made excellent time on the trip to and from the beach.

Notwithstanding the rain those who took in the excursion were delighted with their day's outing. The company ran the excursion just as advertised.

MINING WAR

IN PROGRESS AT CANAEA, SONORA.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 18.—A message has been received here telling of another mining war in Canaea, Sonora. Several years ago a man named Lindsay located a mine group known as the Lindsay claims. About the same time a man named Greene was engaged in locating claims in the same vicinity and disputes as to the boundaries which have never been settled, arose. Sometime ago Lindsay disposed of his claims to an Indiana syndicate including Senator Fairbanks and Mayor Taggart of Indianapolis. Greene's adverse claim was known to the syndicate and a representative was sent to the City of Mexico in the interest of the purchasers. At the same time Greene took possession but the syndicate secured a court order putting Lindsay in possession. The Judge of the court accompanied Lindsay to Canaea but an armed force, directed by Greene, prevented the execution of the order. A report of the affair was sent to Armosillo and 80 armed men left there Wednesday to assist in carrying out the orders of the court.

BOXING GOSSIP

In a circular sent out by the committee in charge of the testimonial to John L. Sullivan, it is said:

As a fitting tribute to the honesty, integrity and ability of the man who raised boxing from obscurity and elevated it to the highest plane of athletics, the sport-loving public of America has decided to give John L. Sullivan a grand testimonial in Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening, Aug. 29, the night prior to the battle between Corbett and McCoy. It is hoped that the followers of boxing and sport in general will contribute generously, so that in his old age the King of pugilists can rest in peace and contentment.

The gentlemen who are to engineer this movement do not intend to hand the proceeds to Mr. Sullivan to dispose of as he sees fit; on the contrary, a committee of responsible business men will be appointed to handle the funds and place them in trust for the ex-champion, so that the money will be drawing interest. Not a penny can be drawn by the recipient of the testimonial until the committee is satisfied that the money is really needed and then the amount will be named.

When Tom Sayers, the champion of England retired from the ring, by general subscription an amount so large that he lived off the interest, was raised. Between Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Sayers there was no comparison. One was an ordinary pugilist, and the other a world-beater, and the father of the modern style or new school of fighting.

Mr. Sullivan endeared himself to every admirer of clean and honest sport, and it behooves those admirers now to show their appreciation, not alone for Mr. Sullivan's benefit, but as an incentive to honesty for those who are to follow.

As Lawrence at the present time supports an athletic club which gives boxing as a feature of its meetings, it is suggested that Lawrence would be a good place for Patsey Haley and Billy Gardner to have their contemplated match. The pair would draw well from Boston and Lowell, particularly from Lowell, besides the home city and the Lawrence club bringing them there would undoubtedly realize a good thing in it.

George Gardner, a well posted authority, says, may have some difficulty in obtaining a match in England. The British Isles at the present time are overrun with American boxers seeking matches, while what few English boxers of note there are there are rather shy of Americans, for in nine cases out of 10 the American licks his English brother. There is some talk of Gardner going up against the French champion, but he would be foolish to do it, as he knows nothing about the French style, which permits the use of the feet as well as the hands. In the last fight won by the French champion, he put his man out with a back kick under the chin. You can search me to explain just how he did it, but that was the report. If Gardner went up against him the Bonhommie might give him a funny kick in the ear while he'd be swinging on him. The only man to tackle the Frenchman would be Joe Wolcott and you couldn't lick him with an axe.

POLICE BAFFLED

Mystery Surrounds Murder of New York Girl

HER HEAD CRUSHED WITH A HAMMER

Her Brother and Lover Under Arrest

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mystery surrounding the murder of pretty Kate Scharn at 471 2d Avenue has thus far baffled the skill of the detectives who are trying to find the assassin. Her brother and the young man to whom she was engaged to be married, are detained, pending investigation.

Her brother Fred, returning home at 1 yesterday morning, found her lying on the floor of her bedroom, her skull crushed in by blows from a hammer. The hammer, which belonged in the flat, lay beside her body.

Ambulance Surgeon Train who was called in by the police, said the girl had been dead for more than two hours at least and probably for a longer period.

She lay face downward on the floor near her bed. She was little dressed.

What interested the detectives more than anything else, moved it was back back with a green curtain, was the lower portion of the face, which was found in front of the girl's body and the door leading into her bedroom.

The blows struck with such terrific force, were dealt with considerable force. There was one in the back of the head, near the base of the skull, which had driven the bone into the brain. From its position it looked as if it was the last blow struck.

Turning the body over a second indentation of the hammer was found in the left temple. It would seem as though this would have been sufficient to cause death. A third blow was delivered on the left jaw bone.

The entire left side of the face was a mass of bruises. It was impossible to tell how fast a fight the deceased had waged the deadly instrument.

A fact which puzzles the police is that though the Scharn apartment was surrounded on all sides by living people, not one of them heard the sound of any strife. No quarreling or loud voices were heard. These were persons in the apartment overhead all the evening who did not retire until an hour before midnight.

After hearing the brother's story, the police went in search of Lincoln Price, who, according to the police, was engaged to the girl. They found him at his home. In his pocket was a letter written by Miss Scharn, making an engagement to meet him at the elevated station at 104th street and 3rd avenue at 7:30 Saturday night.

Price said he had gone to the appointed place to meet Miss Scharn and that she had failed to appear. He said he waited for fifteen or twenty minutes then went away. They had intended to visit Miss Kuhn.

He was held on suspicion.

So deep did the mystery become in the afternoon that more than a score of policemen in the precinct and eight detectives were employed to unravel the mystery.

The case is looked upon as the most important that has engaged the attention of the police since the Kronman murder, which it resembles in many details. It was only about two blocks from the Scharn apartments that the murder of Mamie Cunningham occurred.

Home Guaranty Insurance Co. Troubles

ARE NOT ALL OVER AS YET

Stockholders to Bring the Matter in Court

The Commercial Bulletin publishes the following regarding the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company of this city:

Trouble is brewing over the affairs of the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company, which in February, 1899, reinsured its outstanding risks in the New Hampshire Fire.

The Home was organized in 1895 as a mutual fire company with a guaranty capital of $50,000. It was unfortunate in business, and its first report to the insurance department showed a credit balance of but $2690. The following year the company showed an impairment which finally led to reinsurance.

The stockholders, having dropped $40,000 of their money in this little dalliance with the fire business, cast about for a way in which to recoup themselves, and struck upon the novel idea of assessing the policyholders a sufficient amount to make good the leanness in the treasury.

Accordingly the directors levied an assessment of 80 per cent. of the premiums, and their attorney is about to bring suit for its collection. This result is a stormy protest from the policy holders, who were greatly surprised that a company with a guaranty capital could make an assessment while any of the capital remained.

The law which permits the stockholders to make good impaired capital in this manner also provides in Section 49 that any person interested in the company as an officer, policyholder or creditor, may apply to the supreme judicial court to examine the assessment, the necessity therefor, and to ratify, amend or annul.

Policy holders who expect to be sued for the amount of this assessment have determined to do a little fighting on their own account. To this end they have combined forces and are about to apply to the court for an examination according to the law above quoted.

This will be the first time such a case has come up in this state. The Commonwealth Fire assessment was not complicated with any guaranty capital.

In a discussion of the Home's case Insurance Commissioner Curtiss says in this year's report: "It seems proper that this provision which gives the directors of a guaranty capital company authority to levy upon the policy holders to make good impairment of capital, should be stricken from the law, and capital, whether stock, or guaranty, be made to perform its proper function of standing between the policyholder and loss. If it is to have the profits of the business it should share the risk."

THE NEW WOMAN

Cardinal Gibbons Speaks on Rights and Duties

HE QUOTES FROM THE SCRIPTURES

To Indicate Her Place in the World

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—In a vigorous and eloquent sermon Cardinal Gibbons, preaching to a large and fashionable congregation of summer residents at Southampton, L. I., yesterday morning, referred pointedly to the "new woman" and the shortcomings of women of the social set.

The cardinal, by inference rather than by set words, gave his auditors to understand that he had no sympathy with the woman advocates of woman's rights.

"The Holy Spirit in the Old Testament," he said, "pays a beautiful and well-merited tribute to woman and to woman's position in society. 'Who shall find a valiant woman?' say the scriptures, indicating that woman should be found attending to her domestic duties rather than mingling in the strife of the world.

"What is it the Holy Spirit commands in woman?

"Does he admire her because of her social triumphs, because she is a brilliant leader in society?

"Does he commend her because she is an advocate of certain so-called female privileges?

"Does he commend her because she goes about from place to place, ascending here a rostrum and there a rostrum and advocating the rights and privileges of women?

"Not at all. The Holy Spirit does aver that she is simply a loving wife, and affectionate mother, a benevolent mistress to the members of her household; as the guardian of the domestic arrangements she is ever faithful, she looks well to the requirements of her household and she does not eat her bread in idleness. She attends to the little things of this life and she does them well."

When the fact is taken into consideration that Southampton is a summer resort for the ultra fashionable set, it can be readily understood that the cardinal's pointed references to the follies of society women were received with seriousness and attention. Little else was discussed in fashionable circles in Southampton yesterday.

The announcement that Cardinal Gibbons would preach at high mass in the church of the Sacred Heart at 10 a. m. had the effect of drawing an enormous congregation to the beautiful little church. Many persons prominent in society attended who are members of other religious bodies.

LOWELL MILLS

ATHERTON WILL PAY PREFERRED CREDITORS 100 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.

The Appleton Company, Lowell, is running its plant on full time and finds a ready market for its goods. This plant will not shut down this summer.

The Lowell Machine Shop, Lowell, has 2,000 men on its pay roll working full time in all of the shops and in some departments extra.

Treasurer Wood of the American Woolen company, who has been criticised lately for maintaining prices which are considered low, everything considered, for the balance of the year, states that the sales of the American Woolen company on light weight goods are progressing satisfactorily as compared with the presidential year four years ago. The condition of the mills for orders is certainly 50 per cent better and the prospects are that all of the mills, with one or two exceptions, will receive their full complement of orders. The policy adopted by the company of naming very low prices and guaranteeing the same for the remainder of this year, has proven a sound one, as the above results will show.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

TEXTILE COUNCIL

Held a Grand Picnic and Field Day

The Lowell Textile council held its first grand picnic and field day at Belle Grove Saturday afternoon and it was a success socially and financially. Three special cars ran every half hour to the grove and they were all crowded to their utmost capacity. The grove covers quite an area of ground, but it was not any too large for the large gathering.

The various facilities for amusement were freely utilized and the dance hall was crowded.

The feature of the afternoon was the sports and a good number contested in them. They resulted as follows:

100 yards dash for members, won by Lockewick, Seymour second; Steve Lace, won by Luke Gillin, John Devine second; standing broad jump, won by Clark, 9 feet, 10 inches, Fichek second; 100 yards dash, open to all, won by Gauthier, Shattuck second; hop, step and jump, won by Gauthier, 37 feet, Mahoney second. The tug of war, between the Lancashires and Cotton Weavers was a well contested pull and won by two heats. The Lancashires captured both heats, the first by about 20 inches and the second one by four inches. Suitable prizes were given to the winners.

In the evening, the dance hall was the scene of a most delightful affair. Hibbard's orchestra in attendance, showing was enjoyed till late, when the number of specials cars took the happy party back to Lowell.

The picnic was in every respect a success.

The others were as follows: General manager, D. J. Morrow; assistant, J. V. Collins, floor director, M. Cleary; assistant, Robert Conroy; chief of police, Thomas O'Hearn; secretary, Charles F. Gonyea Jr. The judges in the sports were: private, Joseph F. Conway; starter, John J. Mahoney; clerk, John Barrett.

SIMPLE SERVICE

FUNERAL OF EX-SENATOR INGALLS HELD YESTERDAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ATCHISON, Kas., Aug. 20.—Funeral services over the body of Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls were held yesterday afternoon at Trinity Episcopal church and subsequently interment was made in the family vault in Mount Vernon cemetery. Owing to the request of the family for privacy there was no great throng at the services.

The services were very simple. Chopin's funeral march was played as the casket was borne into the church. The Episcopal service was read and a vested choir of men and boys sang.

Ex-Senator W. A. Peffer, who succeeded Mr. Ingalls, Judge W. A. Johnston of the supreme court, and A. A. Godbold, attorney-general, were among those who attended the services in the church.

Judge A. G. Otis a close business and personal associate of Mr. Ingalls, estimates the ex-senator's fortune at $250,000.

THE S. C. W.

HELD A RUN TO WALTHAM YESTERDAY.

Yesterday morning opened fair and bright and the members of the Spindle City Wheelmen were on hand early. Of course the racers were not anxiously interested in the run, for theirs is a different sphere. The members to the number number of 40 or thereabouts were at the rooms of the club shortly before 7 o'clock and the start was made a few minutes after this hour. The destination of the run was the city of Waltham.

The following officers were in command of the party: Captain, H. H. Parr; first lieutenant, J. E. Gove; second lieutenant, E. A. Lyndes; third lieutenant, T. Brown; color bearer, W. A. Scott. The mascot was the same old Wasselin who has officiated in a like capacity several times. The run was a great success, as most of those who had the good fortune to participate therein. The riders returned to Lowell shortly after 6 o'clock, tired, but still joyful.

Bread dyspepsia is common. It affects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper. Up under the shell of the wheat berry, Nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the pancreatic juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape sugar, which is the next form but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so Nature's valuable digestion is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that Nature intended.

Small wonder that appendicitis, peritonitis, constipation and all sorts of trouble exist, when we go so contrary to Nature's law. The food experts that perfected Grape-Nuts Food, knowing these facts, made use, in their experiments, of the entire wheat barley, including all the parts and subjected them to moisture, and long continued warmth, which allows time and the proper conditions for developing the diastase, outside of the human body.

In this way the starchy part is transformed into grape sugar in a perfectly natural manner, without the use of chemicals or any outside ingredients. The little sparkling crystals of grape sugar can be seen on the pieces of Grape-Nuts. This food, therefore, is naturally predigested and its use in place of bread will quickly correct the troubles that have been brought about by the too free use of starch in the food, and that is very common in the human race today.

The effect of eating Grape-Nuts ten days or two weeks, and the discontinuance of ordinary white bread, is very marked. The user will gain rapidly in strength and physical and mental health.

CITY MARSHAL JAMES T. O'SULLIVAN OF LAWRENCE.

ONE OF THE FINEST

City Marshal J. O'Sullivan of Lawrence

NOW WEAVING A CHAIN OF EVIDENCE

Against the Cold Spring Brewery Burglars

The Sun today presents the portrait of the popular and efficient city marshal of Lawrence, James T. O'Sullivan. His popularity as "one of the finest" is not confined to Lawrence for the old bay state, for to the wild and wooly west and in Canada, where he did excellent service as a representative of the famous Wood's detective agency. He has also figured in many important arrests in Lawrence, notably in 1884, when the notorious Johnny Dobbs gangs visited the "Spicket" city. This desperate gang was run down by Marshal O'Sullivan after a fierce battle and the exchange of several pistol shots. Some of the gang died within prison walls. This capture was conceded to be one of the best in criminal annals and Marshal O'Sullivan received flattering newspaper notices from the press throughout the country for his clever and bravery. Another case of recent occurrence which again brought Marshal O'Sullivan into prominence was that of the night of July 2, the present year. It will be remembered that the Cold Spring brewery of Lawrence was visited by five desperate fellows, wearing masks and fully armed. They overpowered and severely bound the engineer and night watchman, and leisurely proceeded to ransack the premises, blowing the safe to atoms and securing a large sum of money. The Cold Spring burglars made good their escape, but, when, a few days later, five desperate characters were placed at Dover, N. H., for murder, it occurred to Marshal O'Sullivan and Inspector Sheehan that the five men under arrest in the Granite state might be those who visited the Cold Spring brewery.

After investigation, a chain of evidence was wound around the burglars, not only to connect them with the crime of the Cold Spring brewery but with the South Berwick, Me., bank robbery. Two of the five bad men after their incarceration in Dover have been identified as having broken jail at Shrewsbury, Mass. Alias Clyde, alias Saunders, Jack Brooks, alias John Wildmire, alias Howard Brooks, charged with the murder of John McNaldy and robbers of Dover, N. H., the night of July 4, has been further identified as the man who purchased of Walter Gage, a hardware clerk, a coil of copper wire the day previous to the South Berwick break.

The wire purchased was the same as was used in binding Frank Nason of that town, who happened along the street in the vicinity of the bank a short time before the break. The same kind of wire was also used in binding the engineer and watchman at the Cold Spring brewery, the night of July 2.

THE LABOR UNIONS

Favor Municipal Plant for Smooth Paving

THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR LABOR DAY

Positions in Line and the Prizes Offered

The Trades and Labor council held a long and interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, and considerable business of importance was transacted. The drawing for position in line was held and resulted as follows:

First division will be made up from delegates from the various unions:

Second division—Carders and Pickers, 1; Loomfixers, 2; Cotton Weavers, 3; Woolen Spinners, 4; Mule Spinners, 5; Pilot Workers, 6; Knitters, 7; Brussels Weavers, 8.

Third division — Boilermakers, 1; Painters, 2; Pinsetters, 3; Stereotypers, 4; Steam and Gasfitters, 5; Carpenters, 6; Plasterers, 7; Electrical Workers, 8, from Members, 9; Lathers, 10; Building Laborers, 11.

Fourth division—Leather Shavers, 1; Barbenders 2; International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, 3; Typographical, 4; Printing Pressmen, 5; Leather Workers, 6; Horseshoers, 7.

The organizing committee reported that they had organized the block pavers and a committee was appointed to help the new union along. Several communications were read and received proper attention.

A memorial to the mayor and aldermen of the city government was adopted, reading with an extract from the constitution and by-laws of the Trades and Labor council:

"All municipal work to be performed directly by the municipality without the intervention of contractors."

The memorial says in closing: "The position of union Labor and labor organizations of all kinds is the public ownership of public utilities, and

Our city government is at present considering a proposition to borrow money for the purpose of permanently paving certain of our public streets, and

We feel that the work of paving our streets is one which should be performed by our municipality. Therefore,

The Trades and Labor council of the city of Lowell concludes that the time is very opportune for the establishment, by our city, of a plant for the smooth paving of our public streets; and we request our honorable mayor and city government to take steps to accomplish the above object.

We think that if the question, "Shall the city of Lowell establish, own and operate a plant for the purpose of the smooth paving of our streets," be submitted to the voters to pass judgment on at the polls next December, they would vote practically unanimously in favor of the prospect, and we here ask for limited labor that such a course be pursued.

LABOR DAY COMMITTEE.

Immediately after the regular meeting the Labor Day committee met and transacted considerable business. It was voted to give $10 to the union turning out the best float, and $5 for the second, providing three or more turn out.

The union turning out the largest number of men will receive $15 and the second largest $10.

All entries to be made to Thomas F. Connolly not later than Saturday, Sept. 1, at 212 Merrimack street, or 198 Worthen street.

A SERIOUS FIRE

At the Tremont and Suffolk Mills

What might have proven a very serious fire started in the woolen department of the Tremont and Suffolk mills Saturday morning. The fire started in a picker and was carried up stairs to the upper rooms through a blow pipe.

There was no city alarm given on account of the clever work of the mill department, which very shortly after the fire started had several streams of water playing on the blaze.

The damage by water was considerable and for a while it looked as if that portion of the mill was doomed. The fire, however, was confined to the picker house. The loss will probably exceed $10,000.

POWER'S STORY

Says His Trial Was a Judicial Farce

HE HAS NO APOLOGY TO MAKE

Says History of State Was Blackened

By Associated Press to The Sun.

To the public: I am asked my opinion concerning my trial and the verdict of the jury. Could I have but one opinion? Can any fair-minded man or woman of this state have but one? That one of the greatest judicial farces known to history has been enacted here in my trial under the forms of law no well-informed man can doubt. Innocence is no shield with one hundred thousand dollars and the methods of Campbellism against you. The rectitude of one's past life counts for naught. They say Taylor is guilty because he was in his office and that I am guilty because I was away from mine. This has been a political trial throughout for political purposes, and no greater mistake has been made by the democratic party since they robbed us of the offices to which we were fairly elected by the people. There are good men and noble women in the democratic party and many of them. They are not all bad. Far from it; a great many of them do not endorse the theft of the state offices. A great many more will not endorse this mockery of a trial this prostitution of the courts of justice for certain ends. From the beginning of the campaign until now I have stood with what little of merit I have had for the rights and liberties of the people. That is my crime. That is the only offense I have committed. That is the only thing proven against me. I swore to that myself in my testimony. I have never had, and I now have no apology to take for being true to the trust imposed upon me by a majority of the voters of this state. History will draw its dark lines around those who have outraged me and disgraced the judiciary and blackened the history of the state.

I am very respectfully,

PAVERS AND RAMMERS

TO FORM A PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

Yesterday morning the Pavers and Rammers met under the auspices of the committee of organization of the Trades and Labor Council at Building Laborers' hall and formed a temporary organization. There were more than 15 of this craft present and they all signed the roll.

The matter of the Market street paving job was discussed and finally referred to the Trades and Labor Council asking them to appoint a committee to confer with the managers of the Merrimack Valley Paving Company about some work which is being done.

It leads all the other papers in Lowell in circulation.

What is more, it leads any two of them in circulation.

In fact the circulation of The Sun is almost as large as the combined circulation of all the other papers in Lowell put together.

This has been proven by expert examination of the books of all the local papers.

BRYAN'S ELECTION ASSURED.

The indications are multiplying that there will be a landslide at the next national election, a landslide that will bury McKinley and his hoodlers, Mark Hanna and the illegal trusts.

The gold democrats who opposed Bryan in 1896 are now out for him, because of the imperial issue and the anti-imperialist ticket will receive the support of a large contingent of the republicans who supported McKinley in 1896. In 1896 the gold democrats had a ticket of their own in the field, a matter which gave great comfort to the republicans. This year the defection is on the republican side on account of imperialism and it is fully as strong as was that of the gold democrats on the opposite side four years ago. Besides, the sentiment in Bryan's favor has grown immensely within the past four years, and more particularly within the past four months. Nothing has drawn the people so much to Bryan as his firmness in standing for the ratio of 16 to 1. It is not fashionable now, but Bryan knows that it is the natural ratio between the two metals, and that was why he stood by his conviction of right and told Senator Jones that if the democrats wished to drop 16 to 1 they could find another candidate.

That proved that Bryan is a man who cannot be coerced into doing what he believes to be wrong. He cannot be driven from the position he has taken for the preservation of American liberty and American principles. The republicans are determined to meet him and, if possible, defeat him in his own state, but the contrast between their campaign shouters and the calm, cool logical orator and statesman that Bryan is, will bring him victory and bury the republicans in righteous defeat. That will be the result in Nebraska; it will be the same in New York, and ex-President Harrison says Bryan will carry Indiana, while his chances of carrying Illinois are also excellent. Hence, Bryan's election is assured and the republicans realize the fact, but are unwilling to acknowledge it. In order to assist democrats in reckoning Bryan's majority, the electoral vote for president in 1896 is given below:

UNION AND NON-UNION THEATRE

"A new theatre is being constructed in Utica, the labor upon which is being done by non-union men. As a means of showing their resentment, the union workingmen of the city have decided to build a playhouse of their own, local capitalists agreeing to back the enterprise. Of the details of the scheme when it comes to running the theatre we are not informed; but there opens the possibility of an interesting attraction. Will the companies which play at the non-union theatre be boycotted, whatever their merit and attractiveness, and will those which appear at the union house be patronized, regardless of their lay-ness, so to speak? More than that, will there be an attempt to enforce a sympathetic and systematic boycott all over the country in the interest of the unions, upon all troupes and divertisements which appear in Utica's non-union theatre?

SPANISH REVIVAL.

So far from being ruined by the loss of her colonies, Spain has been strengthened thereby and is now starting upon an era of prosperity that would be impossible if she had to maintain a war against rebellious colonists. Speaking of this subject, the Boston Transcript sums up the situation as follows:

"For years the Iberian empire was drained of her young men and had to pay $60,000,000 annually to retain her colonies. The strain upon her home resources was so great that the people were taxed to death. Now, according to a Spanish financial journal, Spain is progressing more rapidly than it has at any time within the last century. The government loan of $200,000,000 was oversubscribed three times. Industries which have been dormant for years are being revived, and electric traction is making its way into Spanish cities. Spain is still receiving a large share of the products of what were once her colonies, and is taking delivery of machinery from the United States."

Asphaltina was an inferior imitation of the real asphalt for smooth paving purposes. All this was shown to Mayor Crowley at the time of the asphaltina deal and he was urged to veto the resolution which shut out all competition. He was urged to open the bids to legitimate smooth pavers, who put down the real article and not an imitation, but the influence of "Smooth Bob" was too much for him, and as a result he stood by Bob just a little too long, and now there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Bob did not get the $4.00 he expected for his influence in defeating the award and terms of the contract. His Honor finds when too late, that the people are looking into the smooth paving deals.

Senator Hoar blames Bryan for the insurrection in the Philippines; it is but a short time since the republicans blamed Hoar for the war in the Philippines and Edward Atkinson was also implicated. These gentlemen made speeches against the shooting of the Philippines, but it seems to us that the men who ordered the actual shooting are the men to hold responsible. The speeches of Hoar and the letters of Atkinson were not so deadly as to kill Filipinos on the other side of the globe.

The innate cowardice of the Chinese and their inability to meet any organized army of Europe is demonstrated in the capture of Pekin. The Celestial empire is now at the mercy of the powers and will eventually be brought to a realization of the crimes perpetrated upon foreigners during the last year and especially during the past two months.

Hon. Bourke Cockran is squaring himself in this campaign for what he did in 1896 for the republicans. Mark Hanna is endeavoring, even at this late day, to get a few anti-imperialists to put up a ticket in order to weaken the endorsement of Bryan by the other anti imperialists.

Mr. George T. Sheldon of the Chelmsford Foundry company has returned home from Glen Falls, N. Y., where he has been for the past few days, attending the horse races held there. Mr. Sheldon's famous horse, "Rose," R. Sheldon, took part in one of the mile races. It won second money. HEAVY BATTING

TED LEWIS IN GRAND FORM

And Received Fine Support From Fielders

To use the racing vernacular, the Cardinals proved a "dipe" for the Boston club Saturday afternoon. At the end of nine innings the men from Butler Hill had scored nine runs to St. Louis' 1. After two innings of play, the game was delayed 30 minutes on account of a terrific wind and rain storm. When that ceased play was resumed on a slippery field.

Though the Bostons took the lead before the game, they proved themselves just as clever players on a wet field as on a dry one. Ted Lewis of evangeline fame, was sent to the rubber by Manager Selee and from the first to the last inning, he pitched a good, steady game of ball, having the St. Louis play in at his mercy throughout. His career at bat was the feature of the game. The support he received was worthy of mention. Long, Hamilton and Duffy played magnificent ball and were in great way responsible for their team's victory.

Young was sent in to do the pitching for St. Louis, but the G. of M. only withstood the slaughter of the Bostonians two innings, when he was forced to retire in favor of Hughey, who did better work.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
St. Louis	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0

Earned runs, Boston 8. Two base hits, Selee 2, Collins, Bergen, Wallace, Three base hit, Collins. Double plays, Bergen and Long; Wallace, Collins and Long; Young and Yeager; Young, Yeager and McGann. First base on balls, off Young 1, off Hughey 1. Struck out, by Lewis 2, by Young 1, by Hughey 2. Wild pitch, Hughey. Time, 1.50. Umpire, Hurst. Attendance 2,000.

The other games resulted as follows:

Pittsburg 5, Philadelphia 4.
Cincinnati 2, Brooklyn 3.
New York 5, Chicago 2.

TEWKSBURY

The religious meeting on the common at Tewksbury yesterday afternoon was largely attended, there being an unusually large number present from Lowell. The meeting was in charge of Deacon Joshua Clarke who made brief opening remarks followed by a fervent prayer by Superintendent Knowlton of the public schools. A most instructive address was delivered by Mr. J. W. C. Pickering of the Pickering hostery, Lowell, who stated that it was the second occasion in his life that he appeared as a speaker at an open air meeting. He drew a picture from the workshops and factories, contrasting them with the great plan of God and exhorted his hearers to follow in the footsteps of the Master. He said that there was no one within the hearing of his voice even the greatest sinner—but who could gain salvation if he but sought it. At intervals during the meeting there was orchestral music and Miss Theresa Small presided at the organ. Miss Jeanette W. Pike rendered as a solo the hymn "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." A trio composed of Miss Stella P. Merrill, contralto, Miss Jeanette W. Pike, soprano, and Mr. H. M. Billings, tenor, sang "The Beautiful Golden Gate," and as a duet Miss Merrill and Miss Pike rendered the hymn "Saved by Grace." Devotional exercises will be held on the common next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Pickering High school will open on Tuesday, Sept. 4, and pupils intending to enter the coming term are requested to appear at the school on the forenoon of that day for examination. The other Tewksbury schools will open on Monday, Sept. 10.

Miss Alice Goodin of the Oakland district, a graduate of the Tewksbury High school, the Lowell Training and the State Normal schools has been appointed as teacher of the Wamesit school to succeed Miss Ida Hunter, who has resigned. Miss Goodin's appointment meets with universal approval and not only her Tewksbury, but her Lowell friends, are congratulating her assignment to the position of teacher.

Deacon Enoch Foster who has returned home from his sojourn at Saratoga, New Hampshire and Vermont, is still under the care of a physician, Dr. Randall of Lowell.

Miss Nellie Keating a graduate of the Tewksbury High school, and who taught school in Tyngsboro last term, has been assigned to the Kenwood school at Dracut.

Mr. A. C. Tinsley and family have returned from their protracted and enjoyable sojourn at Plum Island.

Miss Mary F. Eastman, the noted platform speaker of the Centre, has gone to Truro, Cape Cod, on her annual vacation.

Miss Lilla Carley visited friends in Centralville last evening.

Mr. E. B. Hutchins and friend, Mr. Tarr of Lowell, were in attendance at the religious meeting yesterday afternoon as were Messrs. Arthur Sundbury, Keegon Fallon, Hector O'Heir and John McLaughry.

Miss Marion Gregg of Fort Hill avenue, Lowell, visited at the residence of Mr. J. W. Fairgrieve Saturday evening. She was so well received that she expressed a hope on her departure for the Spindle City that she would be received with the same degree of cordiality on her next visit as was evinced on this occasion.

STREET CARS

ALL TO HAVE A NEW WINE COLORED DRESS.

It is reported that all or most all of the street cars are to be painted a sort of wine color, like those on some of the lines in Boston. Cars are being ventilated as fast as possible in accordance with recent legislation.

The power house and shed in Middlesex Village is stated to be the place of much of the repairing and remodelling for the whole Merrimack Valley system.

There was no one in authority at the street railroad office last night, when inquiry was made to verify the above reports.

There was a large traffic on the Boston and Lexington line Saturday afternoon. But some of the passengers experienced inconvenience in having to wait ten minutes or more on turnouts between here and Billerica, then having the long car come back to Lowell while they waited at Billerica for a car to come from Boston and return that way.

UNDERGOING MEDICAL TREATMENT.

Mrs. James K. Dakin of Gorham street is in Boston undergoing a course of medical treatment. She will also visit the shrine at the Mission church in Roxbury.

CHINESE WAR NEWS

FALL OF PEKIN HOW ACHIEVED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Previous information which has been received here showed that the allied armies took possession of Tung Chow on the 12th instant. From that city to Pekin the distance is not more than a dozen miles. It seems evident, therefore, that the armies halted for a time at Tung Chow, probably for the purpose of giving the men a rest and to prepare for the attack on the capital city in force, after waiting until the rear of the advancing hosts should arrive at the front. Possibly also, the delay was the result of negotiations inaugurated by the Chinese officials looking to the delivery of the ministers with a Chinese or other escort. If negotiations were attempted they must have failed, as the army continued on its march and attacked the capital three days after reaching Tung Chow.

"The officials here were aware of the fact that the stronghold of the Boxers was in the Chinese city and for the allies to attempt to force its way through it into the tartar city in which the legation compounds are located might mean a great loss of life and possibly a defeat. It was also known that many of the imperial troops which have sided with the Boxers were in or near the Chinese city, that much of the artillery and rifle fire which has been poured into the legations had been from the walls separating the two cities. These facts evidently were communicated to General Chaffee and the other commanding officers of the allies. Realizing these obstacles, it appears the allies decided to attack the city by the east gate. There are four entrances to the city on the east, two leading to the Chinese city and two to the tartar city. Just which of these was selected as the attacking point, Consul Fowler's despatch does not disclose.

"Contrary to the press reports of today Consul Fowler's despatch shows that the attack on the city met with strong resistance. The Japanese force engaged with the advance, according to the understanding of the officials here, numbered 13,000 men, so that the loss suffered by them was over one per cent.

"No mention is made of the losses of the forces of the other armies, but it is presumed that it was in proportion to that suffered by the Japanese.

"The president entertained a number of friends informally at dinner last night, among whom were several acquaintances from Canton. Later in the evening, as soon as he heard of the news, Secretary Root came in from the Country club and remained with the president for some time discussing the latest information which had come to hand.

CHINESE EMPRESS FLED WITH EMPEROR

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Shanghai despatches say that Emperor Kwang Su accompanied the empress dowager to Hsian Fu, much against his will. Prince Tuan, commanded the rear guard of the imperial escort, of which Boxers formed 65 per cent. It was expected that Gen. Tung Fuh Siang would follow after the arrival of the allies. All the palace treasures were sent to Hsian Fu. The Londons dy accounts of the entry into Pekin are contradictory, some maintaining that there was fighting and others that the entrance was not opposed.

New Chwang was again attacked on August 14, but the Russians repulsed 2000 Chinese, inflicting heavy loss, although they also suffered severely.

According to a despatch to the Daily Express from Chefoo, the dispatch from Conger was received by the U. S. cruiser Pueblo Wednesday, after saying that all the Americans were alive, except the Anglis baby and seven marines, admitted that there was some of those hurt and that he expected the four would last till relief came.

JAPANESE LOSS WAS 100 KILLED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

TOKIO, Aug. 17.—General Yamaguchi wires from Pekin under date of August 16 as follows:

"The allies attacked Pekin early yesterday, opening with artillery on the eastern side. The wall was obstinately held by the enemy. The Japanese and Russians were on the inward of the Tung Chow canal. The Americans and British were on the south side. At night the Japanese blew up the two eastern gates of the Tartar city and entered.

"In the meantime the Americans and British entered the Chinese city by the Tung Pien gates. Detachments of each force were sent towards the legations. The parties met near the legations and opened communication. All the ministers and their staffs were found safe. The Japanese loss was over 30 killed including three officers. The losses of the allies have not been ascertained. Four hundred Chinese were killed."

FIGHTING LASTED THREE DAYS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—While waiting details of the taking of Pekin the papers have scant comment on the superior official intelligence of the authorities at Washington, the St. James' Gazette says: "The relief of the legations may now be accepted without reservation."

The Westminster Gazette attributes the celerity of the American reports to the fact that the Americans are visiting field allies and have a staff officer specially for the express purpose of sending news.

"Port Arthur, Aug. 15. General Fock, with a force of all arms, entered the Chinese August 14 after three days' fighting. The Chinese loss was very heavy, amounting to one thousand men and four guns. Five hundred Chinese retreated with eight guns."

ENGLAND'S BANK

MAY RAISE RESERVE TO $25,000,000.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Statist in an article reviewing the money market, says:

"Besides the $2,500,000 in gold attracted to the Bank of England from America and 200,000 pounds from India, it has been brought a further 2,000,000 which will shortly arrive, and an inflow of 800,000 pounds from the United Kingdom is expected. Thus the Bank of England will secure over 4,000,000 pounds and may succeed in raising the reserve at the end of the week to $25,000,000.

LAWN PARTY

IN AID OF FR. GILDAY'S CHURCH, SOUTH LAWRENCE.

A large number of Lowell people were in attendance at the lawn party held yesterday afternoon and evening in South Lawrence in aid of St. Patrick's church of which Mr. John J. Gilday, formerly of this city, is pastor. No better day could have been chosen for such an event and the grounds were crowded with pleasure seekers.

The spacious lawn was illuminated with five large arc lights situated near the pretty booths, where was sold all kinds of refreshments and sweetmeats. Red, white and blue bunting hung from the light poles and suspended between them were the numerous Japanese lanterns which put the finishing touches to the pretty decorations and added much to their advantage.

The Lawrence brass band and the Columbian orchestra rendered music for the occasion. Dancing was the principal feature of both afternoon and evening.

At about 9 o'clock there was excellent pyrotechnic display in charge of Mr. Hoyle of Lowell.

HALF CRAZED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—John Young, an iron worker, out of employment, has been locked up by the police after a desperate attempt to drown his two-year-old baby girl and to cut his own throat.

Young, half crazed, with his struggle against poverty, took the child in his arms last evening to Pier 51, East River and threw her into the stream. The act was seen by some men nearby and one of them jumped in and rescued the little one as she was being carried down by the tide. Meanwhile the father was trying to get a razor out of his pocket to end himself when a bystander after a fierce struggle got the weapon away from him.

KILLED HIMSELF

THAT HIS WIFE MIGHT GET INSURANCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Charles A. Miedenz died by his own hand some time on Wednesday on the Prairie near Foster and Southport avenues, in order that his wife might receive the benefit of $2000 insurance which he carried in two German lodges. Mrs. Miedenz learned from the police last night that her husbands' body had been found. She has four boys, none of them 10 years old.

Mr. Miedenz conducted a wall paper and painting business and it was not prosperous. He left home on Tuesday morning.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Miedenz received a letter from her husband mailed from a suburb and written partly in German and partly in English, in which he said:

"It is the best you can do to let me go so everybody can see what they're coming. I feel sorry for my children. You will get enough of money from my lodges to put $1000 in the business and hold the balance for yourself and my dear children. It is hard to part, but I don't see any other way."

SWINDLING SCHEME

BOLD ATTEMPT TO GET $2500.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LEOMINSTER, Aug. 17.—The Leominster National bank received a cablegram yesterday from Paris, ostensibly from Alexander S. Paton, who is visiting the Paris exposition, asking that same be immediately forwarded to him. The bank became suspicious and communicated with R. W. Doyle, the local treasurer of the Paton Manufacturing company and he in turn cabled Mr. Paton in Paris, and this morning received the reply that no money had been sent for by Mr. Paton. Mr. Doyle left this morning for New York to consult authorities in regard to the matter, with the view of arresting the perpetrators of the scheme to swindle.

Americans Are Starting for This Country

Sen. Depew Examinedthe Electric Underground Railroad — He Talks on Development of Our Industries

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The tide of American travel is still strong towards London. Many residents of the other side of the Atlantic, having exhausted the Paris exposition, are congregating in England; and the hotels (applauded by Americans are filled this week as they have not been at either the opening of the season. Crowding is the delight of most of the Americans. Since Mr. Albert L. Johnson of Brooklyn, N. Y., drove his Anheuser coach the rigid London Dogs have been many candidates for similar honors. Among the delightful young coachmen is Charles De Young, a son of M. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle. Incidentally, San Francisco is always daintily represented in London. Aside from Mr. De Young's party, at a West End table, the other evening, were Mayor Phelan, Walter Martin and Peter Donahue of the Papal household, Mr. E. H. Butler, proprietor of the Buffalo News, another enthusiastic driver, has brought a coach as a birthday present to himself. There have been enough American electric railroad promoters at the Carlton this week to carry through any scheme for rapid transit in London which can be devised. Mr. T. L. Johnson of Brooklyn came from Paris Thursday and under the guise of an error Mr. W. L. Elkin and P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia (who have since gone to the continent), and Mr. Edwin Johnson, representing the Edison company. These gentlemen have been studying the General Underground railroad. Mr. Elkins informed a representative of The Associated Press that he and his associates in the line do definite plans for work in London, in spite of the fact that they have been in consultation with several of the city railroad owners.

STEAMERS CROWDED.

The catering steamers today are crowded. Senator Depew sails on the steamer New York. He spent the last days of his stay here in examining the new electric underground railroad. He has also been in consultation with British financiers who are specially interested in the stability of the United States to make loans to Europe. The senator said:

"The sudden development of our industries and the immense accumulation of money growing out of the fact that Europe is paying enormously annually for American products has not only brought the bank rate and call loans up once and two per cent respectively, but the western banks are now buying notes on the east because there is no demand for money. The fact that both the British war loan (all it had been permitted), was taken in the United States demonstrates these conditions which have already made New York one of the financial centers of the world. If the conditions continues, and I have no doubt they will, New York will soon be a dangerous rival of London in financing the government enterprises of the world. The rapid information we are receiving regarding the industrial conditions of the world, the necessity of finding a market for our increasing surplus of the Chinese problem tend to make New York an active competitor in the schemes for the development of the far east. It is a question of utility that the New York stock exchange will actively deal in many foreign stocks and bonds. The United States, with three thousand miles of ocean from Europe, and governmental complications, will never take a militant part in the rivalries, jealousies and wars of Europe. There are only two wars, make the United States every year stronger as a financial factor and will, I believe, make New York the financial center of the world. Up to two years ago, the European nobility took no interest in American diplomacy and finance. American war regarded as a nuisance in times of poor harvest on this side and a dumping ground for surplus population. Now, no cabinet in Europe makes a move without considering what is the position of the United States in the matter."

PARKER MURDER

Mystery Believed to Have Been Solved

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 18.—The Mirror will tonight publish what is believed to be a solution of what is known and has been known for many years throughout southern New Hampshire as the "Parker murder mystery."

Josiah L. Parker was tax collector of Minchester and in the spring of 1845 he was murdered, after being enticed from his home and $1,700 taken from his person. His throat was cut from ear to ear and he was otherwise wounded, as he had made a desperate struggle for his life. An open razor and a sheath knife found on a point, were found beside him. By struggle, judging from the track in the snow was with one person but there were evidently bodies trailing from a spot near the scene of the tragedy, indicating that the murderer was driven away by an accomplice. The community and the state were aroused, and Manchester offered a reward of $1,000 for evidence that would convict the murderer, and the state of New Hampshire duplicated the reward. Three Wentworth brothers, hotel keepers, having a house at Saco, Me., were arrested for the crime and their trial was one of the most memorable in the annals of the state court. Franklin Pierce, afterwards president of the United States and General Benjamin F. Butler, defended the prisoners and they were acquitted. Some years afterward, in April, 1871, a woman and two children were found murdered at Wilmington, Mass., and beside their dead bodies was found a shoe knife supposed to a point and an open razor. The fact that these weapons used were the same as both the Parker murder and the Wilmington murder, caused General Butler, who was retained as counsel by Daniel Pierson, charged with being the perpetrator of the Wilmington crime, to ask his client after he was convicted as to the murder in this city. Pierson admitted that he did it, and that he was accompanied by a man who drove him away in a carriage to Wilmington and that the man desired Parker killed out of revenge for his having refused to turn over to him a sum of money which he had passed with him in trust.

The Mirror's informant for this information is Nathaniel P. Ames of Medford, Mass., a man 65 years of age, who was a boy in Manchester at the time of the murder. Mr. Ames further says that 18 months after the murder Pierson came to Manchester, put up at his father's house on the Stark corporation and the next morning induced him to take him to the scene of "where they killed Parker." Mr. Ames says the man was jovial until he reached the scene and that his appearance then underwent a complete change until he was afraid of him. Pierson gave him 75 cents to leave him. His description then tallied with the description afterwards given of the Wilmington murderer who was hanged.

THE HEADS OF THE CHINESE ARMY.

Generals Who Have Won Distinction and the Strange Methods By Which They Achieved Greatness.

By Charles Edward Schull.

China has no Generals, if the title be applied as we apply it in this country, to men who have undergone a military training and have gradually risen in the service of their country to this high post.

The Chinese are a peace loving people. Every art of Europe has sprung from the Orientals; they excel in the making of fine goods and, before the standards of painting changed, their pictures were the finest in the world. But in war they were never conspicuous.

The Chinese have a proverb: "No good man will ever be a soldier." Fighting is mentioned as a warning to the boys; they must never quarrel; and, so, except in the case of family feuds which amount to nothing, the nation lives at peace with itself; rebellions are unknown and the art of fighting is neglected.

Years ago, when China was almost the whole of the East, it conquered a greater part of Europe but Europe was then at its weakest. Centuries have passed since then; and, in the refinement of modern Chinese civilization, the art of warfare has fared badly compared to the other arts.

Yet China has her Generals. The youngest of them all is Tu Tsin, a warrior who came into prominence at the close of the Japanese war. He was present at the last battle and was one of the few who were not shot in the back; he ran too fast. When asked the reason of their defeat he said:

"The Japanese came at us as though wild. We shot down those who were in front, but just as soon as a man fell in the front ranks some one from the next line would take his place. You can't fight people that way. When we shot down those who took the others' places some one else would come and fill up the ranks, and on they would come. You can't do anything with people of that kind. They did not know when they were whipped. Somebody had to run, and as they would not, we did, and then they shot us in the back.

FIGHT BRAVELY.

Yet it must not be supposed that the Chinese are cowards. They fight bravely and when they are face to face with an enemy, armed with spears, they are the braver soldiers of the two. They fight desperately and to the death. They do not calculate on coming out of a battle alive; and a Chinese soldier invariably disposes of his estate and bids farewell to his family forever before going to war. He knows that he will fight until he is dead.

The trouble with the Chinaman, in the battle of to-day, is that he does not understand modern weapons. He knows little of dynamite and nothing of lyddite; war balloons are novelties to him, high explosives barely a name; he is not used to the Mauser and he has not calculated upon the tricky qualities of the disappearing gun.

There is another difficulty under which the Chinaman labors. He does not love his flag. His country and his family he loves; and he may have a devotion to his native city that will increasing love of flag is a stranger to him. The national flag does not figure in his home as it does in our country; it is not a part of his education; he does not sing about it; and rally around it.

Still China has some faithful leaders upon whom she can depend.

These military leaders came lately to a realizing sense of China's weakness in war and resolved to remedy it. It was under their instructions that the Chinese troops allowed themselves to be organized by the Germans and taught the arts of war. When the Germans took part of China for their own, and armed it, they selected native Chinamen for guards and, after arming them and uniforming them, they taught them how to fire the rifles and how to use the field guns. The Chinese Generals meanwhile nodding approval.

LEARNING TO FIGHT.

Russia did the same thing in her own quarter of China, or the part which she claimed as her own; and France also sent allies and had her own native troops. The Chinese accepted the instructions and profited by them. The skill of the present is wholly due to the faithful lessons they have so faithfully learned the past few years.

A few of the Chinese Generals have refused to become acquainted with modern methods, claiming that China had always excelled and always would excel in war. One of these Wu Tung Lang fought in the Corean war. When about to start for Corea somebody asked him if he did not think it would be a good thing to study the geography of Corea:

"Geography of Corea?" said he. "What do I care about the geography of Corea? I will just go over there and have two or three engagements with them and that will be the end of it. There is no use of my bothering myself about the geography of the country."

As a matter of fact, he went over and had the engagements, but the result was not what he had predicted. One of his soldiers who was laid up in a hospital after his return explained what happened. He and the others in most of the hospitals were shot in the back.

A General prominent in past wars was General Yeh. He was, however, suspected of stealing the government money and was removed. The direct cause of the removal was the fact that, though money was regularly sent him for the troops, little, if any of it, ever reached its destination.

A man who will lead the troops is General Nieh. He is a big fat, good natured man, artistic to the ends of his pointed fingers and as sentimental as a poet. It is difficult to figure General Nieh in battle. But he will go to war, mounted upon his horse, all gaily caparisoned, ready to vanquish the enemy.

A BRAVE LEADER.

General Nieh is at present located at Lu Tai which is less than one hundred miles from Tien Tsin. He is the most popular of the Generals and has the greatest degree of control over the troops.

Had he been allowed to go on with his treatment of the Boxers a few weeks ago it would have saved the Chinese government a large amount of anxiety as well as a great deal of trouble and expense. General Nieh has always manifested a kind disposition toward foreigners, and so far as I have ever heard, there has never been any trouble between his soldiers and the foreign residents in Tong Ku or Tang Shan, or, indeed, in any other part of the country east of Tien Tsin and Peking.

A popular man is General Yuan Shih-kai. He, too, is big and corpulent, standing higher and measuring broader than any man in his regiment. The General is fond of foreigners and one regret that he cherishes the idea of exterminating the white races from the face of the earth, as the Chinese in his command feel positive he will do. He was in the Japanese war and, though he did not gain any particular glory, he escaped alive which has always be considered a considerable feat.

The Chinese have for hundreds of years punished defeated Generals by beheading them. They march past the prisoner through all the many bowing some of his name or all of alive. After the Japanese war it was decided to make an exception in the cases of the commanders of that campaign as owing to the peculiarity of the Japanese methods, it was impossible to win. General Yuan Shih-kai, therefore, escaped with his life and his family were not beheaded.

General Yuan was the Chinese representative at the Corean capital when war broke out in Corea. When the first battle was fought the vessels were all taken off the line between Tien Tsin and Chemulpo and all the foreigners, myself included, were stranded in Corea. But an offer came from the Captain of a British cruiser to carry all foreigners over to Chefoo, and General Yuan was included among this number. He is like General Nieh in his good nature, and like him in his general understanding of the power of Western governments. When Yu Hsien, another General, was recalled General Yuan was appointed to take his place. He appointed his brother to take charge of his troops, and at once he began to put down the Boxer movement; but no sooner had this been done than the brother was recalled by the Empress Dowager. This, of course, was proof positive that the Empress was in sympathy with the Boxers.

Notwithstanding this, General Yuan has steadily gained control of things and is spoken of very highly by those who are in those disturbed regions. Some of the leading missionaries write that it is evident that the military officials are doing all they can to put the movement down, but in this they are not very heartily seconded by the civil authorities."

HATES FOREIGNERS.

The most anti-foreign General and the one who presents a direct contrast to the two just described, is Tung Fuhsiang. This General won his reputation in Kansu, the northwestern province, a few years ago in his battles with the Mohammedans then in revolt.

All his life he has been shut off from intercourse with foreign governments and knows absolutely nothing about their power, the nature of their arms and the character of their fighting abilities. Because his army was able to put down the Mohammedan rebellion, which was practically a war between two rabbles, he supposes that all this trouble with "foreign devils" is because of Christianity, and so he is not only anti-foreign but especially anti-Christian. His rabble incites fear among the natives, whether Christian or non-Christian, wherever he goes.

Only a year or two ago when it was known that he was about to come down about the region of Peking there was a general uprising among the country people and awful stories were told about the cruelty of his men and their disposition to loot, to rob and to outrage the women of the sections through which they passed. The difference between his rabble and the armies of Nieh and Yuan is an indication of the salutary influence their contact with foreign soldiers and the representation foreign governments has had upon them.

There is one other General who has recently become prominent. This is Prince Tuan, who has charge of the imperial Manchu troops at Peking. He is the father of the heir apparent, and the son of the Fifth Prince, as he has always been called. He is said to be one of the most warlike of all the imperial princes, if not the most warlike; but the stand he has taken with the conservative party, which, of course, was forced upon him by the fact that his son was chosen by the Empress Dowager as the successor of Kuang Hsu, has placed him in a very unfavorable light before the world.

SYMPATHY WITH BOXERS.

It is said that the large majority of his troops joined the Boxers in the neighborhood of Peking and it was this fact that made the Boxer movement so strong and so successful in that neighborhood. There is no doubt that he was, like the Empress Dowager, in sympathy with them, and it was probably through his influence that General Nieh was rebuked when his soldiers killed 200 of the Boxers between Tien Tsin and Pekin. His army sets the Manchu soldiers in a very bad light before the world.

There are two other men who rank higher among China's military leaders than any or all the others put together. And yet they are not Generals, they are the two Viceroys. They are Li Hung Chang, whom everybody knows, and Chang Chih-tung, who is almost unknown in America. It is somewhat singular that these two men should have the names they have. They are the Smith and Brown, or the Brown and Jones of China, as indicated by the following Chinese proverb. In the Chinese primer for girls they have this couplet:

Have you ever learned the reason why your ears should pierced be?
'Tis that you may hear and listen to the talk of Chang and Li.

Now, as a matter of fact, if the Chinese had listened to the advice of Chang Chih-tung and Li Hung Chang, China would be far on the road to progress at the present time. Li Hung Chang, as is well known, is the Viceroy of the two Kwangs, and Chang Chih-tung is the Viceroy of Hupeh and Hunan. It is the latter who is telegraphing to urge the powers not to send troops to China.

LIGHT ARTILLERY RUN BY AUTOMOBILE POWER.

AUTOMOBILE FORTS FOR THE BRITISH.

The full possibilities of the automobile have not as yet been discovered. Scarcely a week but brings news of a new machine to be run on the automobile principle. It may be only a baby carriage, it may be a stage or it may branch out into a hitherto unexplored field of usefulness.

A travelling fortress capable of running at the speed of an express train over any kind of ground has been invented by the head of a large syndicate which is identified with the manufacture of high-speed automobiles.

The British Government has placed with the inventor's firm an order for a number of the machines. On a level road the automobile can easily make fifty miles an hour.

The machine which was tried the other day carries armor-plate protection and two rapid-fire guns. Four men find plenty of working room within the enclosure and are in no danger of being thrown out, even when the mechine is moving at a high rate of speed.

This war car, however, is but the smallest of the machines to which the motor has been applied. It is possible to build one big enough and strong enough to have the machine resemble a battleship on dry land. If the motors of the motor are enlarged in the required proportion there seems to be no reason at all why the cruiser of the future should not be equipped with a double-turreted land monitor which would be absolutely impregnable to ordinary attacks and which in warfare would be more mobile than even a cavalry force.

Before the onslaught of such a machine ordinary land artillery would be powerless. It could batter its way with its guns through an ordinary town and travel comfortably over a path made by its projectiles.

Gasoline is the fuel used on the motor, and a very small amount of this liquid will run the machine a long distance. Electricity is and always will be a favorite power for use in city streets and on smooth roads, but for warfare and across rough country either the gasoline or the steam motor will be the one on which the most reliance must be placed. Gasoline is easily transported in the field, and water in sufficient quantities for the use of the machines can always be obtained. A motor which depends on storage batteries for its power would be hopelessly handicapped in active service, as the first rough shaking it received would entirely derange the storage batteries.

One of these motor forts, for instance, could be equipped with a dynamite gun. Dashing from behind some shelter, it could approach the enemy at the speed of an express train, get within range, fire several of its deadly shells and get away, probably untouched, for it would be as hard to hit as a fast-flying bird.

For coast defence small travelling forts of this kind would be invaluable. They could travel along the beach or road faster than trains, and could make things exceedingly warm for any portion of the enemy which were trying to effect a landing. Of course, it must be remembered that such landings are almost invariably made under the protection of a battleship, and that one big shell from a ship, properly aimed, would put the automobile fort hopelessly out of business.

That is where one of the big double-turreted automobile forts would come into play. No sensible strategist would ever try to effect a landing under the guns of a fort, or, indeed, at any place he knew to be adequately protected by earthworks or other fortifications. If these automobile fortresses were in general use it would mean, practically, that every part of the coast line of the country would be protected, for if an enemy were seen to be approaching it would take, at the most, half an hour to get one of these fast-travelling forts to the threatened point. It is, necessarily, very much easier to take aim from land than from the deck of a ship, and while the battleship and cruisers protecting the landing might be more powerful in armament, the advantage of accuracy and position would be on the side of the defence.

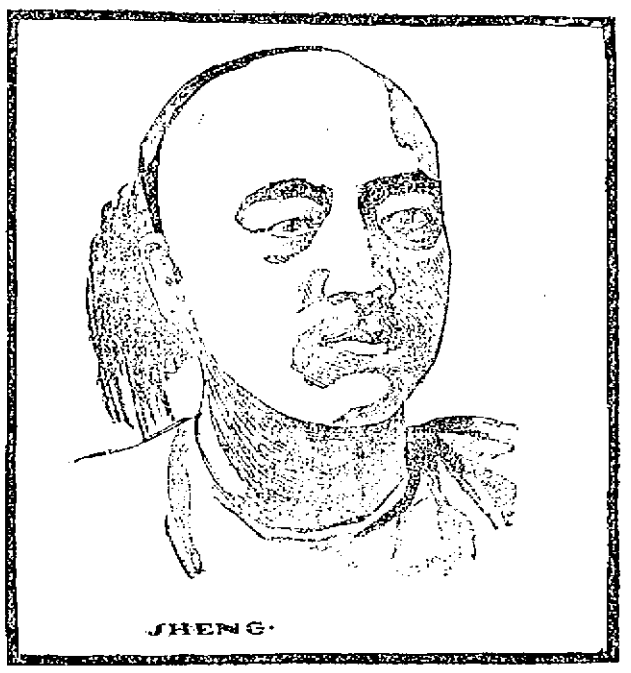
The wheels are pneumatic, the outside tube being four inches thick. The centre of gravity of the machine lies so low and its wheel base is so broad that it is practically impossible to upset the machine, however swiftly it may be turned.

The possibility of a "flying artillery" of light field guns mounted upon automobile carriages is being earnestly considered by officers.

English Foxes.

A curious trick of English foxes is to jump as high as possible, grasping a tree branch with their teeth, hold on till the hounds have gone on, and then dropping to the ground, escape. This is similar to the trick of the American fox, which jumps into a tree and rests on a branch, but American dogs are not such fools as English dogs. They gather around the tree and howl till the hunter comes.

TU TSIN, THE YOUNGEST GENERAL IN THE CHINESE REGULAR ARMY.



A HERO OF THE JAPANESE WAR.

MAN'S ENEMIES.

There are four enemies that have stood in the path of man. These are aristocracy, militarism, slavery and imperialism. There are various other enemies, but these are the four arch enemies in the political sense. They all spring out of the idea that man belongs not to himself, but that he belongs, body and soul, to somebody or something else which owns him. These four enemies in a dangerous garb confront the United States to-day.

Schiller says that the tyrants reach hands to each other—that they reach to each other the hands. They stand together now. These four stand together. Wherever there is one the other is. Aristocracy, slavery, militarism and imperialism. They reach each other's hand.

They all have their fair, attractive side. They are defended sometimes at the fireside. Slavery was discussed and defended from many a pulpit in New England. Aristocracy has its fair side.

The foundation of quality is aristocracy, the foundation of our own liberty is rebellion against it—the very thing we came here for.

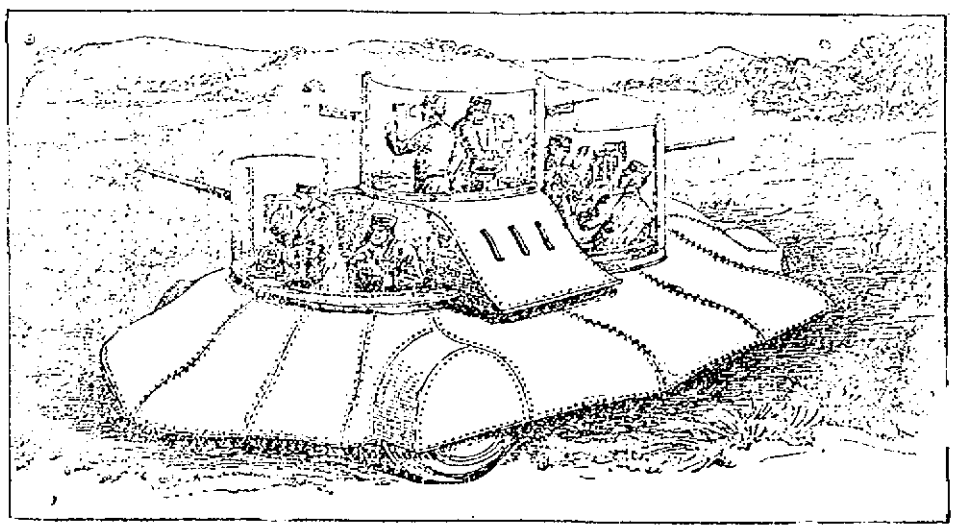
There is a fair side of slavery and a fair side of militarism. How clean the streets can be kept under military discipline and how free from noise! How easily people can be sent to bed at dark if it be desired!

There is a fair side of imperialism. You will find that in many places nine-tenths of the people believe it a good thing for the world. Maybe it is, but when we come to read history from the one side to the other we will find that the British people have been debauched by their course in India, and that the Hindoos have been cursed. You will find that the English people have been turned from being a strong, freedom-loving people. You will find also that the heart's blood has gone out of Great Britain as it has gone out of all countries which have indulged in constant wars.

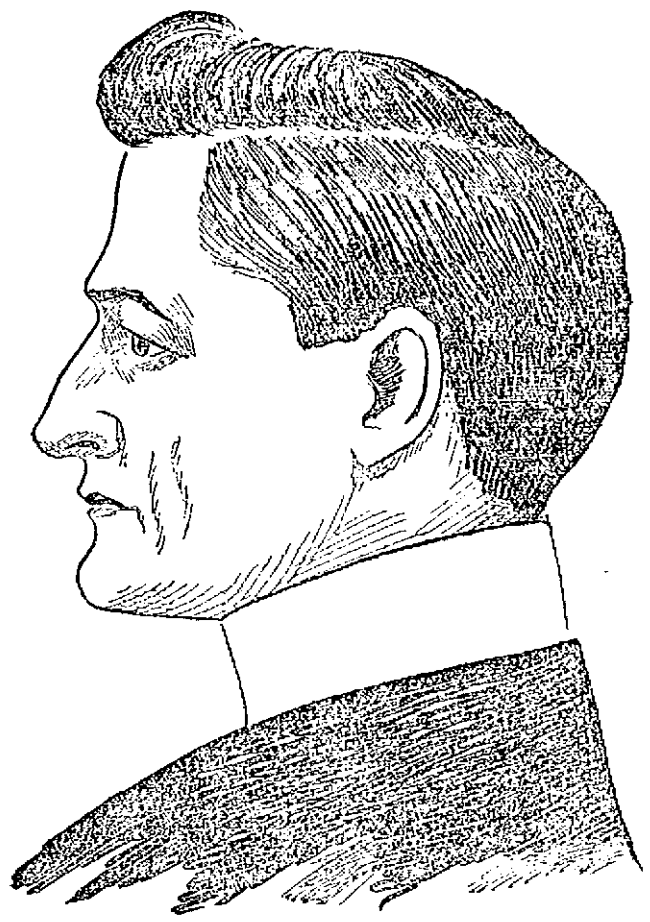
We know how Napoleon depopulated France by his wars. We know of the murders of the nobility, the murders of the peasantry and the result in the France of to-day. In 1899, when the Philippine question was a burning one in Spain, La Puente, an Augustinian friar, expressed his opinion of the whole thing when he said: "Against the gain of redeemed souls I place the cost in the loss of armadas and of soldiers and of friars sent to the Philippines, and these I count the chief loss, that while mines give silver and forests give lumber, only Spain gives Spaniards, and she shall give so many of them that some day she shall be left childless and forced to bring up strangers' children instead of her own."

The heresy of imperialism is the most dangerous that has arisen since the heresy of secession, and it must be fought as vigorously as the heresy of secession. If we admit as citizens any number of millions of people that are not ready for liberty, if we admit them with all the degradation which they must bring into our politics, we must take the consequences.

The best way in which the growth of any man or nation has ever been promoted has been through self-government, democratically looking after its own affairs. We do not expect that self-government will always be good government. Men learn not by their success, but by mistakes. It is absolutely impossible for any republic to conduct any affairs well except its own.



HERE YOU SEE AN AUTOMOBILE FORT AS IT WILL TRAVEL ALONG THE COAST LOCATING AT THE WEAKEST POIN'



CALEB POWERS.

FOR LOWELL GIRLS

Why They Should Get the Preference

When Duly Qualified Over Non-Residents—Some Interviews on Action of the School Board

The Sun has received many favorable comments on the article published in last Friday's paper in regard to the action of the sub committee on teachers, in selecting so many non-residents for the teaching school to the exclusion of Lowell girls.

A Sun representative had a talk with the members of the board who opposed this course, and they talked very freely upon the matter stating that they should stand for the merit system and see that competent Lowell girls would have the preference for appointment in the Lowell schools.

DONNELLY OBJECTS.

James E. Donnelly, senior democratic member of the school board and member of the committee on teachers said: "I believe that in caring for the best interests of pupils and teachers, we protect the citizens of Lowell. The merit system which has been in vogue ever since the establishment of the Training school is the best and only system that should govern the selection of our school teachers. During all this agitation I have stood for the merit system and contended that a departure from it would be detrimental. I am still of that opinion. I believe too that our Training school should be for Lowell girls only. Who has complained of the teachers now employed in our schools? Who has said they were inferior to those of any other city? I have heard Supt. Whitcomb praise their worth and state that our schools rank with the best. This standing must be obtained through the work of the teachers. These teachers are Lowell ladies, and why then, if our schools rank with the best and our teachers are the equal of those in other cities, should we discriminate at this time and bar Lowell girls who have had their minds set on entering the Training school and becoming teachers some who, I claim, are the equals at least of those who will be imported to our city. No fault was found with the old system. It was just and guaranteed fair treatment to all. Parents of our city felt a pride in having their daughters enter our Training schools and our citizens were satisfied that our city was a fold large enough to supply the demand for teachers. The matter of public funds being devoted to the education of outside people might be raised by, as an objection to their admission. If a boy or girl from any of the outlying towns enters our grammar or high schools he or she must pay tuition. If this is a just rule in those schools, it should likewise apply to the Training school. I honestly believe the system just adopted will be short lived. I think public opinion will compel its repeal and I certainly hope that its term of operation will be brief.

Lowell young ladies are as well qualified to become pupils of our Training schools as are those of other cities and the right to enter the school should be reserved exclusively to them. I have no interest aside from my desire to see justice done to all Lowell girls. I have no relatives in the Training or in the Normal schools so that it cannot be urged that I take this position in order to benefit somebody who might claim relationship to me."

DENNIS MURPHY.

"I am opposed now, always have been, and always will be," said Dennis Murphy, Esq., of Ward Five, "to admitting out-of-town girls to our Training school. The action of the school board might give the impression that our teachers are falling below the standard. If that is so, and I do not admit it by any means, then some one is to blame. We have a Training school, established for the sole purpose of training pupil teachers, that they may give their best service to the schools. If they are not capable, then why should they be given the diploma certifying to their ability, and efficiency to teach in any school? This school is supported by the taxpayers of Lowell and should be distinctly a local institution. We are ignoring the purposes of the establishment of the school and departing from the original ideas, when we make such a departure as will throw open the doors of our Training school wide open to the entire country. It's an imposition on the public and should never have been approved by the school board. Last year Mr. Donnelly and myself made our position plain. We insisted that the merit system should stand; that the Lowell Training school is for Lowell girls, and we have not changed since. Lowell girls enter that Training school and took the prescribed course. If they were not competent to teach the mark was there to prevent their graduation and subsequent election as teachers. I cannot understand the object of the new move. I fail to see where we will be benefited in the least, and I fear its effect may be felt by those who originated the scheme. I feel safe that public opinion will support me in the position I have taken, for I am of the strongest belief that it is an injustice to allow outsiders to come here and usurp the places of our Lowell girls."

DALY FAVORS LOWELL GIRLS.

Cornelius A. Daly, member of the school board from Ward Two, when seen by the Sun reporter, said: "In all other departments of the city Lowell residents are given the preference over out-of-town people, and I am in favor of the same in the school department. The rank that they struggled to get from the Normal school is a questionable rank and I am interested in Lowell girls first, particularly when we are not sure of the rank. I believe also in a closed list of graduates of the Training school. There are now the graduates of four classes on the closed list. In regard to college graduates entering the Training school I oppose the proposition to allow them to teach without going through the Training school. While at college they accumulate knowledge undoubtedly but they have no idea of the science of teaching which is taught them at the Normal school."

CIVIL SERVICE EXAM.

FOR LETTER CARRIERS AND CLERKS OF LOCAL OFFICE.

Application papers for the civil service examination for letter carriers and clerks of the local postoffice are now ready and can be procured from Supt. Ashworth upon application. All application papers will have to be returned to the postoffice, Oct. 27. The examination will be held in the civil service rooms in the postoffice building on the 21st of November.

ENJOYABLE OUTING.

The employes of the Lawson store service company had an enjoyable outing at Dewey Grove Saturday afternoon. About 65 men were present. Refreshments were served. The base ball game between Donovan's nine and the Pick of the Shop was won by Donovan's men. Walter Shave and Alex Mallen had charge of the arrangements.

SOLEMN SERVICE

In Memory of the Late King Humbert

PRESIDENT McKINLEY AND CABINET

Among Those Present in the Church

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. Amid scenes of impressive solemnity and in the presence of the head of the United States, members of the cabinet, officers of the army and navy, the ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries, and a great concourse of people from civil life, the memorial service for the late King Humbert III of Italy were held at St. Matthew's Catholic church at 11 o'clock yesterday.

The church had been decorated elaborately for the occasion. Immediately in front of the chancel rail stood the catafalque. Over it was thrown a heavy black pall, edged with white and on it was a great garland of laurel and palm leaves, tied with ribbons of red, white and green, the colors of Italy.

Baron Fava, in the full uniform of his diplomatic rank stood at the main entrance of the church and received the Ambassador's party. He was assisted by Marquis Romano and the military attaches of the embassy. Among the officials were the cabinet ministers, Mr. Wu Ting Fang, the Spanish minister, Duke D'Arcos, in full uniform, followed soon after and was given a seat with the Chinese representative. Both of them sat the Japanese minister, Mr. Takahira. Germany was represented by Baron Von Sternburg, German charge d'affaires, accompanied by the German military and naval attaches. France by M. Pichon and M. Boccard, Great Britain by Sir Lowther and Captain Bradley of the Royal navy; Russia by M. Bourkowsky. While the other countries of Europe, South and Central America were represented by their several ministers and secretaries.

Across the aisle from the diplomatic corps the pews were reserved for distinguished American officers and civil officials and among those present were Lieutenant-General Miles, Endicott and Terry, Brigadiers John N. Wilson, Lachlan and Weston, the staff officers of Lieutenant-General Miles and some of the officers of the British services and citizens were given seats at the side of the church, over the altar.

Just as President McKinley and the members of his cabinet entered the church, Baron Fava stepped forward and received the president. With him were present Secretary Hay, Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, Acting Secretary of State Adee and the president's secretary, Mr. Cortelyou. As the presidential party took their seats, the strains of the organ floated through the edifice and the Mass and Absolution services for the departed princes to the King. It had been expected that Cardinal Gibbons would officiate. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Father Hart, assisted by Father Chapelle and Father Kreckel as deacon and sub-deacon. Father Church of Georgetown university was also in the sanctuary.

At the close of the mass, the priests retired from the sanctuary, leaving only the candles, sprinkler and holy water, burning for the repose of the soul of the dead king, and chanting the "requiescat."

FIELD DAY

ON WHICH CANTON PAWTUCKET OF LOWELL WILL PARTICIPATE.

Besides Canton Pawtucket of Lowell, Canton Agawam of Lawrence will give as guests on Labor Day Canton Eagle of Haverhill and Canton Harmony of Newburyport. The visiting cantons will arrive in Lawrence about the middle of the forenoon and at 10 o'clock there will be a parade. The American band of Lowell will furnish music and the march will be from the hill down Essex street to Jackson, to Haverhill, to Broadway, to Essex and to the hall, where their uniforms will be exchanged for fatigue dress, and at 1.15 the cantons will embark on a special train from the Lowell station on Essex street, Lawrence, for Hagget's pond. At the pond during the afternoon there will be a series of sports and supper, and the party will return in the early evening.

GETTING OFF BACKWARDS.

"I know this subject has been alluded to many times before, but I cannot refrain from again expressing wonder as to why 75 per cent. or more of the female passengers of electric cars will insist in getting off from the car backwards," says a writer of the Lawrence Tribune. "This thought was brought to my mind by an incident on a Lowell car yesterday afternoon when a woman of advanced years came near breaking a leg fall in just that way, for as she was filled with parcels and so many another, she would not wait until the car came to a full stop before alighting, but stepped off as usual with her face to the rear of the car. Taken quite unawares she lost her balance, which in all probability would have been recovered, but unfortunately for her, she saw that she was not likely to be injured. If passengers at all to alight would take hold of the handle on the post in front of them instead of the one at the seat upon which they have been sitting all danger from an accident of this kind might be avoided."

BLACKLISTERS

A Recent Decision of Mass. Courts

In connection with the Merchants' directory, otherwise known as the Ida Kist, the Banker and Tradesman has the following of local interest:

"The recent decision of the supreme court of Massachusetts, declaring illegal the system of blacklisting carried on by various trades organizations, has been followed by a similar decision of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, where it is held that blacklisting of debtors furnishes good ground for a libel suit. In the Pennsylvania case the plaintiff was a fruit dealer and was blacklisted by a trade association, to one of whose members he owed a bill. Responsible business men will probably soon come to the conclusion that it is risky hereafter, members of associations having for their principal object the blacklisting of persons who do not pay their bills. Under the present state of law, according to the decisions of the supreme courts of both Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, such a course makes good ground for libel, and the damaged person is not obliged to sue the association, but can bring his action against the person or firm which caused him to be on the list."

SLAYTON OUTING.

The J. M. Slayton produce houses of Lowell, Lawrence, Lynn and Manchester, closed Saturday and the employes with their families united in an outing at Pinnoble lake, Salem, N. H. The parties from the five offices arrived during the forenoon, and the day was spent in having a general good time. A programme of sports was carried out, an interesting feature of this being a baseball game between a team representing Manchester and Lowell, and a club representing the Lawrence and Lynn stores.

RURAL DELIVERY

RULES RECENTLY ISSUED BY POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

The post office department at Washington has issued a set of rules to apply on all free rural delivery lines, which will be of local interest in view of the recent establishment of such a route in this district. The rules follow:

First—That on and after August 1, 1900, the "drop letter" or one cent rate of postage will not apply within rural free delivery limits. The two cent per ounce rate will be exacted within such delivery upon all mail matter except postal cards.

Second—That the introduction of rural free delivery will not increase or otherwise modify the present rate of postage on mail matter.

Third—That rural free delivery carriers will not bring to the post office mail matter for collection by them which may be delivered on their routes before completing their trips.

Fourth—That stamps upon mail matter collected by rural free delivery carriers, including those on matter delivered to them for mailing in Sunday's mail for collection by them and reported to the postmaster, who will deface the same in cancellation of the offer to fourth class postmasters until suitable rubber canceling stamps can be supplied by the respective rural delivery carriers will not count against the postmaster's allowance for cancelling stamps, which the law provides shall be used by them for use in registering letters.

OBEYING THE ORDER.

Under order of the police commissioners all dealers in spring waters are registering in the clerk's office. The names and places of business will be sent to the state board of health. The report of the analyses of spring water in this section made by the state board of health a few days ago was published in the state documents and made interesting reading.

THE MARKET.

"New onions, very fine, are in the market," said a commission man, to a Sun reporter today. "These come from Ohio, where they are earlier than in Massachusetts." Bartlett pears are also in the market. Peaches are higher and cucumbers, beans and cantaloupes lower.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE IN A CAGE.

Always acting upon the supposition that an accused prisoner is guilty until proved innocent or until a pretty large bribe is forthcoming, the Chinese judge is very certain to administer punishment quite out of proportion to the crime. He will not err on the side of mercy at all events, and if the victim escape with no heavier infliction than the "cange," which permits him only to stand upright, he is remarkably fortunate. Some of the cages are so small that the miserable wretch inside can neither stand, sit up or lie down, but has to crouch, like a frog, in a position as near as possible to comfort.

BIG FIGHT AUG. 24

Sharkey and Fitzsimmons Will Meet

AS ORIGINALLY ARRANGED IN NEW YORK

Great Interest Taken in the Big Bout

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. The matchmaker of the Seaside A. C. has announced the date of the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey fight. The date originally set for the contest was Aug. 24, but on account of the great crowd that would be drawn to the island on the 27th by the Dewey celebration, the managers of the club decided to change the date of the fight. Saturday, Aug. 25.

Tom O'Rourke, acting for the Seaside A. C., last night announced that he completed with the general request the fight will take place on the original date, Friday, Aug. 24.

A LIVELY FIGHT

LAWRENCE TEAM WON ITS GAME

Against the Famous Elm Nine

During the progress of a base ball game on the South common Saturday afternoon between the Elms, champions of this city and the West Ends of Lawrence, a row was started that gave the police considerable trouble.

The fight was started in the fourth inning and proved the most lively feature of the afternoon. There is a difference of opinion as to how the trouble started. Some say that one of the players accidentally stepped on the foot of a spectator near the third base line. Another account of it is that some of the spectators became involved in a discussion of the merits of several of the players and coming to words, came to blows. The fight lasted several minutes and when an effort attempted to make an arrest, the crowd closed in and made it difficult for one to make a passageway. Several of the participants got a few bruises but beyond this there was no damage done and no arrests were made.

The game itself was a very good one. The Elms were first at the bat and took the field after they had scored three runs two of which were earned. The West Ends then came to the bat, but they were easily sent to the stables for they could not solve the baffling curves and twists of "Punk" Ryan, the star pitcher of the Elms.

The next inning was pitcher vs. pitcher for either team in the way of scoring runs.

The boys from down the river caught a few of Ryan's curves and the official scorer was called to count two for the visitors. Score—Elms 5, West Ends 2.

The fourth inning was another solid one for the local boys, for the down river fellows were warm and scored three runs and took the lead.

The Lawrence pitcher received perfect support and if Ryan received the same the Elms would have won the game, for even after the Elms made was costly.

The final score was 11 to 8 in favor of the Lawrence boys.

MGR. IRELAND.

MGR. IRELAND

INVITED BY POPE TO DELIVER AN ADDRESS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ROME, Aug. 20.—Yesterday being the feast of St. Joachim, the pope's patron saint, there was a large gathering at the vatican of cardinals, bishops and presidents of societies.

The pope, who was in excellent health and spirits, spoke at some length regarding matters of Catholic interest, and then, with a complimentary introduction, invited Archbishop Ireland to address the assembly on matters in America, and the relations of the outer world to the holy see.

Mgr. Ireland, who was frequently applauded during a speech of 20 minutes, spoke glowingly of the fidelity of American Catholics to the Roman church and the holy see. He described liberty under the American flag, and set forth the necessity of the pope, as the head of christendom, being free and independent to any one civil power, "so as to be, in fact, as well as of right, the sovereign temporal ruler of all nations and peoples, without special dependency on any special nation or people."

The address gave visible satisfaction.

Mgr. Ireland had a final audience with the pope on Friday.

THE BODY FOUND

Of a Nurse That Recently Disappeared

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The body of Miss Bertha M. Hunt, the nurse who strangely disappeared from the City hospital on Blackwell's Island, where she was employed, on Thursday night, was found yesterday. Miss Hunt came from Chatham, N. Y. She lived with other nurses in the Training school. On Thursday one of the patients under her care died of epilepsy. This made a strong impression on the nurse's mind and when she returned to her room she was in quite a nervous state. She told her room-mate that she would go down to the river to get a pitcherful of salt water, with which to bathe her head. She was not seen again alive.

BRAVE GIRL KILLED

By Gang of Burglars in Pittsfield

The Town Alarmed and Now Searching for the Marauders—Account of Their Work

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 20.—Miss May L. Fosburg, the 20-year-old daughter of R. L. Fosburg, the cotton-goods broker of 16 L. Fosburg of Buffalo, N. Y., was shot and instantly killed by one of a gang of burglars at 3.15 this morning, as she was going to her father's room to assist him in his struggle with one of the gang. Mr. Fosburg was still with the instrument over the head and body [illegible] as was also his son, F. S. Fosburg, by the third member of the gang, each of whom escaped through of a windows and have not yet been captured, although the town was aroused by the sounding of the fire alarm and posses have been organized. A number of tramps have been arrested on suspicion.

The three men evidently entered the house by way of the veranda and opened a window into a vacant room and found Mr. Fosburg's revolver in the drawer of a bureau in his room. Mr. Fosburg was awakened by the noise and was struck by some blunt instrument and he fell down. He struggled in grappling with the intruder. Lowered, and the noise of the struggle awakened the family. As F. S. Fosburg, a son, entered the room, he was grappled by a second burglar and was struck down with a sand-bag. As Miss May L. Fosburg and her brother, James, the latter a student at Yale Scientific school, entered their father's room, the girl leading the way, another burglar pushed his way in front of her and then turned and deliberately fired his revolver at her heart. She fell back into the arms of her brother, and expired instantly.

The two men who had been struggling with the father and one of the sons, escaped through a window.

The other burglar, who had shot Miss Fosburg, rushed through the door into the vacant room and jumping upon the roof of the veranda, made his escape. The sheriff's [illegible] and the entire police force was called out; also the [illegible] to assist in the search for the [illegible].

A number of articles were found and placed under arrest on suspicion.

Numerous articles were found in the street which had been dropped by the [illegible] in their flight, among them a [illegible] leather shoe and a stocking partially filled with sand. This was evidently the weapon with which the young girl [illegible] was found, with locked set for eyes and [illegible] the old part of Dunstable. A thorough investigation of the house, however, failed to show that anything except Mr. Fosburg's pocket-book had been taken. The gang all wore the [illegible] over their heads, but where they obtained them is not yet known.

Mr. Fosburg is well known in this city. One of the sons is a member of the firm of R. L. Fosburg & Co., of Boston, N. Y., which firm has built many of the new mills among the Berkshires. The Berkshire mills at Adams, owned by W. E. Plunkett, were built by them, and at the present time the firm is erecting the works for the Stanley Electrical company here. Mr. Fosburg is 52 years of age and his residence at "Morningside" where the murder or [illegible] is one of the finest in that section.

DOMESTIC PRELATE

And State Board is Determined to Stop it

A crusade in which the state board of health is at present actively engaged is one against the sale of so-called brandy drops to children. Its agents have recently secured a number of convictions in several of the larger cities, including Fall River, New Bedford, Lawrence, Lowell, Salem, Lynn and North Adams.

The law governing this matter was passed in 1891, and provides that "no person shall sell to any child under 16 years of age any candy or other article inclosing liquid or syrup containing more than 1 per cent. of alcohol."

There is a penalty prescribed of a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 for each offense.

Shopkeepers and druggists have been found to be violating this law in a wholesale manner, and the state board has consequently gotten after them with a sharp stick.

In North Adams on Thursday five dealers were convicted, and had their cases placed on file on payment of costs. Under the strict interpretation of the law, the clerk who sells the goods rather than the proprietor of the place, is fined, and there is some talk of having the law amended so that the proprietor himself shall be prosecuted.

TOWN OF DRACUT

Constables Looking for the Firebug

Other Interesting News From That Town

Officer Gallagher and a number of the residents of Dracut stayed up all Saturday night to see if they could see the firebug who has been paying regular visits to that town, but it seems that all were disappointed. It is thought by many that the miscreants have been scared by the reward offered by the selectmen, but many people are still doubtful as they think the firebug may take some other morning besides Sunday, as he did in the case of the Emery fire.

The people also think that some further protection should be made outside of offering a reward.

Several of the youngsters around the town who have been used to keeping rather late hours during the warm weather were watched pretty carefully Saturday night and Officer Gallagher who did duty during the greater part of the night and yesterday morning reported the streets as comparatively deserted and everything was quiet.

Mr. Frank L. Shaw of Lynn is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nath. Peabody of Pleasant street.

Master Edward Devine, a pupil of the Parker avenue school, who took the recent examinations for admittance to the Lowell High school and failed by a fraction, has received word from Supt. Whitcomb that he has been admitted. This will increase the number to enter High school from the Parker avenue school to three.

William Little, a former resident of the town, but now residing at North Andover, was in town Saturday and Sunday, renewing old acquaintances.

The old house which stands beside the river and just west of the bridge on Pleasant street, formerly owned by William Terrell but now by parties in Lowell, is in a dilapidated condition. Every pane of glass is broken and the doors are thrown open, the blinds are very scarce, one appearing here and there, while most of them lie at the bottom of the river. The house seems to be a favorite resort for boys during the day and tramps during the night. It should be closed up.

Mrs. George Canney and Miss Sadie Brodrick of Collinsville will spend the next two weeks at the White Mountains.

Mrs. John Hutchinson of Humbert avenue is confined to her home with illness.

Mr. Frank Gardner of Pleasant street, who with his family has been spending the past two weeks at Salisbury beach, has returned home.

RUN OVER BY CAR

James Trubey, a resident of North Chelmsford, and employed in the mowing department of George C. Monroe's mills in the Fance town, met with a serious accident Saturday night about 11:30 o'clock, being run over by an inbound Tyngsboro car, near the residence of John Markell, Jr., in North Chelmsford.

Mr. Trubey came into Lowell early in the evening and started for home on the 10 o'clock car. He is believed to have left the car when it reached the village. The last car leaves Tyngsboro at 11:30 o'clock, and not making many stops to take on or leave off passengers goes along very rapidly.

The car was moving along at a fair rate of speed and when directly opposite the residence of Mr. Markell, the motorman in charge saw the body of a man lying across the tracks. He did all in his power to stop the car, reversing the power and putting on the brakes, as well as dropping the fender, but the car was going too fast and the fender struck the man, throwing him some feet forward. Undoubtedly it was the dropping of the fender that saved his life for if it had not been lowered the wheels of the car would have passed over the body, which might have meant instant death.

The motorman and conductor picked up the injured man and put him on the car and took him to the Middlesex village car house, where the ambulance was summoned and he was taken to St. John's hospital.

At the hospital it was found that he had a very bad compound fracture of the left leg, and after consultation the doctors there decided that amputation would be necessary, and yesterday morning the operation was performed.

It was necessary to amputate a little below the knee. So far the operation has proved successful and the patient was resting comfortably this forenoon.

Besides the injuries of the leg, his left shoulder was dislocated and the little finger of the left hand broken.

STILL FIGHTING AT PEKIN

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Japanese legation has received several important dispatches. One received today from Tokio, dated August 17, says:

"After entry into Pekin was effected by the allied troops, the Japanese troops on August 15, betook themselves to and remained in the imperial palace. A body of Japanese troops was told off to guard the palace and there they met with obstinate resistance by the Chinese troops. Fighting is still going on. The headquarters of the Japanese army is in the legation and the division is mainly quartered in the villages outside of An-Ting-Men."

Another telegram dated the 19th gives the report of the Japanese consul-general at Shanghai, saying Sheng credits the report that the empress dowager and probably the emperor also had left Pekin, as the privy council crossed the Lukon bridge in the 14th bearing the banner of the imperial cortege. Also that Prince Ching is still in Pekin, although Prince Tuan has followed the empress dowager.

Arrington escaped in a wagon with his young daughter but was pursued by Sheriff Dillingham and a posse. About 10 o'clock the posse caught Arrington in a road near Farley.

The murderer opened fire, fatally wounding Sheriff Dillingham in the breast. As the sheriff fell he shot Arrington through the heart.

ETTA WARREN HELD

Her Bail Was Fixed at Three Hundred Dollars

She Will be Arraigned in Court Tomorrow Morning — Man Fined $50 for Illegally Keeping Liquor

Etta H. Warren, mother of the child abandoned at the home of John H. Stackpole last Wednesday night and who was arrested by Inspector Allen in Nashua, Saturday night, had a private hearing prior to the opening of the police court session this morning. She was taken to Judge Hadley's private office and was represented by D. J. Donahue, Esq. She was held in $300 till tomorrow, at which time her sister will also be arraigned. She did not like the idea of being elected to a cell. She rides a wheel and apparently was as solicitous about her wheel as anything else. She acknowledges she is the mother of the child and also says she abandoned it. She feels that she did nothing wrong and holds herself entirely blameless of intending to wrong or injure the baby.

She is a very pretty woman, 22 years of age, and was neatly dressed. She expects to get bail. The father of the child has been telegraphed for and it is hoped he will be on hand tomorrow. The woman is confident that a request from her will bring Wentworth to Lowell. He is 20 years of age and it is said he has several times proposed marriage, but she refused. It is understood that she has no serious objection to marrying him, but thinks he is too young to assume the responsibilities of married life.

DRUNKS FINED.

George Chase was stupidly drunk in Dracut last night. He was so drunk that as the saying goes, "he had not a leg under him," and was practically helpless. He stumbled along the roadway and fell across the electric road tracks and proceeded to enjoy peaceful slumber. Electric cars did not disturb him in the least and had he been allowed to remain on the tracks much longer he would have been run over. People who saw him got Officer George E. Corson and asked him to arrest the man. Chase was placed in a wagon and taken to the police station. During the journey he never woke up. In court this morning he was fined $5.

FINED $5.

Inspector Goodwin, Officers Atkinson, and Tarbell visited the house of Michael Tindel, rear of 51 Tucker street, yesterday and found six men drinking beer. They seized a keg of beer and arrested Tindel. In court he pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

The following first offenders were fined $2 each: William F. Warren, John J. Jasman, Ulrichee J. Myott, Alfred Prevost, Walter Hall.

Patrick J. Duffy, a second offender was fined $5. Six other drunks were released. Patrick J. Fay was fined $10 for assault on Mrs. Mellette and the charge of drunkenness against him was placed on file. Mrs. Mellette said that the defendant went to her house and wanted to fight her husband. She interfered and ordered Fay away. Then Fay pushed and struck her. She said he was drunk. Fay claimed that he remembered nothing of an assault on the woman.

Mary E. Carr was in last November and paid a fine of $5. Today she was sent to jail for twenty days.

Mary Cleary was released last June she appeared in court for drunkenness. On this occasion she got a sentence of twenty days to the work house.

LALLY FINED $20.

The continued case of Frank J. Lally was called. Lally was charged with the larceny of jewelry from Arthur H. Wilson. The only witness called was Inspector Allen who made the arrest and after hearing his testimony, Judge Hadley imposed a fine of $20.

SMOOTH PAVING

To be Delayed for Another Week

Work is at a standstill on the smooth paving job in Market street and it will probably be a week before it is resumed. The recent rains soaked through the coat that has been already laid to such a depth that the ton covering cannot be started until the under layer is perfectly dry.

Harry Doherty, who has charge of the work, stated to a Sun reporter that the cement may be dried toward the latter part of the week and that the men will then start on the top coating.

The only work that is being done today is on the conduits of the Lowell Electric Light Company and the Western Union company.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE

EARLY THIS MORNING IN AUBURN STREET.

A still alarm at 2:30 o'clock this morning summoned Hose 7 of Central street to a small fire in the 2-story tenement house at 56 Auburn street. The fire started in the kitchen and burned the side of the ward and part of the ceiling. It is a mystery to the firemen and occupants of tenement how the fire started. The people who reside in the house were awakened by the crackling sound of the fire and they immediately notified the proper authorities.

The damage will not amount to over $25. The building was owned by H. B. Hill.

FIRES BEING INVESTIGATED.

Fire Marshal's Assistant Scott was in town this morning. He went to Dracut to investigate some of the recent fires in that town.

EXCURSION PARTY

TO OLD ORCHARD HAD A SPECIAL TRAIN.

Agent Taft of the Boston & Maine R. R. takes exception to the statement of Mr. Brooks, that no special train was furnished for the excursion party to Old Orchard on Thursday. Notwithstanding the rain those who took in the excursion were delighted with their day's outing. The company run the excursion just as advertised.

MINING WAR

IN PROGRESS AT CANAEA, SONORA.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 18.—A message has been received here telling of another mining war in Canaea, Sonora. Several years ago a man named Lindsay located a mine group known as the Lindsay claims. About the same time a man named Greene was engaged in locating claims in the same vicinity and disputes as to the boundaries which have never been settled, arose. Something ago Lindsay disposed of his claims to an Indiana syndicate including Senator Fairbanks and Mayor Taggart of Indianapolis. Greene's adverse claim was known to the syndicate and a representative was sent to the City of Mexico in the interest of the purchasers. At the same time Greene took possession but the syndicate procured a court order putting Lindsay in possession. The judge of the court accompanied Lindsay to Canaea but an armed force, directed by Greene, prevented the execution of the order. A report of the affair was sent to Arizpe and 80 armed men left there Wednesday to assist in carrying out the orders of the court.

BOXING GOSSIP

In a circular sent out by the committee in charge of the testimonial to John L. Sullivan, it is said:

As a fitting tribute to the honesty, integrity and ability of the man who raised boxing from obscurity and elevated it to the highest plane of athletics, the sport-loving public of America has decided to give John L. Sullivan a grand testimonial in Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening, Aug. 29, the night prior to the battle between Corbett and McCoy. It is hoped that the followers of boxing and sport in general will contribute generously, so that in his old age the king of pugilists can rest in peace and contentment.

The gentlemen who are to engineer this movement do not intend to hand the proceeds to Mr. Sullivan to dispose of as he sees fit; on the contrary, a committee of responsible business men will be appointed to handle the funds and place them in trust for the ex-champion, so that the money will be drawing interest. Not a penny can be drawn by the recipient of the testimonial until the committee is satisfied that the money is really needed and then the amount will be named.

When Tom Sayers, the champion of England retired from the ring, by general subscription an amount so large that he lived off the interest, was raised. Between Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Sayers there was no comparison. One was an ordinary pugilist, and the other a world-beater, and the father of the modern style or new school of fighting.

Mr. Sullivan endeared himself to every admirer of clean and honest sport, and it behooves those admirers now to show their appreciation, not alone for Mr. Sullivan's benefit, but as an incentive to honesty for those who are to follow.

As Lawrence at the present time supports an athletic club which gives boxing as a feature of its meetings, it is suggested that Lawrence would be a good place for Paisey Haley and Billy Gardner to have their contemplated match. The pair would draw well from Boston and Lowell, particularly from Lowell, besides the home city and the Lawrence club bringing them there would undoubtedly realize a good thing in it.

George Gardner, a well posted authority, says, may have some difficulty in obtaining a match in England. The British Isles at the present time are overrun with American boxers seeking matches, while what few English boxers of note there are there are rather shy of Americans, for in nine cases out of 10 the American licks his English brother. There is some talk of Gardner going up against the French champion, but he would be foolish to do it, as he knows nothing about the French style, which permits the use of the feet as well as the hands. In the last fight won by the French champion, he put his man out with a back kick under the chin. You can search me to explain just how he did it, but that was the report. If Gardner went up against him the Bonhommie might give him a funny kick in the ear while he'd be swinging on him. The only man to tackle the Frenchman would be Joe Walcott and you couldn't lick him with an axe.

POLICE BAFFLED

HER HEAD CRUSHED WITH A HAMMER

Her Brother and Lover Under Arrest

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mystery surrounding the murder of pretty Kate Scharn at 574 3d avenue has thus far baffled the skill of the detectives who are trying to find the assassin. Her brother and the young man to whom she was engaged to be married, are detained, pending an investigation.

Her brother Fred, returning home at a yesterday morning, found her lying on the floor of her bedroom, her skull crushed in by blows from a hammer. The hammer, which belonged in the flat, lay beside her body.

Ambulance Surgeon Train who was called in by the police, said the girl had been dead for more than two hours at least and probably for a longer period. She had been murdered where she lay near her bed. She was fully dressed.

What interested the detectives more than anything else, however, was a black mask with a green curtain to cover the lower portion of the face, which was found between the girl's body and the door leading from her bedroom.

The room, with the hammer lying beside the dead girl, told a story which, in itself would have sufficed to convict. A chair knocked over at the left side of the face was a mass of blood. It was impossible to tell how many times the murderer had wielded the deadly hammer.

A fact which puzzles the police is that though the Scharn apartment was surrounded on all sides by living people, not one of them heard the sound of any struggle. No quarreling or loud voices were heard. There were persons in the apartments overhead all the evening who did not retire until an hour before midnight.

After hearing the brother's story, the police went in search of Lincoln Price, who, according to the police, was engaged to the girl. They found him at his home. In his pocket was a letter written by Miss Scharn, making an engagement to meet him at the elevated station at both street and 3d avenue at 7:30 Saturday night.

Price said he had gone to the appointed place to meet Miss Scharn and that she had failed to appear. He said he waited for fifteen or twenty minutes then went away. They had intended to visit Miss Kuhn.

He was held on suspicion.

So deep did the mystery become in the afternoon that more than a score of policemen in the precinct and eight detectives were employed to unravel the mystery.

The case is looked upon as the most important that has engaged the attention of the police since the Kronsam murder, which it resembles in many details. It was only about two blocks from the Scharn apartments that the murder of Maude Cunningham occurred.

Home Guaranty Insurance Co. Troubles

ARE NOT ALL OVER AS YET

Stockholders to Bring the Matter in Court

The Commercial Bulletin publishes the following regarding the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company of this city:

Trouble is brewing over the affairs of the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company, which in February, 1899, reinsured its outstanding risks in the New Hampshire Fire.

The Home was organized in 1895 as a mutual fire company with a guaranty capital of $50,000. It was unfortunate in business, and its first report to the insurance department showed a credit balance of but $2000. The following year the company showed an impairment which finally led to reinsurance.

The stockholders, having dropped $50,000 of their money in this little dalliance with the fire business, cast about for a way in which to recoup themselves, and struck upon the novel idea of assessing the policyholders a sufficient amount to make good the leanness in the treasury.

Accordingly the directors levied an assessment of 50 per cent. of the premiums, and their attorney is about to bring suit for its collection. This result is a stormy protest from the policyholders, who were greatly surprised that a company with a guaranty capital could make an assessment while any of the capital remained.

The law which permits the stockholders to make good impaired capital in this manner also provides in Section 49 that any person interested in the company as an officer, policyholder or creditor, may apply to the supreme judicial court to examine the assessment, the necessity therefor, and to ratify, amend or annul.

Policyholders who expect to be sued for the amount of this assessment have determined to do a little fighting on their own account. To this end they have combined forces and are about to apply to the court for an examination according to the law above quoted.

This will be the first time such a case has come up in this state. The Commonwealth Fire assessment was not complicated with any guaranty capital.

In a discussion of the Home's case Insurance Commissioner Cutting says in this year's report: "It seems proper that this provision which gives the directors of a guaranty capital company authority to levy upon the policyholders to make good impairment of capital, should be stricken from the law, and capital, whether stock, or guaranty, be made to perform its proper function of standing between the policyholder and loss. If it is to have the profits of the business it should share the risk."

THE NEW WOMAN

Cardinal Gibbons Speaks on Rights and Duties

HE QUOTES FROM THE SCRIPTURES

To Indicate Her Place in the World

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—In a vigorous and eloquent sermon Cardinal Gibbons, preaching to a large and fashionable congregation of summer residents at Southampton, L. I., yesterday morning, referred pointedly to the "new woman" and the shortcomings of women of the social set.

The cardinal, by inference rather than by set words, gave his auditors to understand that he had no sympathy with the woman advocates of woman's rights.

"The Holy Spirit in the Old Testament," he said, "pays a beautiful and well-merited tribute to woman and to woman's position in society. 'Who shall find a valiant woman?' say the scriptures, indicating that woman should be found attending to her domestic duties rather than mingling in the strife of the world.

"What is it the Holy Spirit commends in woman?

"Does he admire her because of her social triumphs, because she is a brilliant leader in society?

"Does he commend her because she is an advocate of certain so-called female privileges?

"Does he commend her because she goes about from place to place, ascending here a rostrum and there a rostrum and avocating the rights and privileges of women?

"Not at all. The Holy Spirit does over that she is simply a loving wife, and affectionate mother, a benevolent mistress to the members of her household, as the guardian of the domestic arrangements she is ever faithful, she looks well to the requirements of her household and she does not eat her meat in idleness. She attends to the little things of this life and she does them well."

When the fact is taken into consideration that Southampton is a summer resort for the ultra fashionable set, it can be readily understood that the cardinal's pointed references to the follies of society women were received with seriousness and attention. Little else was discussed in fashionable circles in Southampton yesterday.

The announcement that Cardinal Gibbons would preach at high mass in the church of the Sacred Heart at 10 a. m. had the effect of drawing an enormous congregation to the beautiful little church. Many persons prominent in society attended who are members of other religious bodies.

Three special cars ran every half hour to the grove and they were all crowded to their utmost capacity. The grove covers quite an area of ground, but it was not any too large for the large gathering.

ATCHISON, Kas., Aug. 20.—Funeral services over the body of Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls were held yesterday afternoon at Trinity Episcopal church and subsequently interment was made in the family vault in Mount Vernon cemetery. Owing to the request of the family for privacy there was no great throng at the services.

The exercises were very simple. Chopin's funeral march was played as the coffin was borne into the church. The Episcopal service was read and a vested choir of men and boys sang.

Ex-Senator W. A. Peffer, who succeeded Mr. Ingalls, Judge W. A. Johnston of the supreme court, and A. A. Goddard, attorney-general, were among those who attended the services in the church.

THE S. C. W.

HELD A RUN TO WALTHAM YESTERDAY.

Yesterday morning opened fair and bright and the members of the Spindle City Wheelmen were on hand early. Of course the racers were not anxiously interested in the run, for theirs is a different sphere. The members to the number number of 40 or thereabouts were at the rooms of the club shortly before 7 o'clock and the start was made a few minutes after this hour. The destination of the run was the city of Waltham.

The following officers were in command of the party: Captain, H. H. Farr; first lieutenant, J. E. Gove; second lieutenant, E. A. Lytaker; third lieutenant, T. Brown; color bearer, W. A. Scott. The mascot was the same old Vaselin who has officiated in a like capacity several times. The run was a great success at least so those say who had the good fortune to participate therein. The riders returned to Lowell shortly after 6 o'clock, tired, but still joyful.

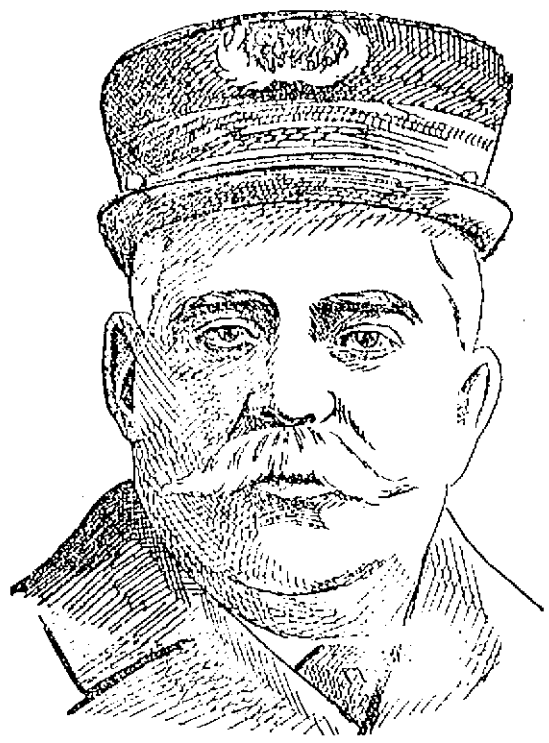
Bread dyspepsia is common. It effects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper. Up under the shell of the wheat berry, Nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the intestinal juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape sugar, which is the next form; but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so Nature's valuable digestor is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that Nature intended.

Small wonder that appendicitis, pertonitis, constipation and all sorts of trouble exist, when we go so contrary to Nature's law. The food experts that perfected Grape-Nuts Food, knowing these facts, made use, in their experiments, of the entire wheat barley, including all the parts and subjected them to moisture, and long continued warmth, which allows time and the proper conditions for developing the diastase, outside of the human body.

In this way the starchy part is transformed into grape sugar in a perfectly natural manner, without the use of chemicals or any outside ingredients. The little sparkling crystals of grape sugar can be seen on the pieces of Grape-Nuts. This food, therefore, is naturally predigested and its use in place of bread will quickly correct the troubles that have been brought about by the too free use of starch in the food, and that is very common in the human race today.

The effect of eating Grape-Nuts ten days or two weeks, and the discontinuance of ordinary white bread, is very marked. The user will gain rapidly in strength and physical and mental health.



CITY MARSHAL JAMES T. O'SULLIVAN OF LAWRENCE.

ONE OF THE FINEST

City Marshal J. O'Sullivan of Lawrence

In 1884 After Exchange of Bullets

NOW WEAVING A CHAIN OF EVIDENCE

Against the Cold Spring Brewery Burglars

The Sun today presents the portrait of the popular and efficient city marshal of Lawrence, James T. O'Sullivan. His popularity as "one of the finest" is not confined to Lawrence nor the old Bay state, but to the wild and woody west and in Canada, where he did excellent service as a representative of the famous Wood's detective agency. He has also handled many important arrests in Lawrence, notably in 1884, when the notorious Johnny Dobbs gangs visited the "Spicket" city. This desperate gang was run down by Marshal O'Sullivan after a fierce battle and the exchange of several pistol shots. Some of the gang died within prison walls. This exploit was considered to be one of the best in criminal annals and Marshal O'Sullivan received flattering newspaper notices from the press throughout the country for his cleverness and bravery. Another case of recent occurrence which again brought Marshal O'Sullivan to the prominence was that of the night of July 2, the present year. It will be remembered that the Cold Spring brewery of Lawrence was visited by five desperate fellows, wearing masks and fully armed. They overpowered and securely bound the engineer and night watchman, and leisurely proceeded to ransack the premises, blowing the safe to atoms and securing a large sum of money. The Cold Spring burglars made good their escape, but, when, a few days later, two desperate characters were arrested at Dover, N. H., for murder, it occurred to Marshal O'Sullivan and Inspector Sheehan that the two men under arrest in the Granite City might be those who visited the Cold Spring brewery.

After investigation, a chain of evidence was woven around the burglars, not only to connect them with the crime of the Cold Spring brewery but with the South Berwick, Me., bank robbery. Two of the five had been since their incarceration in Dover have been identified as having broken jail at Sherbrooke, Can., last April. One of the number, John Brooks alias John Williams, alias Howard Brooks, charged with the murder of John McNabb and Dobbins of Dover, N. H., the night of July 1, has been further identified as the man who purchased of Walter Gage, a hardware clerk, a coil of copper wire the day previous to the South Berwick break.

The wire purchased was the same as was used in binding Frank Nason of that town, who happened along the street in the vicinity of the bank a short time before the break. The same kind of wire was also used in binding the engineer and watchman at the Cold Spring brewery, the night of July 2.

THE LABOR UNIONS

Favor Municipal Plant for Smooth Paving

THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR LABOR DAY

Positions in Line and the Prizes Offered

The Trades and Labor council held a long and interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, and considerable business of importance was transacted. The drawing for position in line was held and resulted as follows:

First division will be made up from delegates from the various unions.

Second division—Carders and Pickers, 1; Loomfixers, 2; Cotton Weavers, 3; Wooden Spinners, 4; Mule Spinners, 5; Print Workers, 6; Knitters, 7; Brussels Weavers, 8.

Third division — Boilermakers, 1; Painters, 2; Plumbers, 3; Stonemasons, 4; Steam and Gasfitters, 5; Carpenters, 6; Plasterers, 7; Electrical Workers, 8; Iron Moulders, 9; Lathers, 10; Building Laborers, 11.

Fourth division—Leather Shavers, 1; Bartenders 2; International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, 3; Typographical, 4; Printing Pressmen, 5; Leather Workers, 6; Horseshoers, 7.

The organizing committee reported that they had organized the brick pavers and a committee was appointed to help the new union along. Several communications were read and received proper attention.

A memorial to the mayor and members of the city government was adopted, opening with an extract from the constitution and by-laws of the Trades and Labor council:

"All municipal work to be performed directly by the municipality without the intervention of contractors."

The memorial says in part: The position of union labor and labor organizations of all kinds is in the public ownership of public utilities, and

Our city government is at present considering a proposition to borrow $12,000 for the purpose of macadamizing certain of our public streets, and

We feel that the work of paving our streets is one which should be performed by our municipality. Therefore,

The Trades and Labor council of the city of Lowell concludes that the time is very opportune for the establishment, by our city, of a plant for the smooth paving of our public streets; and we request our honorable mayor and city government to take steps to accomplish the above object.

We think that if the question, "Shall the city of Lowell establish, own and operate a plant for the purpose of the smooth paving of our streets," be submitted to the voters to pass judgment on at the polls next December, they would vote practically unanimously in favor of the prospect, and we here ask for limited labor that such a course be pursued.

LABOR DAY COMMITTEE.

Immediately after the regular meeting the Labor Day committee met and transacted considerable business. It was voted to give $10 to the union turning out the best float, and $20 for the second, providing three or more turn out.

A SERIOUS FIRE

At the Tremont and Suffolk Mills

What might have proven a very serious fire started in the woolen department of the Tremont and Suffolk mills Saturday morning. The fire started in a picker and was carried up stairs to the upper rooms through a blow pipe.

There was no city alarm given on account of the closing week of the mill department, which very shortly after the fire started had several streams of water playing on the blaze.

The damage by water was considerable and for a while it looked as if that portion of the mill was doomed. The fire, however, was confined to the picker house. The loss will probably exceed $10,000.

POWER'S STORY

Says His Trial Was a Judicial Farce

HE HAS NO APOLOGY TO MAKE

Says History of State Was Blackened

By Associated Press to The Sun.

To the public: I am asked my opinion concerning my trial and the verdict of the jury. Could I have but one opinion? Can any fair-minded man or woman of this state have but one? That one of the greatest judicial farces known to history has been enacted here in my trial under the forms of law no well-informed man can doubt. Innocence is no shield with one hundred thousand dollars and the methods of Campellism against you. The rectitude of one's past life counts for naught. They say Taylor is guilty because he was in his office and that I am guilty because I was away from mine. This has been a political trial throughout for political purposes, and no greater mistake has been made by the democratic party since they robbed us of the offices to which we were fairly elected by the people. There are good men and noble women in the democratic party and many of them. They are not all bad. Far from it; a great many of them do not endorse the theft of the state offices. A great many more will not endorse this mockery of a trial this prostitution of the courts of justice for certain ends. From the beginning of the campaign until now I have stood with what little of merit I have had for the rights and liberties of the people. That is my crime. That is the only offense I have committed. That is the only thing proven against me. I swore to that myself in my testimony. I have never had, and I now have no apology to take for being true to the trust imposed upon me by a majority of the voters of this state. History will draw its dark lines around those who have outraged me and disgraced the judiciary and blackened the history of the state.

I am very respectfully,
(Signed) CALEB POWERS.

ETTA WARREN HELD

Her Bail Was Fixed at Three Hundred Dollars

She Will be Arraigned in Court Tomorrow Morning — Man Fined $50 for Illegally Keeping Liquor

Etta H. Warren, mother of the child abandoned at the house of John H. Stackpole last Wednesday night and who was arrested by Inspector Allen in Nashua, Saturday night, had a private hearing prior to the opening of the police court session this morning. She was taken to Judge Hadley's private office and was represented by D. J. Donahue, Esq. She was held in $300 till tomorrow, at which time her sister will also be arraigned. She did not like the idea of being checked in a cell. She rides a wheel and apparently was as solicitous about her wheel as anything else. She acknowledges she is the mother of the child and also says she abandoned it. She feels that she did nothing wrong and holds herself entirely blameless of intending to wrong or injure the baby.

She is a very pretty woman, 22 years of age, and was neatly dressed. She expects to get bail. The father of the child has been telegraphed for and it is hoped he will be on hand tomorrow. The woman is confident that a request from her will bring Woods to Lowell. He is 29 years of age and it is said he has several times proposed marriage, but she refused. It is understood that she has no serious objection to marrying him, but thinks he is too young to assume the responsibilities of married life.

DRUNKS FINED.

George Chave was stupidly drunk in Dracut last night. He was so drunk that as the saying goes, "he had not a leg under him," and was practically helpless. He stumbled along the roadway and fell across the electric road tracks and proceeded to enjoy peaceful slumber. Electric cars did not disturb him in the least and had he been allowed to remain on the tracks much longer he would have been run over. People who saw him got Officer George F. Corson and asked him to arrest the man. Chave was placed in a wagon and taken to the police station. During the journey he never woke up. In court this morning he was fined $5.

FINED $5.

Inspector Hoadley, Officers Atkinson, and Farrell visited the house of Michael Tudor, four of 51 Tucker street, yesterday and found six men drinking there. They seized a keg of beer and arrested Tudor. In court he pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

The following first offenders were fined $5 each: William F. Warren, John J. Brennan, Charles J. Myett, Alfred Prevost, Walter Hall.

Patrick J. Duffy, a second offender was fined $5. Six other drunks were released.

Patrick J. Fay was fined $20 for assault on Mrs. McIntire and the charge of drunkenness against him was placed on file. Mrs. McIntire said that the defendant went to her house and wanted to fight her husband. She interfered and ordered him away. Then Fay pushed and struck her. She said he was drunk. Pat claimed that he remembered nothing of an assault on the woman.

Mary E. Clare was in Lost November and paid a fine of $5. Today she was sent to jail for twenty days.

Mary Cleary was released last time she appeared in court for drunkenness. On this occasion she got a residence of twenty days in the work house.

LALLY FINED $50.

The continued case of Frank J. Lally was called. Lally was charged with the larceny of jewelry from Arthur R. Wilson. The only witness called was Inspector Allen who made the arrest and after hearing his testimony, Judge Hadley imposed a fine of $50.

SMOOTH PAVING

To be Delayed for Another Week

Work is at a standstill on the smooth pavement job in Market street and it will probably be a week before it is resumed. The recent rain caused trouble in the cement that has been already laid to such a depth that the top covering cannot be started until the under layer is perfectly dry.

Harry Doherty, who has charge of the work, stated to a Sun reporter that the cement may be added toward the latter part of the week and that the men will then start on the top coating.

The only work that is being done today is on the conduits of the Lowell Electric Light Company and the Western Union company.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE

EARLY THIS MORNING IN AUBURN STREET.

A still alarm at 2.30 o'clock this morning summoned Hose 7 of Central street to a small fire in the 3 story tenement house at 5 Auburn street. The fire started in the kitchen and burned the edge of the wall and part of the ceiling. It is a mystery to the firemen and occupants of tenement how the fire started. The people who reside in the house were awakened by the crackling sound of the fire and they immediately notified the proper authorities.

The damage will not amount to over $25. The building was owned by H. B. Hill.

FIRES BEING INVESTIGATED.

Fire Marshal's Assistant Scott was in town this morning. He went to Dracut to investigate some of the recent fires in that town.

EXCURSION PARTY

TO OLD ORCHARD HAD A SPECIAL TRAIN.

Agent Tuft of the Boston & Maine R. R. takes exception to the statement of Mr. Brooks, that no special train was furnished for the excursion party to Old Orchard on Thursday. The party was not nearly as large as it would have been had the weather been favorable, but nevertheless a special train was furnished and made excellent time on the trip to and from the beach.

Notwithstanding the rain those who took in the excursion were delighted with their day's outing. The company run the excursion just as advertised.

MINING WAR

IN PROGRESS AT CANAEA, SONORA.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 18.—A message has been received here telling of another mining war in Canaea, Sonora. Several years ago a man named Lindsay located a mine group known as the Lindsay claims. About the same time a man named Greene was engaged in locating claims in the same vicinity and disputes as to the boundaries which have never been settled, arose. Something ago Lindsay disposed of his claims to an Indiana syndicate including Senator Fairbanks and Mayor Taggart of Indianapolis. Greene's adverse claim was known to the syndicate and a representative was sent to the City of Mexico in the interest of the purchasers. At the same time Greene took possession but the syndicate procured a court order putting Lindsay in possession. The judge of the court accompanied Lindsay to Canaea but an armed force, directed by Greene, prevented the execution of the order. A report of the affair was sent to Arispitio and 50 armed men left there Wednesday to assist in carrying out the orders of the court.

BOXING GOSSIP

In a circular sent out by the committee in charge of the testimonial to John L. Sullivan, it is said:

As a fitting tribute to the honesty, ability and ability of the man who raised boxing from obscurity and elevated it to the highest plane of athletics, the sport-loving public of America has decided to give John L. Sullivan a grand testimonial in Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening, Aug. 29, the night prior to the battle between Corbett and McCoy. It is hoped that the followers of boxing and sport in general will contribute generously, so that in his old age the king of pugilists can rest in peace and contentment.

The gentlemen who are to engineer this movement do not intend to hand the proceeds to Mr. Sullivan to dispose of as he sees fit; on the contrary, a committee of responsible business men will be appointed to handle the funds and place them in trust for the ex-champion, so that the money will be drawing interest. Not a penny can be drawn by the recipient of the testimonial until the committee is satisfied that the money is really needed and then the amount will be named.

When Tom Sayers, the champion of England retired from the ring, by general subscription an amount so large that he lived off the interest, was raised. Between Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Sayers there was no comparison. One was an ordinary pugilist, and the other a world-beater, and the father of the modern style or new school of fighting.

Mr. Sullivan endeared himself to every admirer of clean and honest sport, and it behooves those admirers now to show their appreciation, not alone for Mr. Sullivan's benefit, but as an incentive to honesty for those who are to follow.

As Lawrence at the present time supports an athletic club which gives boxing as a feature of its meetings, it is suggested that Lawrence would be a good place for Patsey Haley and Billy Gardner to have their contemplated match. The pair would draw well from Boston and Lowell, particularly from Lowell, besides the home city and the Lawrence club bringing them there would undoubtedly realize a good thing on it.

George Gardner, a well posted authority, says, may have some difficulty in clinching a match in England. The British lads at the present time are overrun with American boxers seeking matches, while what few English boxers of note there are there are rather shy of Americans, for in nine cases out of 10 the American licks his English brother. There is some talk of Gardner going up against the French champion, but he would be foolish to do it, as he knows nothing about the French style, which permits the use of the feet as well as the hands. In the last fight won by the French champion, he put his man out with a kick into the chin. You can search me to explain just how he did it, but that was the report. If Gardner went up against him the Bonhomme might give him a funny kick in the ear while he is swinging on him. The only way to tackle the Frenchman would be Joe Walcott and you couldn't lick him with an axe.

POLICE BAFFLED

HER HEAD CRUSHED WITH A HAMMER

Her Brother and Lover Under Arrest

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mystery surrounding the murder of pretty Kate Sclaun at 534 2d avenue has thus far baffled the skill of the detectives who are trying to find the assassin. Her brother and the young man to whom she was engaged to be married, are detained, pending investigation.

Her brother Fred, returning home at yesterday morning, found her lying on the floor of her bedroom, her skull crushed in blows from a hammer. The hammer, which belonged in the flat, lay beside her body.

Ambulance Surgeon Train who was called in by the police, said the girl had been dead for more than two hours, at least, probably for a longer period.

She lay face downward on the floor near her bed. She was fully dressed.

What interested the detectives more than anything else, however, was a black mask with a green curtain to cover the lower portion of the face, which was found between the girl's body and the door beside it, but not between.

The lower part of the hammer had been dealt with considerably by the murderer, who used the back of the head, not the face of the steel, which had fallen to the floor on the brain. From its position it looked as if it was the last blow struck. During the body over a second time, the back of the hammer was found to be bloody, a wound which in itself would have been sufficient to cause death. A third blow had shattered the left jaw bone.

The entire left side of the face was a mass of bruises. It was impossible to tell how many times the murderer had struck the deadly hammer.

A fact which puzzles the police is that though the Schaun apartment was surrounded on all sides by living people, not one of them heard the sound of any scuffle. No quarreling or loud voices were heard. There were persons in the apartment overhead all the evening who did not retire until an hour before midnight.

After hearing the brother's story, the police went in search of Lincoln Price, who, according to the police, was engaged to the girl. They found him at his home. In his pocket was a letter written by Miss Schaun, making an engagement to meet him at the elevated station at 105th street and 3d avenue at 7.30 Saturday night.

Price said he had gone to the appointed place to meet Miss Schaun and that she had failed to appear. He said he waited for fifteen or twenty minutes then went away. They had intended to visit Miss Kuhn.

He was held on suspicion.

So deep did the mystery become in the afternoon that more than a score of policemen in the precinct and eight detectives were employed to unravel the mystery.

The case is looked upon as the most important that has engaged the attention of the police since the Kronman murder, which it resembles in many details. It was only about two blocks from the Schaun apartments that the murder of Mamie Cunningham occurred.

Stockholders to Bring the Matter in Court

The Commercial Bulletin publishes the following regarding the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company of this city:

Trouble is brewing over the affairs of the Home Guaranty Mutual Insurance company, which in February, 1899, reinsured its outstanding risks in the New Hampshire Fire.

The Home was organized in 1895 as a mutual fire company with a guaranty capital of $50,000. It was unfortunate in business, and its first report to the insurance department showed a credit balance of but $2,500. The following year the company showed an impairment which finally led to reinsurance.

The stockholders, having dropped $30,000 of their money in this little dalliance with the fire business, cast about for a way in which to recoup themselves, and struck upon the novel idea of assessing the policyholders a sufficient amount to make good the leanness in the treasury.

Accordingly the directors levied an assessment of 80 per cent. of the premiums, and their attorney is about to bring suit for its collection. This result is a stormy protest from the policyholders, who were greatly surprised that a company with a guaranty capital could make an assessment while any of the capital remained.

The law which permits the stockholders to make good impaired capital in this manner also provides in Section 49 that any person interested in the company as an officer, policyholder or creditor, may apply to the supreme judicial court to examine the assessment, the necessity therefor, and to ratify, amend or annul.

Policyholders who expect to be sued for the amount of this assessment have determined to do a little fighting on their own account. To this end they have combined forces and are about to apply to the court for an examination according to the law above quoted.

This will be the first time such a case has come up in this state. The Commonwealth Fire assessment was not complicated with any guaranty capital.

In a discussion of the Home's case Insurance Commissioner Cutting says in this year's report: "It seems proper that this provision which gives the directors of a guaranty capital company authority to levy upon the policyholders to make good impairment of capital, should be stricken from the law, and capital, whether stock, or guaranty, be made to perform its proper function of standing between the policyholder and loss. If it is to have the profits of the business it should share the risk."

THE NEW WOMAN

Cardinal Gibbons Speaks on Rights and Duties

HE QUOTES FROM THE SCRIPTURES

To Indicate Her Place in the World

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—In a vigorous and eloquent sermon Cardinal Gibbons, preaching to a large and fashionable congregation of summer residents at Southampton, L. I., yesterday morning, referred pointedly to the "new woman" and the shortcomings of women of the social set.

The cardinal, by inference rather than by set words, gave his auditors to understand that he had no sympathy with the woman advocates of woman's rights.

"The Holy Spirit in the Old Testament," he said, "pays a beautiful and well-merited tribute to woman and to woman's position in society, 'Who shall find a valiant woman?' say the scriptures, indicating that woman should be found attending to her domestic duties rather than mingling in the strife of the world.

"What is it the Holy Spirit commends in woman?

"Does he admire her because of her social triumphs, because she is a brilliant leader in society?

"Does he commend her because she is an advocate of certain so-called female privileges?

"Does he commend her because she goes about from place to place, ascending here a rostrum and there a rostrum and advocating the rights and privileges of women?

"Not at all. The Holy Spirit does aver that she is simply a loving wife, and affectionate mother, a benevolent mistress to the members of her household; as the guardian of the domestic arrangements she is ever faithful, she looks well to the requirements of her household and she does not eat her meat in idleness. She attends to the little things of this life and she does them well."

When the fact is taken into consideration that Southampton is a summer resort for the ultra fashionable set, it can be readily understood that the cardinal's pointed references to the foibles of society women were received with seriousness and attention. Little else was discussed in fashionable circles in Southampton yesterday.

The announcement that Cardinal Gibbons would preach at high mass in the church of the Sacred Heart at 10 a. m. had the effect of drawing an enormous congregation to the beautiful little church. Many persons prominent in society attended who are members of other religious bodies.

LOWELL MILLS

ATHERTON WILL PAY PREFERRED CREDITORS 100 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.

The Lowell Machine Shop, Lowell, has 200 men on its pay roll working full time in all of the shops and in some departments extra.

Treasurer Wood of the American Woolen company, who has been criticised lately for guaranteeing prices which are considered low, everything considered, for the balance of the year, states that the sales of the American Woolen company on lightweight goods are progressing satisfactorily as compared with the presidential year four years ago. The condition of the mills for orders is certainly 50 per cent. better and the prospects are that all of the mills, with one or two exceptions, will receive their full complement of orders. The policy adopted by the company of naming very low prices and guaranteeing the same for the remainder of this year, has proven a sound one, as the above results will show.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

The Lowell Textile council held its first grand picnic and field day at Belle Grove Saturday afternoon and it was a success socially and financially. Three special cars ran every half hour to the grove and they were all crowded to their utmost capacity. The grove covers quite an area of ground, but it was not any too large for the large gathering.

The various facilities for amusement were freely utilized and the dance hall was crowded.

In the evening the dance hall was the scene of gay and with Hillman's orchestra in attendance, dancing was enjoyed till 2:30, when the number of special cars took the happy party back to Lowell.

The picnic was in every respect a success.

The officers were as follows: General manager, D. J. Morrow; assistant, J. T. Collins; floor director, M. Casey; assistant, Robert Conroy; chief aid, Thomas O'Beirne; secretary, Thomas D. Connolly.

SIMPLE SERVICE

FUNERAL OF EX-SENATOR INGALLS HELD YESTERDAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ATCHISON, Kas., Aug. 20. Funeral services over the body of Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls were held yesterday afternoon at Trinity Episcopal church and subsequently interment was made in the family vault in Mount Vernon cemetery. Owing to the request of the family for privacy there was no great throng at the services.

The exercises were very simple. Chopin's funeral march was played as the coffin was borne into the church. The Episcopal service was read and a vested choir of men and boys sang.

Ex-Senator W. A. Peffer, who succeeded Mr. Ingalls, Judge W. A. Johnson of the supreme court, and A. A. Godbard, attorney-general, were among those who attended the services in the church.

Judge A. C. Otis a close business and personal associate of Mr. Ingalls, estimates the ex-senator's fortune at $250,000.

THE S. C. W.

HELD A RUN TO WALTHAM YESTERDAY.

Yesterday morning opened fair and bright and the members of the Spindle City Wheelmen were on hand early. Of course the racers were not anxiously interested in the run, for theirs is a different sphere. The members to the number/number of 40 or thereabouts were at the rooms of the club shortly before 7 o'clock and the start was made a few minutes after this hour. The destination of the run was the city of Waltham.

The following officers were in command of the party: Captain, H. H. Parr; first lieutenant, J. E. Gove; second lieutenant, E. A. Lynde; third lieutenant, T. Brown; color bearer, W. A. Scott. The parson was the same old Vassolis who has officiated in a like capacity several times. The run was a great success, at least so those say who had the good fortune to participate therein. The riders returned to Lowell shortly after 6 o'clock, tired, but still joyful.

Bread dyspepsia is common. It affects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper. Up under the shell of the wheat berry, Nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the intestinal juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape sugar, which is the next form; but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so Nature's valuable digestor is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that Nature intended.

Small wonder that appendicitis, peritonitis, constipation and all sorts of trouble exist, when we go so contrary to Nature's law. The food experts that perfected Grape-Nuts food, knowing these facts, made use, in their experiments, of the entire wheat barley, including all the parts and subjected them to moisture, and long continued warmth, which allows time and the proper conditions for developing the diastase, outside of the human body.

In this way the starchy part is transformed into grape sugar in a perfectly natural manner, without the use of chemicals or any outside ingredients. The little sparkling crystals of grape sugar can be seen on the pieces of Grape-Nuts. This food, therefore, is naturally predigested and its use in place of bread will quickly correct the troubles that have been brought about by the too free use of starch in the food, and that is very common in the human race today.

The effect of eating Grape-Nuts ten days or two weeks, and the discontinuance of ordinary white bread, is very marked. The user will gain rapidly in strength and physical and mental health.

CITY MARSHAL JAMES T. O'SULLIVAN OF LAWRENCE.

ONE OF THE FINEST

City Marshal J. O'Sullivan of Lawrence

In 1884 After Exchange of Bullets

NOW WEAVING A CHAIN OF EVIDENCE

Against the Cold Spring Brewery Burglars

The Sun today presents the portrait of the popular and efficient city marshal of Lawrence, James T. O'Sullivan. His popularity as "one of the finest" is not confined to Lawrence nor the old bay state, but to the wild and wooly west and in Canada, where he did excellent service as a representative of the famous Wood's detective agency. He has also figured in many important arrests in Lawrence, notably in 1884, when the notorious Johnny Dobbs gangs visited the "Spicket" city. This desperate gang was run down by Marshal O'Sullivan after a fierce battle and the exchange of several pistol shots. Some of the gang died within prison walls. This exploit brought Marshal O'Sullivan into prominence was that of the night of July 2, the present year. It will be remembered that the Cold Spring brewery of Lawrence was visited by five desperate fellows, wearing masks and fully armed. They overpowered and securely bound the engineer and night watchman, and leisurely proceeded to ransack the premises, blowing the safe to pieces and securing a large sum of money. The Cold Spring burglars made good their escape but, when, a few days later, two desperate characters were arrested at Dover, N. H. for murder, it occurred to Marshal O'Sullivan and Inspector Sheehan that the five men under arrest in the Granite state might be those who visited the Cold Spring brewery.

After investigation a chain of evidence was wound around the burglars, not only to connect them with the crime at the Cold Spring brewery but with the South Berwick, Me., bank robbery. Two of the five bad men since their incarceration in Dover have been identified as having broken jail at Shrewsbury, Can., last April. One of the number, John Brooker, alias John Wilson, alias Howard Brooks, charged with the murder of John McNally and Dobbins of Dover, N. H., the night of July 4, has been further identified as the man who purchased of Walter Gage, a hardware clerk, a roll of copper wire the day previous to the South Berwick break.

The wire purchased was the same as was used in hauling Frank Nason of that town, who happened along the street in the vicinity of the bank a short time before the break. The same kind of wire was also used in hauling the engineer and watchman at the Cold Spring brewery, the night of July 2.

THE LABOR UNIONS

Favor Municipal Plant for Smooth Paving

THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR LABOR DAY

Positions in Line and the Prizes Offered

The Trades and Labor council held a long and interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, and considerable business of importance was transacted. The drawing for position in line was held and decided as follows:

First division will be made up from delegates from the various unions.

Second division—Carders and Pickers, 1; Loomfixers, 2; Cotton Weavers, 3; Wooden Spinners, 4; Mule Spinners, 5; Print Workers, 6; Knitters, 7; Brussels Weavers, 8.

Third division — Boilermakers, 1; Painters, 2; Plumbers, 3; Stonemasons, 4; Steam and Gasfitters, 5; Carpenters, 6; Plasterers, 7; Electrical Workers, 8; Iron Moulders, 9; Lathers, 10; Building Laborers, 11.

Fourth division—Leather Shavers, 1; Bartenders 2; International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, 3, Typographical, 4; Printing Pressmen, 5; Leather Workers, 6; Horseshoers, 7.

The organizing committee reported that they had organized the Cloth pavers and a committee was appointed to help the new union along. Several communications were read and received proper attention.

A memorial to the mayor and members of the city government was adopted, opening with an extract from the constitution and by-laws of the Trades and Labor council:

"All municipal work to be performed directly by the municipality without the intervention of contractors."

The memorial says in effect: The position of united labor and labor organizations of all kinds is the public ownership of public utilities, and

Our city government is at present considering a proposition to borrow $12,000 for the purpose of splendid paving certain of our public streets, and

We feel that the work of paving our streets is one which should be performed by our municipality. Therefore,

The Trades and Labor council of the city of Lowell concludes that the time is very opportune for the establishment, by our city, of a plant for the smooth paving of our public streets; and we request our honorable mayor and city government to take steps to accomplish the above object.

We think that if the question, "Shall the city of Lowell establish, own and operate a plant for the purpose of the smooth paving of our streets," be submitted to the voters to pass judgment on at the polls next December, they would vote practically unanimously in favor of the prospect, and we here ask for united labor that such a course be pursued.

A SERIOUS FIRE

At the Tremont and Suffolk Mills

What might have proven a very serious fire started in the woolen department of the Tremont and Suffolk mills Saturday morning. The fire started in a picker and was carried up stairs to the upper rooms through a blow pipe.

There was no city alarm given on account of the clever work of the mill department, which very shortly after the fire started had several streams of water playing on the blaze.

The damage by water was considerable and for a while it looked as if that portion of the mill was doomed. The fire, however, was confined to the picker house. The loss will probably exceed $10,000.

POWER'S STORY

Says His Trial Was a Judicial Farce

HE HAS NO APOLOGY TO MAKE

Says History of State Was Blackened

By Associated Press to The Sun.

To the public: I am asked my opinion concerning my trial and the verdict of the jury. Could I have but one opinion? Can any fair-minded man or woman of this state have but one? That one of the greatest judicial farces known to history has been enacted here in my trial under the forms of law no well-informed man can doubt. Innocence is no shield with one hundred thousand dollars and the methods of Campbellism against you. The recital of one's past life counts for naught. They say Taylor is guilty because he was in his office and that I am guilty because I was away from mine. This has been a political trial throughout for political purposes, and no greater mistake has been made by the democratic party since they robbed us of the offices to which we were fairly elected by the people. There are good men and noble women in the democratic party and many of them. They are not all bad. Far from it; a great many of them do not endorse the theft of the state offices. A great many more will not endorse this mockery of a trial this prostitution of the courts of justice for certain ends. From the beginning of the conspiracy until now I have stood with what little of merit I have had for the rights and liberties of the people. That is my crime. That is the only offense I have committed. That is the only thing proven against me. I swore to that myself in my testimony. I have never had, and I now have no apology to take for being true to the trust imposed upon me by a majority of the voters of this state. History will draw its dark lines around those who have outraged me and disgraced the judiciary and blackened the history of the state.

I am very respectfully,

BRYAN'S ELECTION ASSURED.

The indications are multiplying that there will be a landslide at the next national election, a landslide that will bury McKinley and his boodlers, Mark Hanna and the illegal trusts.

The gold democrats who opposed Bryan in 1896 are now out for him, because of the imperial issue and the anti-imperialist ticket will receive the support of a large contingent of the republicans who supported McKinley in 1896. In 1896 the gold democrats had a ticket of their own in the field, a matter which gave great comfort to the republicans. This year the defection is on the republican side on account of imperialism and it is fully as strong as was that of the gold democrats on the opposite side four years ago. Besides, the sentiment in Bryan's favor has grown tremendously within the past four years, and more particularly within the past four months. Nothing has drawn the people so much to Bryan as his firmness in standing for the ratio of 16 to 1. It is not fashionable now, but Bryan knows that it is the natural ratio between the two metals, and that was why he stood by his conviction of right and told Senator Jones that if the democrats wished to drop 16 to 1 they could find another candidate.

That proved that Bryan is a man who cannot be coerced into doing what he believes to be wrong. He cannot be driven from the position he has taken for the preservation of American liberty and American principles. The republicans are determined to meet him and, if possible, defeat him in his own state, but the contrast between their campaign shouters and the calm, cool logical orator and statesman that Bryan is, will bring him victory and bury the republicans in righteous defeat. That will be the result in Nebraska; it will be the same in New York, and ex-President Harrison says Bryan will carry Indiana, while his chances of carrying Illinois are also excellent. Hence, Bryan's election is assured and the republicans realize the fact, but are unwilling to acknowledge it. In order to assist democrats in reckoning Bryan's majority, the electoral vote for president in 1896 is given below:

UNION AND NON-UNION THEATRE.

"A new theatre is being constructed in Utica, the labor upon which is being done by non-union men. As a means of showing their resentment, the union workingmen of the city have decided to build a playhouse of their own, local capitalists agreeing to back the enterprise. Of the details of the scheme when it comes to handling the theatre, we are not informed; but there seems the possibility of an interesting situation. Will the companies which show at the non-union theatre be boycotted, whatever their worth and attractiveness, and will those which appear at the union house be patronized, regardless of their lay-ness, so to speak? More than that, will there be an attempt to enforce a sympathetic and systematic boycott all over the country in the interest of the unions, upon all troupes and divertisements which appear in Utica's non-union theatre?

SPANISH REVIVAL.

So far from being ruined by the loss of her colonies, Spain has been strengthened thereby and is now starting upon an era of prosperity that would be impossible if she had to maintain a war against rebellious colonists. Speaking of this subject, the Boston Transcript sums up the situation as follows:

"For years the Iberian empire was drained of her young men and had to pay $40,000,000 annually to retain her colonies. The strain upon her home resources was so great that the people were taxed to death. Now, more than to a Spanish financial journal, Spain's progressing more rapidly than it has at any time within the last century. The government loan of $47,000,000 was oversubscribed three times. Industries which have been dormant for years are being revived, and considerable traction is making its way into Spanish cities. Spain is still receiving a large share of the products of what were once her colonies, and is buying heavily of machinery from the United States."

Asphaltina was an inferior imitation of the real asphalt for smooth paving purposes. All this was shown to Mayor Crowley at the time of the asphaltina deal, and he was urged to veto the resolution which shut out all competition. He was urged to open the bids to legitimate smooth pavers, who put down the real article and not an imitation, but the influence of "Smooth Bob" was too much for him, and as a result he stood by Bob just a little too long, and now there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Bob did not get the $7000 he expected for his influence in all telling the award and terms of the contract. His Honor finds when too late, that the people are looking into the smooth paving deals.

Senator Hoar blames Bryan for the insurrection in the Philippines; it is but a short time since the republicans blamed Hoar for the war in the Philippines and Edward Atkinson was also implicated. These gentlemen made speeches against the shooting of the Filipinos, but it seems to us that the men who ordered the actual shooting are the men to hold responsible. The speeches of Hoar and the letters of Atkinson were not so deadly as to kill Filipinos on the other side of the globe.

The innate cowardice of the Chinese and their inability to meet any organized army of Europe is demonstrated in the capture of Pekin. The Celestial empire is now at the mercy of the powers and will eventually be brought to a realization of the crimes perpetrated upon foreigners during the past year and especially during the past two months.

Hon. Bourke Cockran is spanking himself in this campaign for what he did in 1896 for the republicans. Mark Hanna is endeavoring, even at this late day, to get a few anti-imperialists to put up a ticket in order to weaken the endorsement of Bryan by the other anti-imperialists.

HEAVY BATTING

Won the Game for the Bostons

TED LEWIS IN GRAND FORM

And Received Fine Support From Fielders

To use the racing vernacular, the Cardinals posted a "place" for the Boston club Saturday afternoon. At the end of nine innings the men from Ruhler Hill had scored nine runs to St. Louis' 1. After two innings of play, the game was delayed 20 minutes on account of a terrific wind and rain storm. When that delayed play was resumed on a slippery field.

Though the Bostons took the lead before the rain, they proved themselves just as clever players on a wet field as on a dry one. Ted Lewis of evangelistic fame, was sent to the rubber by Manager Selee and from the first to the last inning he pitched a hard, steady game of ball, having the St. Louis players at his mercy throughout. His clever slab work was the feature of the game. The support he received was worthy of mention. Long, Hamilton and Duffy played magnificent ball and were in a great way responsible for their team's victory.

"Cy" Young was sent in to do the pitching for St. Louis, but the C. O. M. only withstood the slaughter of the Bostonians two innings, when he was forced to retire in favor of Hughey, who did little better.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0—1

Earned runs, Boston 3. Two base hits, Stahl 2, Collins, Beckley, Wallace, Three base hit, Collins. Double plays Burkett and Criger, Wallace and Morrill. First base on balls, off Young 1, off Hughey 1. Sacrifice hits, Long, Hughey. Passed ball, Criger. Struck out, by Hughey 1, by Lewis 1. Stolen bases, Long 2, Wallace, Hughey. Time of game, 2:00. Umpire, Hurst. Attendance 2500.

The other games resulted as follows:
Pittsburg 8, Brooklyn 4.
Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 0.
New York 3, Chicago 2.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Sarah Davis of No. 2 Coburn place observed her 21st birthday Saturday evening by entertaining a large number of her friends. Vocal and instrumental music added to the pleasures of the occasion. Refreshments were served and games indulged in until a late hour. Miss Davis was remembered with twenty-one beautiful pink roses and an emerald ring set in diamonds. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Davis. The party broke up about midnight after wishing Miss Davis many happy birthdays.

At the Wigginville session last evening Mrs. Nellie Roberts, the well-known contralto of this city, sang by request, in a very pleasing and effective manner "The Dream of Paradise."

TEWKSBURY

The religious meeting on the common at Tewksbury yesterday afternoon was largely attended, there being an unusually large number present from Lowell. The meeting was in charge of Deacon Joshua Clarke who made brief opening remarks followed by a fervent prayer by Superintendent Knowlton of the public schools. A most instructive address was delivered by Mr. J. W. C. Pickering of the Pickering hostery, Lowell, who stated that it was the second occasion in his life that he appeared as a speaker at an open air meeting. He drew a picture from the workshops and factories, contrasting them with the great plan of God and exhorted his hearers to follow in the footsteps of the Master. He said that there was no one within the hearing of his voice, even the greatest sinner, but who could gain salvation if he but sought it. At intervals during the meeting there was orchestral music and Miss Theresa Snell presided at the organ. Miss Jeanette W. Pike rendered as a solo the hymn "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." A trio composed of Miss Stella F. Morrill, contralto, Miss Jeanette W. Pike, soprano, and Mr. H. M. Billings, tenor, sang "The Beautiful Golden Gate." And as a duet Miss Morrill and Miss Pike rendered the hymn "Saved by Grace." Devotional exercises will be held on the common next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Pickering High school will open on Tuesday, Sept. 4, and pupils intending to enter the coming term are requested to appear at the school on the forenoon of that day for examination. The other Tewksbury schools will open on Monday, Sept. 10.

Miss Alice Gookin of the Oakland district, a graduate of the Tewksbury High school, the Lowell Training and the State Normal schools has been appointed as teacher of the Wamesit school to succeed Miss Ida Hunter, who has resigned. Miss Gookin's appointment meets with universal approval and not only her Tewksbury but her Lowell friends, are congratulating her assignment to the position of teacher.

Deacon Enoch Foster who has returned home from his sojourn at Saratoga, New Hampshire and Vermont, is still under the care of a physician, Dr. Randall of Lowell.

Miss Nellie Keating a graduate of the Tewksbury High school, and who taught school in Tyngsboro last term, has been assigned to the Kenwood school at Dracut.

Mr. A. C. Tingley and family have returned from their pleasantly and enjoyable sojourn at Plum Island.

Miss Mary F. Eastman, the noted platform speaker of the Centre, has gone to Truro, Cape Cod, on her annual vacation.

Mr. E. F. Hutchins and friend, Mr. Tier of Lowell, were in attendance at the religious meeting yesterday afternoon as were Messrs. Arthur Sundbury, Kenyon Fallon, Hector O'Heir and John McLaughlin.

Miss Marion Gregg of Fort Hill avenue, Lowell, visited at the residence of Mr. J. W. Fairgrieve, Saturday evening. She was so well received that she expressed a hope on her departure for the Spindle City that she would be received with the same degree of cordiality on her next visit as was evinced on this occasion.

STREET CARS

ALL TO HAVE A NEW WINE COLORED DRESS.

It is reported that all or most all of the street cars are to be painted a sort of wine color, like those on some of the lines in Boston. Cars are being vestibuled as fast as possible in accordance with recent legislation.

The power house and shed in Middlesex Village is stated to be the place of much of the repairing and remodelling for the whole Merrimack Valley system.

There was no one in authority at the street railway office last night, when inquiry was made to verify the above reports.

There was a large traffic on the Boston and Lexington line Saturday afternoon. But some of the passengers experienced inconvenience in having to wait ten minutes or more on turnouts between here and Billerica, then having the long car come back to Lowell while they waited at Billerica for a car to come from Boston and return that way.

CHINESE WAR

The fact that only the Fourteenth infantry and Riley's battery entered the city, as shown by Gen. Chaffee's despatch does not indicate that the Ninth infantry and the marines, who were so conspicuously palaced throughout the advance upon the capital, did not participate in the engagement when resulted directly in the relief of the besieged legationers. It is pointed out as likely that Gen. Chaffee, acting in consonance with the other commanders, divided his force, leaving the Ninth infantry and the marines without the walls of the city to act as a rear guard, to prevent the escape of Chinese troops by other gates than those through which the allies entered or for some other excellent reason. Only two battalions of the Fourteenth regiment are with Gen. Chaffee. They comprise about 800 men. This would indicate that only about one-third of Gen. Chaffee's force actually had entered the city at the time he sent his despatch. The fact that only eight of the Americans were wounded, none being killed, is regarded as notably fortunate.

The startling feature of the despatch is that fighting within the city of Pekin was continuing, according to the natives of Admiral Remey. The inner, or as it is popularly known, the forbidden city, evidently had not been taken. It is surrounded by a massive wall of solid masonry, more than 2 feet high and it is not regarded as surprising that the Chinese should make their final stand within its shadow. Prior to the receipt of the despatch, it was accepted generally as a fact that the Dowager Empress, in company with the emperor and a large suite, had left Pekin, while nothing is said in Admiral Remey's advices as to the whereabouts of the Emperor. It is deemed scarcely probable that he left the city without the Empress Dowager.

Pekin comprises practically four cities in one. The outer of these is about the size of New York city. The four generals of the allies, Chaffee, Gasselee, the Japanese commander, and Field, the British commander, entered by the Chien Men gate, the principal one in the south wall of the Tartar city, the imperial city and the forbidden city. The last is the "Chinese city" mentioned in Admiral Remey's despatch and is the residence of the emperor and the seat of the imperial court. Nobody is allowed within its gates or walls except by special permission of the emperor or empress dowager. The foreigners who have entered its gates are comparatively few in number. The inner city is occupied only by the highest Chinese officials and members and attaches of the imperial court. Further information as to the reported border fight will be awaited with keen interest.

"The foreign forces attacked on the eastern side of Pekin Wednesday morning. The enemy obstinately resisted. In the evening the Japanese blew up the Chiao Yung gate and the Tung Chih gate of the Tartar city and succeeded in entering. In the meantime other foreign forces entered the Chinese city by the Tung Pien gate. Reinforcements were sent immediately to the legations and special commanders. The ministers and staffs were found safe. The Japanese loss was over one hundred, including three officers, namely Captain Medzikra and Lieut. Watanabe wounded, while Lieut. Yasaki was killed. The Chinese loss computed at about 300."

Substantially the information contained in the above despatch was received by the Associated Press yesterday direct from Tokio. It contains the explicit and reassuring statement that the ministers and staffs were found safe.

It is more direct and complete in detail than the American advices received thus far.

EMPRESS WITH 30,000 TROOPS PURSUED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Japanese cavalry has left Pekin in pursuit of the Dowager Empress and her court, according to despatch from the North received at Shanghai by Chinese officials. These despatches say that the Emperor and her immediate train, escorted by 30,000 troops, have already arrived at Wu Tai Sam in Shen Si province.

The Pekin telegraph north of Yang Tsun is interrupted and nothing under Pekin date appears to have reached Yang Tsun since August 7. Heavy rains have been falling in the province of Pe Li.

The landing of the British troops at Shanghai is not causing excitement among the natives. A detachment of one hundred French marines landed there today.

A customs cutter is expected to have gone to Tientsin to take away the foreigners rescued from Pekin.

THE MASSACRE OF MISSIONARIES

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The state department this morning received a dispatch from Consul Fowler, dated Che-Foo, August 15, It relates to the massacre of missionaries and others at Pao Ting Fu, which has been referred to a number of times in the press despatches, and has generally been conceded to have occurred on June 24. The first part of the dispatch is so badly mangled in transmission that it is impossible to make out more than a few words. The text is as follows:

Che-Foo, August 15.

DOWAGER EMPRESS IN THE PALACE

By Associated Press to The Sun.

THE EMPRESS HAS LEFT PEKIN

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Chinese minister here has received a dispatch from Pekin saying the Empress Dowager and the emperor left Pekin a few days before the allies arrived there.

CHINESE OFFICIALS ARE SHAKY

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—"Chief Tsungli Yamen, the chief executive committee of five leaders, fled when the government's officials, Li Hung Chang, Yung Lu, Prince Tuan and Prince Chuang, left Pekin," declared Li Hung Chang's son, Li Ching Fang, who arrived at Wu Tai Sam in Shen Si province.

"I presume from Li Hung Chang's despatch saying that the court had gone to the west, both the emperor and the empress dowager were there. The reason that the emperor and empress dowager are not at Pekin does not change the governing power of China. I sincerely trust that the powers will do nothing to remove the present ruler from the government of China."

LI HUNG'S DEMAND FOR PEACE ENVOYS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Li Hung Chang's application for the appointment of a Peace Commissioner expressed willingness to open negotiations at a point desired by the powers and it is expected that this will be Pekin or Tien-Tsin. A similar application has been made by Earl Li to all the powers interested.

His suggestion of Minister Conger as the American commissioner is based on the idea that, as Mr. Conger had been received, he has now the opportunity to proceed to the point where negotiations will be held and confirmed them. The application does not suggest any particular terms nor does it ask for the withdrawal of troops. It requests that the negotiation shall be for the purpose of bringing about a cessation of hostilities.

CHINA'S DESIRE TO MAKE TERMS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Chinese government today made formal application through Li Hung Chang, at Pekin, envoy, for the appointment of an American commissioner to confer for the cessation of hostilities in China and the restoration of peace. This morning after the capture of Pekin by the joint shooting of China's complete weakness and the surrender and her desire to make terms. The reply of the United States government has not yet been made known.

Li Hung Chang's application came to the Chinese minister and was delivered to him by the state department so as to check the meeting. Shortly after it was received the president was in conference with Chinese minister Wu Ting Fang and Secretary Hay and Root. The latter has since gone to New York, who have been most active in the Chinese matter. Upon the receipt of the application the cabinet met in an extra session and discussed it. It was also stated that before the city was attacked, the court had gone to the west."

This statement was made yesterday by Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister to the United States, says a special despatch to Washington.

"I presume from Li Hung Chang's despatch saying that the court had gone to the west, both the emperor and the empress dowager were there. The reason that the emperor and empress dowager are not at Pekin does not change the governing power of China. I sincerely trust that the powers will do nothing to remove the present ruler from the government of China."

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GENERAL DEWET

Demanded Surrender of Gen. Powell's Force

DEATH TO BURGHERS WHO REBEL

Or Turn to Aid Their Fellow Countrymen

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PRETORIA, Aug. 20.—Gen. DeWet appeared yesterday at Nitrah commando Nek, held by Gen. Baden-Powell, and sent in a flag of truce asking the surrender of the British force. Gen. Baden-Powell replied asking what terms DeWet was prepared to offer. DeWet is evidently moving eastward.

Gen. Lord Roberts is issuing new severe and rigorous orders, redoubling those previously issued.

GEN. DEWET MARCHED NORTHWARD

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 20.—General DeWet's demand for the surrender of the British force at Commando Nek is considered as a pretense for the purpose of gaining information. Finding that Commando Nek was strongly entrenched, DeWet resumed his march northward, shadowed by General Baden-Powell.

GEN. ROBERTS ISSUE PROCLAMATION

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PRETORIA, Aug. 20.—Lord Roberts' proclamation, after reciting the fact that many have broken the oath to maintain neutrality and that the leniency extended to the burghers is not appreciated, warns all who break their oaths in the future that they will be punished by death, imprisonment or fine. He declares that all burghers in districts occupied by the British, except those who take the oath, will be regarded as prisoners of war and transported, and that buildings on farms where the enemy or his scouts are harbored will be liable to be razed.

STEEL RAIL

PLACED SO AS TO OBSTRUCT TRACKS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Just before the Lake Express arrived at Wilmington, Del., yesterday, says a special from the Herald, United Jack Phillips who was on duty in the northern part of the city, while walking over a bridge that crosses the Lehigh Valley road, saw something stretched across the tracks. He found it was a steel rail, standing out from a rocky embankment on the line. It had been placed in such a position as to strike the cylinder of an approaching locomotive. The policeman awakened several residents and they removed the dangerous obstruction.

REV. MR. GREEN

Preached at Fifth St. Baptist Church

The pulpit of the Fifth Street Baptist church was occupied yesterday by Rev. Rowley Green, former pastor of the Worthen Street church, now of the First Baptist church of Portland.

The church was crowded to the doors, and after the services Mr. Green was tendered an impromptu reception by the members of the Worthen Street church.

In speaking of his relations in his new church, Mr. Green stated that he could not wish for a better state of things. He liked the church and hoped for good results there.

At the morning service he preached a sermon from the 23rd chapter of the Book of Hebrew, 17th verse.

There are, he said, three facts that the writer does not attempt to prove. He goes on the assumption that these three facts are beyond doubt and already believed. It is a fact that we find nearly everything in the Bible written as a fact, without any thought of false assailing them.

The Bible does not attempt to prove that there is a God. It goes on the assumption that there is a God, and that everybody believes it. And there is it not much easier to believe believe there is a God, than to believe there is not? In the Book of Genesis there is no process just the plain statement that there is a God.

We may give God different names, but He exists just the same. The infidel says nature, we say God. We cannot help when we look into the heavens and behold the wonder and beauty of the stars, but say there is a power greater than I. It is a sort of interconsciousness that makes us feel that there is a God, and makes us believe.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

At the First Presbyterian church last evening Rev. J. M. Craig preached a very interesting sermon on "Christ's Miracles." The line of thought brought out was some what as follows: There is a strong tendency to treat miracles in the figurative way and to regard them rather as a bulwark.

To be sure, anything out of the ordinary must be looked up by some proof in order to be believed. The revelation of the life of Christ is so straightforward and is so evidently written by earnest, honest men that we ought to believe all that they tell us. No one doubts most their chronicles and their whole story is so clear and honest that there is no ground for doubting their history of the various miracles.

There is too great a tendency to prejudge Christianity.

BRANCH STREET TABERNACLE.

The union gospel services, held under the auspices of the Branch Street Tabernacle, at the corner of Branch street yesterday afternoon and evening, attracted large crowds among which was a goodly number of children.

The services were opened and conducted by Evangelist E. Payson Hammond, who is known through his books on "The Conversion of Children," etc., which have had a very large circulation, and have been translated into several languages. Mr. Hammond came directly from the great Northfield meetings, where he has been conducting services.

Evangelist W. A. Stanes of India, who has been with Mr. Hammond at the Northfield meetings, was also expected to have been present, but owing to some difficulty he was unable to be present.

Mrs. Amey Ellis Baxter contributed a number of well selected and effectively rendered solos towards the success of the meetings.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

The meeting to be held in front of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon was very largely attended, and Rev. A. H. Wilson was the speaker. The scripture lesson was the 19th Psalm. His theme was: "The Grace of the Lord." Some of the things he said were:

"The worst thing a man can do is to turn out of this world as a suicide. Believe there is something good in this world for you. If one wealth is all we have in this world we are in a sad state; lay up treasure in Heaven. The joys of the golden time were to be good for rest and comfort, but to the last they were for a place of execution. Never be a willow, but be a cedar, a tree that can be depended upon.

"Don't get mad. You lose every time and are always at a disadvantage when angry. Don't be afraid to say no when you mean no, and there seems to be a challenge for teasing and persuading, but if you say no right out and done with it, it is settled. Never give up and never say 'Can't.'

"The tree means the house in which you live, the car in which we travel, the boat in which we sail, the place in which we worship.

REV. MR. SMITH OBSEQUIES

Largely Attended Today at St. Michael's Church

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Bridget Smith was laid to rest this forenoon in the Catholic cemetery. The remains were conveyed from the residence, 22 Fulton street to St. Michael's church. As the large funeral cortege entered the edifice Miss Carolyn White, organist, performed in mournful tones Ballatt's funeral march. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Richard Holland; Rev. Fr. Fields of St. Anselm's college, Manchester, N. H., deacon; Rev. Eugene A. Carney, subdeacon. The choir rendered the Gregorian chant and at the offertory Mr. Fromme P. Bodger sang the hymn, "Pie Jesu" by Schubert. At the conclusion of mass, Mrs. Mabel Ware Murphy rendered with great expression and feeling the hymn, "The Sweetly Solemn Thought." As the funeral procession was passing from the church the choir sang the De Profundis psalm for the dead. Among the floral tributes was a large pillow bearing the word "Mother." The last floral offering of the sorrow stricken children. There were also three pillows of purple asters, with purple ribbons from the Gazette family. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Rogers and the pall bearers were Messrs. Charles Callahan, John Plunkett, Hugh Conlin and James McMahon. The deceased had been a resident of Centralville for over a half century and was well known to the pioneer Irish settlers of Lowell. She was a most Catholic and was a lifelong devotee to the community where she so long resided. The sympathy of a legion of friends in and out of Lowell go forth to the bereaved children who can well exclaim:

"We miss thee from our home, mother;
We miss thee from the place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face;
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
The fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere."

FOUL SEWAGE

Of Concord River to be Abated

The officials of the Lowell Rendering company have given assurance that the nuisance complained of by the people living around the Concord River near where the sewage of the company's works enters the stream, will be abated.

Complaint was made to the state board of health last week, but it was found that the board did not have jurisdiction over the river, and the petitioners were advised to make a formal complaint to the board of health of Billerica.

A meeting of the petitioners living just over the Lowell line in upper Gorham street was held on Saturday night, and a representative of the company was present to state that experts from Boston had been looking into the matter at the company's request and that it was hoped that the odor would soon be done away with. Since that is all the petitioners seek, they expressed their willingness to give the company an opportunity to make good its offer.

THE HEADS OF THE CHINESE ARMY.

Generals Who Have Won Distinction and the Strange Methods By Which They Achieved Greatness.

By Charles Edward Schull.

China has no Generals, if the title be applied as we apply it in this country, to men who have undergone a military training and have gradually risen in the service of their country to this high post.

The Chinese are a peace loving people. Every art of Europe has sprung from the Orientals; they excel in the making of fine goods and, before the standards of painting changed, their pictures were the finest in the world. But in war they were never conspicuous.

The Chinese have a proverb: "No good man will ever be a soldier." Fighting is mentioned as a warning to the boys; they must never quarrel; and, so, except in the case of family feuds which amount to nothing, the nation lives at peace with itself; rebellions are unknown and the art of fighting is neglected.

Years ago, when China was almost the whole of the East, it conquered a greater part of Europe but Europe was then at its weakest. Centuries have passed since then; and, in the refinement of modern Chinese civilization, the art of warfare has fared badly compared to the other arts.

Yet China has her Generals. The youngest of them all is Tu Tsin, a warrior who came into prominence at the close of the Japanese war. He was present at the last battle and was one of the few who were not shot in the back; he ran too fast. When asked the reason of their defeat he said:

"The Japanese came at us as though wild. We shot down those who were in front, but just as soon as a man fell in the front ranks some one from the next line would take his place. You can't fight people that way. When we shot down those who took the others' places some one else would come and fill up the ranks, and on they would come. You can't do anything with people of that kind. They did not know when they were whipped. Somebody had to run, and as they would not, we did, and then they shot us in the back."

Yet it must not be supposed that the Chinese are cowards. They fight bravely and when they are face to face with an enemy, armed with spears, they are the braver soldiers of the two. They fight desperately and to the death. They do not calculate on coming out of a battle alive; and a Chinese soldier invariably disposes of his estate and bids farewell to his family forever before going to war. He knows that he will fight until he is dead.

The trouble with the Chinaman, in the battle of to-day, is that he does not understand modern weapons. He knows little of dynamite and nothing of yddite; war balloons are novelties to him, high explosives barely a name; he is not used to the Mauser and he has not calculated upon the tricky qualities of the disappearing gun.

There is another difficulty under which the Chinaman labors. He does not love his flag. His country and his family he loves; and he may have a devotion to his cause, but that will unreasoning love of flag is a stranger to him. The national flag does not figure in his home as it does in our country; it is not a part of his education; he does not sing about it; and rally around it.

Still China has some faithful leaders upon whom she can depend.

These military leaders came lately to a realizing sense of China's weakness in war and resolved to remedy it. It was under their instructions that the Chinese troops allowed themselves to be organized by the Germans and taught the arts of war. When the Germans took part of China for their own, and armed it, they selected native Chinamen for guards and, after arming them and uniforming them, they taught them how to fire the rifles and how to use the field guns. The Chinese Generals meanwhile nodding approval.

LEARNING TO FIGHT.

Russia did the same thing in her own quarter of China, or the part which she claimed as her own; and France also sent rifles and had her own native troops. The Chinese accepted the instructions and profited by them. The skill of the present is wholly due to the faithful lessons they have so faithfully learned the past few years.

A few of the Chinese Generals have refused to become acquainted with modern methods, claiming that China had always excelled and always would excel in war. One of these Wo Tung Lang fought in the Corean war. When about to start for Corea somebody asked him if he did not think it would be a good thing to study the geography of Corea:

"Geography of Corea!" said he. "What do I care about the geography of Corea! I will just go over there and have two or three engagements with them and that will be the end of it. There is no use of my bothering myself about the geography of the country."

As a matter of fact, he went over and had the engagements, but the result was not what he had predicted. One of his soldiers who was laid up in a hospital after his return explained what happened. He and the others in most of the hospitals were shot in the back.

A General prominent in past wars was General Yeh. He was, however, suspected of stealing the government money and was removed. The direct cause of the removal was the fact that, though money was regularly sent him for the troops, little, if any of it, ever reached its destination.

A man who will lead the troops is General Nieh. He is a big fat, good natured man, artistic to the ends of his pointed fingers and as sentimental as a poet. It is difficult to picture General Nieh in battle. But he will go to war, mounted upon his horse, all gaily caparisoned, ready to vanquish the enemy.

A BRAVE LEADER.

General Nieh is at present located at Lei Tai which is less than one hundred miles from Tien Tsin. He is the most popular of the Generals and has the greatest degree of control over the troops.

Had he been allowed to go on with his treatment of the Boxers a few weeks ago it would have saved the Chinese government a large amount of anxiety as well as a great deal of trouble and expense. General Nieh has always manifested a kind disposition toward foreigners, and so far as I have ever heard, there has never been any trouble between his soldiers and the foreign residents in Tong Ku or Tang Shang, or, indeed, in any other part of the country east of Tien Tsin and Peking.

A popular man is General Yuan Shih-kai. He, too, is big and corpulent, standing higher and measuring broader than any man in his regiment. The General is fond of foreigners and one cannot think that he relishes the idea of exterminating the white races from the face of the earth, as the Chinese in his command feel positive he will do. He was in the Japanese war and, though he did not gain any particular glory, he escaped alive which has always been considered a considerable feat.

The Chinese have for hundreds of years punished defeated Generals by beheading them. They carried out the practice through all the family leaving none of his name or blood alive. After the Japanese war it was decided to make an exception in the cases of the commanders of that campaign as owing to the peculiarity of the Japanese methods, it was impossible to win. General Yuan Shih-kai, therefore, escaped with his life and his family were not beheaded.

General Yuan was the Chinese representative at the Corean capital when war broke out in Corea. When the first battle was fought the vessels were all taken off the line between Tien Tsin and Chemulpo, and all the foreigners, myself included, were stranded in Corea. But an offer came from the Captain of a British cruiser to carry all foreigners over to Chefoo, and General Yuan was included among this number. He is like General Nieh in his good nature, and like him in his general understanding of the power of Western governments. When Yu Hsien, another General, was recalled General Yuan was appointed to take his place. He appointed his brother to take charge of his troops, and at once he began to put down the Boxer movement; but no sooner had this been done than the brother was recalled by the Empress Dowager. This, of course, was proof positive that the Empress was in sympathy with the Boxers.

Notwithstanding this, General Yuan has steadily gained control of things and is spoken of very highly by those who are in these disturbed regions. Some of the leading missionaries write that it is evident that the military officials are doing all they can to put the movement down, but in this they are not very heartily seconded by the civil authorities."

HATES FOREIGNERS.

The most anti-foreign General and one who presents a direct contrast to the two just described, is Tung Fuhsiang. This General won his reputation in Kansu, the northwestern province, a few years ago in his battles with the Mohammedans then in revolt.

All his life he has been shut off from intercourse with foreign governments and knows absolutely nothing about their power, the nature of their arms and the character of their fighting ability. Because his army was able to put down the Mohammedan rebellion, which was practically a war between two rabbles, he supposes that all this trouble with "foreign devils" is because of Christianity, and so he is not only anti-foreign but especially anti-Christian. His rabble incites fear among the natives, whether Christian or non-Christian, wherever he goes.

Only a year or two ago when it was known that he was about to come down about the region of Peking there was a general quaking among the country people and awful stories were told about the cruelty of his men and their disposition to loot, to rob and to outrage the women of the sections through which they passed. The difference between his rabble and the armies of Nieh and Yuan in an indication of the salutary influence their contact with foreign soldiers and the representation foreign governments has had upon them.

There is one other General who has recently become prominent. This is Prince Tuan, who has charge of the imperial Manchu troops at Peking. He is the father of the heir apparent, and the son of the Fifth Prince, as he has always been called. He is said to be one of the most warlike of all the imperial princes, if not the most warlike; but the stand he has taken with the conservative party, which, of course, was forced upon him by the fact that his son was chosen by the Empress Dowager as the successor of Kuang Hsu, has placed him in a very unfavorable light before the world.

SYMPATHY WITH BOXERS.

It is said that the large majority of his troops joined the Boxers in the neighborhood of Peking and it was this fact that made the Boxer movement so strong and so successful in that neighborhood. There is no doubt that he was, like the Empress Dowager, in sympathy with them, and it was probably through his influence that General Nieh was rebuked when his soldiers killed 500 of the Boxers between Tien Tsin and Peking. His army sets the Manchu soldiers in a very bad light before the world.

There are two other men who rank higher among China's military leaders than any or all the others put together. And yet they are not Generals. They are the two Viceroys. They are Li Hung Chang, whom everybody knows, and Chang Chih-tung, who is almost unknown in America. It is somewhat singular that these two men should have the names they have. They are the Smith and Brown, or the Brown and Jones of China, as indicated by the following Chinese proverb. In the Chinese primer for girls they have this couplet:

Have you ever learned the reason why
your ears should punctured be?
'Tis that you may never listen to the
talk of Chang and Li.

Now, as a matter of fact, if the Chinese had listened to the advice of Chang Chih-tung and Li Hung Chang, China would be far on the road to progress at the present time. Li Hung Chang, as is well known, is the Viceroy of the two Kwangs, and Chang Chih-tung is the Viceroy of Hupeh and Hunan. It is the latter who is telegraphing to urge the powers not to send troops to China.

LIGHT ARTILLERY RUN BY AUTOMOBILE POWER.

The full possibilities of the automobile have not as yet been discovered. Scarcely a week but brings news of a new machine to be run on the automobile principle. It may be only a baby carriage; it may be a van; or it may branch out into a hitherto unexplored field of usefulness.

A travelling fortress capable of running at the speed of an express train over any kind of ground has been invented by the head of a large syndicate which is identified with the manufacture of high-speed automobiles.

The British Government has placed with the inventor's firm an order for a number of the machines. On a level road the automobile can easily make fifty miles an hour.

The machine which was tried the other day carries armor-plate protection and two rapid-fire guns. Four men find plenty of working room within the enclosure and are in no danger of being thrown out, even when the machine is moving at a high rate of speed.

This war car, however, is but the smallest of the machines to which the motor has been applied. It is possible to build one big enough and strong enough to have the machine resemble a battleship on dry land. If the pistons of the motor are enlarged to the required proportion there seems to be no reason at all why the armies of the future should not be equipped with a double-turreted land monitor which would be absolutely impregnable to ordinary attacks and which in warfare would be more mobile than even a cavalry force.

Before the onslaught of such a machine ordinary land artillery would be powerless. It could batter its way with its guns through an ordinary town and travel comfortably over a path made by its projectiles.

Gasoline is the fuel used on the motor, and a very small amount of this liquid will run the machine a long distance. Electricity is and always will be a favorite power for use in city streets and on smooth roads, but for warfare and across rough country either the gasoline or the steam motor will be the one on which the most reliance must be placed. Gasoline is easily transported in the field, and water in sufficient quantities for the use of the machines can always be obtained. A motor which depends on storage batteries for its power would be hopelessly handicapped in active service, as the first rough shaking it received would entirely derange the storage batteries.

One of these motor forts, for instance, could be equipped with a dynamite gun. Dashing from behind some shelter, it could approach the enemy at the speed of an express train, get within range, fire several of its deadly shells and get away, probably untouched, for it would be as hard to hit as a fast-flying bird.

For coast defence small travelling forts of this kind would be invaluable. They could travel along the beach or sand faster than trains, and could make things exceedingly warm for any parties of the enemy which were trying to effect a landing. Of course, it must be remembered that such landings are almost invariably made under the protection of a battleship, and that one big shell from a ship, properly aimed, would put the automobile fort hopelessly out of business.

That is where one of the big double-turreted automobile forts would come into play. No sensible strategist would ever try to effect a landing under the guns of a fort, or, indeed, at any place he knew to be adequately protected by earthworks or other fortifications. If these automobile fortresses were in general use it would mean, practically, that every part of the coast line of the country would be protected, for if an enemy were seen to be approaching it would take, at the most, half an hour to get one of these fast-travelling forts to the threatened point. It is, necessarily, very much easier to take aim from land than from the deck of a ship, and while the battleship and cruisers protecting the landing might be more powerful in armament, the advantage of accuracy and position would be on the side of the defence.

The wheels are pneumatic, the outside tube being four inches thick. The centre of gravity of the machine lies so low and its wheel base is so broad that it is practically impossible to upset the machine, however swiftly it may be turned.

The possibility of a "flying artillery" of light field guns mounted upon automobile carriages is being earnestly considered by officers.

English Foxes.

A curious trick of English foxes is to jump as high as possible, grasping a tree branch with their teeth, hold on till the hounds have gone on, and then dropping to the ground, escape. This is similar to the trick of the American fox, which jumps into a tree and rests on a branch, but American dogs are not such fools as English dogs. They gather around the tree and howl till the hunter comes.

TU TSIN, THE YOUNGEST GENERAL IN THE CHINESE REGULAR ARMY.

MAN'S ENEMIES.

There are four enemies that have stood in the path of man. These are aristocracy, militarism, slavery and imperialism. There are various other enemies, but those are the four arch enemies in the political sense. They all spring out of the idea that man belongs not to himself, but that he belongs, body and soul, to somebody or something else which owns him. These four enemies in a dangerous garb confront the United States to-day.

Schiller says that the tyrants reach hands to each other—that they reach to each other the hands. They stand together now. These four stand together. Wherever there is one the other is. Aristocracy, slavery, militarism and imperialism. They reach each other's hand.

They all have their fair, attractive side. They are defended sometimes at the fireside. Slavery was discussed and defended from many a pulpit in New England. Aristocracy has its fair side.

The foundation of quality is aristocracy, the foundation of our own liberty is rebellion against it—the very thing we came here for.

There is a fair side of slavery and a fair side of militarism. How clean the streets can be kept under military discipline and how free from noise! How easily people can be sent to bed at dark if it be desired!

There is a fair side of imperialism. You will find that in many places nine-tenths of the people believe it a good thing for the world. Maybe it is, but when we come to read history from the one side to the other we will find that the British people have been debauched by their course in India, and that the Hindoos have been cursed. You will find that the English people have been turned from being a strong, freedom-loving people. You will find also that the heart's blood has gone out of Great Britain as it has gone out of all countries which have indulged in constant wars.

We know how Napoleon depopulated France by his wars. We know of the murders of the nobility, the murders of the peasantry and the result in the France of to-day. In 1630, when the Philippine question was a burning one in Spain, La Puente, an Augustinian friar, expressed his opinion of the whole thing when he said: "Against the gain of redeemed souls I place the cost in the loss of armadas and of soldiers and of friars sent to the Philippines, and these I count the chief loss, that while mines give silver and forests give lumber, only Spain gives Spaniards, and she shall give so many of them that some day she shall be left childless and forced to bring up strangers' children instead of her own."

The heresy of imperialism is the most dangerous that has arisen since the heresy of secession, and it must be fought as vigorously as the heresy of secession. If we admit as citizens any number of millions of people that are not ready for liberty, if we admit them with all the degradation which they must bring into our politics, we must take the consequences.

The best way in which the growth of any man or nation has ever been promoted has been through self-government, democratically looking after its own affairs. We do not expect that self-government will always be good government. Men learn not by their success, but by mistakes. It is absolutely impossible for any republic to conduct any affairs well except its own.

FOR LOWELL GIRLS

When Duly Qualified Over Non-Residents—Some Interviews on Action of the School Board

The Sun has received many favorable comments on the article published in last Friday's paper in regard to the action of the sch ol board or the committee on teachers, in selecting so many non-residents for the training school to the exclusion of Lowell girls.

A Sun representative had a talk with the members of the board who opposed this course, and they talked very freely upon the matter stating that they should stand for the merit system and see that competent Lowell girls would have the preference for appointment in the Lowell schools.

DONNELLY OBJECTS.

James E. Donnelly, senior democratic member of the school board and member of the committee on teachers said: "I believe that in caring for the best interests of pupils and teachers, we protect the citizens of Lowell. The merit system which has been in vogue ever since the establishment of the Training school is the best and only system that should govern the selection of our school teachers. During all this agitation I have stood for the merit system and contended that a departure from it would be detrimental. I am still of that opinion. I believe too that our Training school should be for Lowell girls only. Who has complained of the teachers now employed in our schools? Who has said they are inferior to those of any other city? I have heard Supt. Whitcomb praise their worth and state that our schools rank with the best. This standing must be obtained through the work of the teachers. These teachers are Lowell ladies, and why then, if our schools rank with the best and our teachers are the equal of those in other cities, should we discriminate at this time and bar Lowell girls who have had their minds set on entering the Training school and becoming teachers and who, I claim, are the equals, at least of those who will be imported to our city. No fault was found with the old system. It was just and guaranteed fair treatment to all. Parents of our city felt a pride in having their daughters enter our Training schools as Lowell citizens were satisfied that our city was a field large enough to supply the demand for teachers. The matter of public funds being devoted to the education of outside people might be raised too, as an objection to their admission. If a boy or girl from any of the surrounding towns enters our grammar or high schools he or she must pay tuition. If this is a just rule in those schools, it should likewise apply to the Training school. I honestly believe the system just adopted will be short lived. I think public opinion will compel its repeal and I certainly hope that its term of operation will be brief.

Lowell young ladies are as well qualified to become pupils of our Training schools as are those of other cities and the right to enter the school should be reserved exclusively to them. I have no interest aside from my desire to see justice done to all Lowell girls. I have no relatives in the Training or in the Normal schools so that it cannot be urged that I take this position in order to benefit somebody who might claim relationship to me."

DENNIS MURPHY.

"I am opposed now, always have been, and always will be," said Dennis Murphy, Esq., of Ward Five, "to admitting out-of-town girls to our Training school. The action of the school board might give the impression that our teachers are failing below the standard. If that is so, and I do not admit it by any means, then some one is to blame. We have a Training school, established for the sole purpose of training pupil teachers, that they may give their best service to the schools. If they are not capable, then why should they be given the diploma certifying to their ability, and efficiency to teach in any school? This school is supported by the taxpayers of Lowell and should be distinctly a local institution. We are ignoring the purposes of the establishment of the school and departing from the original ideas, when we make such a departure as will throw the doors of our Training school wide open to the entire country. It's an imposition on the public and should never have been approved by the school board. Last year Mr. Donnelly and myself made our position plain. We insisted that the merit system should stand; that the Lowell Training school is for Lowell girls, and we have not changed since. Lowell girls entered that Training school and took the prescribed course. If they were not competent to teach the creek was there to prevent their graduation and subsequent election as teachers. I cannot understand the object of the new move. I fail to see where we will be benefited in the least, and I fear its effect may be felt by those who originated the scheme. I feel safe that public opinion will support me in the position I have taken, for I am of the strongest belief that it is an injustice to allow outsiders to come here and usurp the places of our Lowell girls."

DALY FAVORS LOWELL GIRLS.

Councilman A. Daly, member of the school board from Ward Two, when seen by the Sun reporter, said: "In all other departments of the city Lowell residents are given the preference over out-of-town people, and I am in favor of the same in the school department. The rank that they struggled to get from the Normal school is a questionable rank and I am interested in Lowell girls first, particularly when we are not sure of the rank. I believe also in a closed list of graduates of the Training school. There are now the graduates of four classes on the closed list. In regard to college graduates entering the Training school I opposed the proposition to allow them to teach without going through the Training school. While at college they accumulate knowledge undoubtedly, but they learn nothing of the practical of teaching which is taught them at the Normal school."

SOLEMN SERVICE

PRESIDENT McKINLEY AND CABINET

Among Those Present in the Church

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Amid scenes of impressive solemnity and in the presence of the President of the United States, members of the cabinet, officers of the army and navy, the ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries, and a great concourse of people from civil life, the memorial service for the late King Humbert III of Italy were held at St. Matthew's Catholic church at 11 o'clock yesterday.

The church had been decorated elaborately for the occasion. Immediately in front of the chancel rail stood the catafalque. Over it was thrown a heavy black pall, edged with white and on top was a great garland of laurel and palm leaves, tied with ribbons of red, white and green, the colors of Italy.

Baron Fava, in the full uniform of high diplomatic rank, stood at the main entrance of the church and received the distinguished arrivals. He was assisted by Marquis Regalia and the military attaches of the embassy. Among the first arrivals was the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu Ting Fang, the Spanish minister, Duke D'Arcos, in full uniform, followed soon after and was given a seat with the Chinese representative. Both of them sat the Japanese minister, Mr. Takahira. Germany was represented by Baron Von Sternburg, German charge d'affaires, acting Majesty by the German military and naval attaches. France by M. Thiebaut and M. Boutiron, Great Britain by Mr. Lowther and Captain Barnby of the Royal navy; Russia by M. Rostkowsky with the other countries of Europe, South and Central America, were represented by their several ministers and secretaries.

Across the aisle from the diplomatic corps the pews were reserved for visiting cardinal American officers and civil officials and among those present were Rear Admirals McCalla, Sicard and Terry, Brigadiers John N. Wilson, Landenslein and Weston, the staff officers of Lieutenant Miles and scores of lesser officers. The Italian societies and citizens were in seats on the side of the church, near the altar.

At 10:45 o'clock President McKinley and the members of his cabinet arrived at the church. Baron Fava stepped forward and received the president. With the president were Secretary Hitchcock, Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, Acting Secretary of State Adee and the president's secretary, Mr. Cortelyou. As the presidential party took their seats, the strains of the organ floated through the edifice and the black and white robed acolytes led the procession of priests to the altar. It had been expected that Cardinal Gibbons would officiate. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Father Hart, assisted by Father Lennon, deacon, and Father Kennick, subdeacon. Father Chantell of Georgetown university was also in the sanctuary.

At the close of the mass, the priests receded from the sanctuary, leaving the casket, sprinkling it with holy water, praying for the repose of the soul of the dead king, and chanting the "requiescat."

FIELD DAY

IN WHICH CANTON PAWTUCKET OF LOWELL WILL PARTICIPATE.

Besides Canton Pawtucket of Lowell, Canton Agawam of Lawrence will have as guests on Labor Day Canton Eagle of Haverhill and Canton Harmony of Newburyport. The visiting canton will arrive in Lawrence about the middle of the forenoon and at 10 o'clock there will be a parade. The American band of Lowell will furnish music and the march will be from the rail down Essex street to Jackson, to Haverhill, to Broadway, to Essex and to the hall, where their uniforms will be exchanged for fatigue dress, and at 1:15 the cantons will embark on a special train from the Lowell station on Essex street, Lawrence, for Haggett's pond. At the pond during the afternoon there will be a series of sports and supper, and the party will return in the early evening.

GETTING OFF BACKWARDS.

"I know this subject has been alluded to many times before, but I cannot refrain from again expressing wonder as to why 75 per cent. or more of the female passengers of electric cars will enter in getting off from the car backwards," says a writer of the Lawrence Tribune. "This thought was brought to my mind by an incident on a Lowell car yesterday afternoon when a woman of advanced years near receiving a bad fall in just that way, her arms were filled with bundles and like many another, she would not wait until the car came to a full stop before alighting, but stepped off as usual with her face to the rear of the car. She can quite a pleasant time regaining her equilibrium, much to the amusement of the passengers after boy saw that she was not likely to be injured. If passengers about to alight will take hold of the handle on the seat in front of them instead of the one in the seat upon which they have been sitting all danger from an accident of this kind might be avoided."

BLACKLISTERS

A Recent Decision of Mass. Courts

In connection with the Merchants' directory, otherwise known as the blacklist, the Banker and Tradesmen has the following of local interest:

"The recent decision of the supreme court of Massachusetts, declaring illegal the system of blacklisting carried on by various trades organizations, has been followed by a similar decision of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, where it is held that blacklisting of debtors furnishes good ground for a libel suit. In the Pennsylvania case the plaintiff was a fruit dealer and was blacklisted by a trade association, to one of whose members he owed a bill. Responsible business men will probably soon come to the conclusion that it is risky being members of associations having for their principal object the blacklisting of persons who do not pay their bills. Under the present state of law, according to the decisions of the supreme courts of both Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, such a course makes good ground for libel, and the damaged person is not obliged to sue the association, but can bring his action against the person or firm which caused him to be on the list."

SLAYTON OUTING.

The E. M. Slayton produce houses of Lowell, Lawrence, Lynn and Manchester closed Saturday and the employes with their families united in an outing at Cobble lake, Salem, N. H. The parties from the four cities arrived during the forenoon, and the day was spent in having a general good time. A programme of sports was carried out, an interesting feature of this being a ball game between a team representing Manchester and Lowell, and a club representing the Lawrence and Lynn stores.

First—That on and after August 1, 1900, the "one cent for one cent rate of postage will not apply within rural free delivery limits. The two cent per ounce rate will be exacted within such delivery upon all letter-class matter (except postal cards).

Fourth—That stamps upon mail matter collected by rural free delivery carriers, including those to be delivered on routes as directed in Section 3, will be canceled by them and reported to the postmaster, who will deduct the benefit of cancellation. If the service is found classified stamps must be supplied by the postmaster and unsuitable rubber stamps or other devices for the cancellation of stamps which the indelible pencils are not permitted them for use in cancelling letters.

OBEYING THE ORDER.

Under order of the police commissioners dealers in spring waters are registering in the clerk's office. The names and places of business will be sent to the state board of health. The report of the analyses of spring water in this section made by the state board of health a few days ago was published in the State documents and made interesting reading.

THE MARKET.

"New celery, very fine, are in the market," said a commission man, to a Sun reporter today: "These come from Ohio, where they are earlier than in Massachusetts." Bartlett pears are also in the market. Peaches are higher and cucumbers, plums and canteloupes lower.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE IN A CAGE.

Always acting upon the supposition that an accused prisoner is guilty until proved innocent or until a pretty large bribe is forthcoming, the Chinese judge is very certain to administer punishment quite out of proportion to the crime. He will not err on the side of mercy at all events, and if the victim escape with no heavier infliction than he "cage," which permits him only to stand upright, he is remarkably fortunate. Some of the cages are so small that the miserable wretch inside can neither stand, sit up or lie down, but has to crouch, like a frog, in a position most conducive to comfort.

BIG FIGHT AUG. 24

Sharkey and Fitzsimmons Will Meet

AS ORIGINALLY ARRANGED IN NEW YORK

Great Interest Taken in the Big Bout

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The management of the Seaside A. C. has again changed the date of the Fitzsimmons-Sharkey fight. The date originally set for the contest was Aug. 24, but on account of the great crowd that would be drawn to the island on the 25th to see the Futurity stakes run, the management, with a view of obtaining the increased attendance, made the date of the bout, Saturday, Aug. 25.

Tom O'Rourke, acting for the Seaside A. C., last night announced that in compliance with the general request the fight will take place on the original date, Friday, Aug. 24.

A LIVELY FIGHT

Interfered With Base Ball Game on Common

LAWRENCE TEAM WON ITS GAME

Against the Famous Elm Nine

During the progress of a base ball game on the South common Saturday afternoon between the Elms, champions of this city and the West Ends of Lawrence, a row was started that gave the police considerable trouble.

The fight was started in the fourth inning and proved the most lively feature of the afternoon. There is a difference of opinion as to how the trouble started. Some say that one of the players accidentally stepped on the foot of a spectator near the third base line. Another report of it is that some of the spectators became involved in a discussion of the merits of several of the players and fighting to words came to blows. The fight lasted several minutes and when an effort was started to make an arrest, the crowd closed in and made it difficult for him to make a passageway. Several of the participants got a few bruises but beyond that there was no damage done and no arrests were made.

The game itself was a very good one. The Elms were first at the bat and took the field after they had scored three runs two of which were earned. The West Ends then came to the bat, but they were easily sent to the stables, for they were unable to solve the intricate curves and twists of "Hank" Ryan, the star pitcher of the Elms.

The next inning was productive of nothing for either team in the way of scoring runs.

The boys from down the river caught a few of Ryan's curves and the official scorer was obliged to count two for the visitors. Score—Elms 3, West Ends 2.

The fourth inning was another solar plexus for the local boys, for the down river fellows batted warm and scored three runs and took the lead.

The Lawrence pitcher received perfect support and if Ryan received the same the Elms would have won the game, for every error the Elms made was costly.

The final score was 11 to 8 in favor of the Lawrence boys.

The score by innings follows:

Elms ..... 3 0 0 1 3 0 0 1—8

MGR. IRELAND,

MGR. IRELAND

INVITED BY POPE TO DELIVER AN ADDRESS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ROME, Aug. 20.—Yesterday being the feast of St. Joachim, the pope's patron saint, there was a large gathering at the vatican of cardinals, bishops and prelates of societies.

The pope, who was in excellent health and spirits, spoke at some length regarding matters of Catholic interest, and then, with a complimentary introduction, invited Archbishop Ireland to address the assembly on matters in America, and the relations of the outer world to the holy see.

Mgr. Ireland, who was frequently applauded during a speech of 20 minutes, spoke glowingly of the fidelity of American Catholics to the Roman church and the holy see. He described liberty under the American flag, and set forth the necessity of the pope, as the head of christendom, being free and independent to any one civil power, "as is to be, in fact, as well as of right, the sovereign leader and ruler of all nations and peoples, without special dependency on any special nation or people."

The address gave visible satisfaction.

Mgr. Ireland had a final audience with the pope on Friday.

THE BODY FOUND

Of a Nurse That Recently Disappeared

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The body of Miss Bertha M. Hunt, the nurse who strangely disappeared from the City hospital on Blackwell's island, where she was employed, on Thursday night, was found yesterday. Miss Hunt came from Chatham, N. Y. She lived with other nurses in the Training school. On Thursday one of the patients under her care died of epilepsy. This made a strong impression on the nurse's mind and when she returned to her room she was in quite a nervous state. She told her room-mate that she would go down to the river to get a pitcherful of salt water, with which to bathe her head. She was not seen again alive.

BRAVE GIRL KILLED

By Gang of Burglars in Pittsfield

The Town Alarmed and Now Searching for the Marauders—Account of Their Work

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 20.—Miss May L. Fosburg, the 23-year-old daughter of R. L. Fosburg of the big contracting firm of R. L. Fosburg of Buffalo, N. Y., was shot and instantly killed by one of a trio of burglars at 1.15 this morning, as she was going to her father's room to assist him in his struggle with one other of the gang. Mr. Fosburg was struck with some instrument over the head and badly injured, as was also his son, F. S. Fosburg, by the third member of the gang, each of whom escaped through open windows and have not yet been captured, although the town was aroused by the sounding of the fire alarm and posses have been organized. A number of tramps have been arrested on suspicion.

The three men evidently entered the house by way of the veranda and opened a window into a vacant room and found Mr. Fosburg's revolver in the drawer of a bureau in his room. Mr. Fosburg was awakened by the noise and was struck by some blunt instrument and knocked down. He succeeded in grappling with the intruder, however, and the noise of the struggle awakened Dr. Fenby. As F. S. Fosburg, a son, entered the room, he was grappled by a second burglar and was struck down with a sandbag. Miss May L. Fosburg and her brother, James, the latter a student at Yale Scientific school, entered their father's room, the girl leading the way, and the burglar rushed his way in front of her and then turned and deliberately fired his revolver at her heart. She fell back into the arms of her brother, and expired instantly.

The two men who had been struggling with the father and one of the sons, escaped through a window.

The other burglar who had shot Miss Fosburg rushed through the door into the vacant room and jumping upon the roof of the veranda, made his escape. The medical examiner and the entire police force was called out; also the fire department, to assist in the search for the lads.

A number of tramps were found and placed under arrest on suspicion.

Numerous articles were found in the street which had been dropped by the men in their flight, among them a patent leather shoe and a stocking partially filled with sand. This was evidently the weapon with which the younger Fosburg was struck. A pillow case also was found, with holes cut for eyes and nose, also an old pair of trousers. A thorough investigation of the house, however, failed to show that anything except Mr. Fosburg's revolver had been taken. The men all wore the pillow cases over their heads, but where they obtained them is not yet known.

Mr. Fosburg is well known in this section of the state as a member of the firm of R. L. Fosburg & Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., which firm has built many of the big mills among the Berkshires. The Berkshire mills at Adams, owned by W. E. Plunkett, were built by them, and at the present time the firm is erecting the works for the Stanley Electrical company here. Mr. Fosburg is 24 years of age and his residence at "Morningside," where the murder occurred is one of the prettiest in that section.

DOMESTIC PRELATE

RT. REV. P. J. McNAMARA HONORED BY POPE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The pope has raised the Right Rev. P. J. McNamara to the dignity of domestic prelate. Father McNamara is pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church in this city. He was appointed last year by Bishop McDonnell to succeed after the latter's consecration as head of the diocese and has had charge of affairs in the bishop's absence.

BOARD OF HEALTH

NO MORE DIPHTHERIA CASES REPORTED.

There were no new cases of diphtheria reported at the board of health office this morning, and it is thought that there will be no further spread of the disease. Dr. Livingston reports his patients at the contagious hospital as getting along nicely.

CRUSADE STARTED

And State Board is Determined to Stop It

A crusade in which the state board of health is at present actively engaged is one against the sale of so-called brandy drops to children. Its agents have recently secured a number of convictions in several of the larger cities, including Fall River, New Bedford, Lawrence, Lowell, Salem, Lynn and North Adams.

The law governing this matter was passed in 1891, and provides that "no person shall sell to any child under 16 years of age any candy or other article inclosing liquid or syrup containing more than 1 per cent. of alcohol."

There is a penalty prescribed of a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 for each offense.

Shopkeepers and druggists have been found to be violating this law in a wholesale manner, and the state board has consequently gotten after them with a sharp stick.

In North Adams on Thursday five dealers were convicted, and had their cases placed on file on payment of costs. Under the strict interpretation of the law, the clerk who sells the goods is rather than the proprietor of the place, is fined, and there is some talk of having the law amended so that the proprietor himself shall be prosecuted.

TOWN OF DRACUT

Constables Looking for the Firebug

Other Interesting News From That Town

Officer Gallagher and a number of the residents of Dracut stayed up all Saturday night to see if they could see the firebug who has been paying regular visits to that town, but it seems that all were disappointed. It is thought by many that the miscreants have been scared by the reward offered by the selectmen, but many people are still doubtful as they think the firebug may take some other morning besides Sunday, as he did in the case of the Emery fire.

The people also think that some further protection should be made outside of offering a reward.

Several of the youngsters around the town who have been used to keeping rather late hours during the warm weather were watched pretty carefully Saturday night and Officer Gallagher who did duty during the greater part of the night and yesterday morning reported the streets as comparatively deserted and everything was quiet.

Mr. Frank I. Shaw of Lynn is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nath. Peabody of Pleasant street.

Master Edward Devine, a pupil of the Parker avenue school, who took the recent examination for admittance to the Lowell High school and failed by a fraction, has received word from Supt. Whittemore that he has been admitted. This will increase the number to enter High school from the Parker avenue school to three.

William Little, a former resident of the town, but now residing at North Andover, was in town Saturday and Sunday, renewing old acquaintances.

The old house which stands beside the river and just east of the bridge on Pleasant street, formerly owned by William Terrell but now by parties in Lowell, is in a dilapidated condition. Every pane of glass is broken and the doors are thrown open, the blinds are very scarce, one appearing here and there, while most of them lie at the bottom of the river. This house seems to be a favorite resort for boys during the day and tramps during the night. It should be closed up.

Mrs. George Carney and Miss Sadie Bromley of Collinsville will spend the next two weeks at the White Mountains.

Mrs. John Hutchinson of Hamblett avenue is confined to her home with illness.

Mr. Frank Gunther of Pleasant street, who with his family has been spending the past two weeks at Salisbury Beach, has returned home.

RUN OVER BY CAR

James Trubey, a resident of North Chelmsford, and employed in the scouring department of George C. Moore's mills in the same town, met with a serious accident Saturday night about 11.30 o'clock, being run over by an in-bound Tyngsboro car, near the residence of John Marinell, Jr., in North Chelmsford.

Mr. Trubey came into Lowell early in the evening and started for home on the 10 o'clock car. He is believed to have left the car when it reached the village. The last car leaves Tyngsboro at 11.30 o'clock, and not making many stops to take on or leave off passengers goes along very rapidly.

The car was moving along at a fair rate of speed and when directly opposite the residence of Mr. Marinell, the motorman in charge saw the body of a man lying across the tracks. He did all in his power to stop the car, reversing the power and putting on the brakes, as well as dropping the fender, but the car was going too fast and the fender struck the man, throwing him some feet forward. Undoubtedly it was the dropping of the fender that saved his life for if it had not been lowered the wheels of the car would have passed over the body, which might have meant instant death.

The motorman and conductor picked up the injured man and put him on the car and took him to the Middlesex village car house, where the ambulance was summoned and he was taken to St. John's hospital.

At the hospital it was found that he had a very bad compound fracture of the left leg, and after consultation the doctors there decided that amputation would be necessary, and yesterday morning the operation was performed.

It was necessary to amputate a little below the knee. So far the operation has proved successful and the patient was resting comfortably this forenoon.

It was not known how Mr. Trubey came on the track. He had lost neither his watch nor his money.
